REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

PART V.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 29th January, 1892, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT NO. II OF 1892.

An Act to validate certain marriages solemnised under Part VI of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872.

WHEREAS provision is made in Part VI of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, for the solemnization of marriages between persons of whom both are Native Christians, but not of marriages between persons of whom one only is a Native Christian; [XV of 1872.]

And whereas persons licensed under section 9 of the said Act have in divers parts of British India, through ignorance of the law, permitted marriages to be solemnized in their presence under the said Part between persons of whom one is a Native Christian and the other is not a Native Christian;

And whereas it is expedient that such marriages, having been solemnized in good faith, should be validated;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Commencement.

1. This Act shall come into force at once.

Definition.

2. In this Act the expression "Native Christian" has the same meaning as in the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872. [XV of 1872.]

Validation of irregular marriages.

3. All marriages which have already been solemnized under Part VI of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, between persons of whom one only was a Native Christian, shall be as good and valid in law as if such marriages had been solemnized between persons of whom both were Native Christians: [XV of 1872.]

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to any marriage which has been judicially declared to be null and void, or to any case where either of the parties has, since the solemnization of such marriage and prior to the commencement of this Act, contracted a valid marriage.

Validation of records of irregular marriages.

4. Certificates of marriages which are declared by the last foregoing section to be good and valid in law, and register-books, and certified copies of true and duly authenticated extracts therefrom, deposited in compliance with the law for the time being in force, in so far as the register-books and extracts relate to such marriages as aforesaid, shall be received as evidence of such marriages as if such marriages had been solemnized between persons of whom both were Native Christians.

Application of Act to marriages under Act V of 1865.

5. References in this Act to the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, shall, so far as may be requisite, be construed as applying also to the corresponding portions of the Indian Marriage Act, 1865. [XV of 1872.] [V of 1865.]

Penalty for solemnizing irregular marriages.

6. If any person licensed under section 9 of the said Act to grant certificates of marriage between Native Christians shall at any time after the commencement of this Act solemnize or affect to solemnize any marriage under Part VI of the said Act or grant any such certificate as therein mentioned, knowing that one of the parties to such marriage or affected marriage was at the date of such solemnization not a Christian, he shall be liable to have his license cancelled, and in addition thereto he shall be deemed to have been guilty of an offence prohibited by section 73 of the said Act, and shall be punishable accordingly.

Accountant-General, Bengal.

THE EMBANKMENT REPORTS FOR 1890-91.

No. 158*I.*

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Irrigation.

Dated Calcutta, the 2nd February 1892.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Embankment Reports for 1890-91.

The public embankments in Bengal are of two classes—

First.—Those which are the property of Government and of which the cost of maintenance is a charge against Provincial revenues.

Second.—Those which are the property of the persons interested in the land protected and which are maintained by Government at their expense.

In the first class there are—

A.—The embankments in Orissa which are maintained under Act XXXII of 1855.

B.—Those enumerated in Schedule D of Act VI (B C.) of 1873. In this class are included those embankments the maintenance of which is incumbent on Government under the provisions of the Permanent Settlement, those of the Burdwan Raj Estate which were taken over in 1804, and some additional lengths which have at various times been added to the schedule under the provisions of section 43 of Act II (B.C.) of 1882.

Embankments of the second class are situated in several districts, the most important being those on the banks of the Gunduck in Chumparun, Mozufferpore and Sarun, and those in the Midnapore district. These again may be divided into two classes—C, those where the cost of maintenance is recovered by the payment of a fixed annual charge under a contract extending over a term of years: D, where it is recovered by an annual apportionment of the actual charges.

2. The present lengths of embankments in each class and the total charges of this year were as follows:—

	Miles.	Feet.	Actual cost of works and repairs.	Charges of the year (inclusive of Establishment and Tools and Plant).
			Rs.	Rs.
Government Embankments—
A—In Orissa	838	4,795	96,991	1,35,787
B—Schedule D	1,135	1,499	1,82,276	2,55,186
Embankments not the property of Government—
C—Maintained under contract	478	4,942	90,434	1,26,648
D— Ditto by annual apportionment of charges	76	2,887	14,551	17,475
			3,84,252	5,35,096

The distribution of the above by districts is given in the appended statement.

(A) Embankments of the first class, in Orissa.

3. In Orissa the length of the embankments was unaltered during the year. Compared with the previous year, the expenditure was moderate, the similar charges to those shown above having been Rs. 1,19,631 in 1889-90.

(B) Embankments of the first class, Schedule D.

4. The Schedule D embankments were added to during the year by a length of 2 miles in the Moorshedabad embankment.

The cost of actual maintenance decreased from Rs. 2,92,541 to Rs. 1,82,276. The decrease was general in all districts, except Moorshedabad and Rajshahye. In the former district, owing to damage caused by high floods, the cost of repairs to protective works and of retired lines increased from Rs. 41,145 to Rs. 50,310. The flood levels of the Bhagiruthi river at Berhampore rose to 30 feet 11¾ inches in 1890 against 30 feet 4½ inches in 1889, which was the highest level hitherto recorded. The town of Berhampore was threatened, but was protected by throwing up dwarf banks as a temporary measure.

The Schedule D embankments which protect the Burdwan Raj Estate in the districts of Burdwan, Beerbhoom, Hooghly, and Midnapore were maintained during the year at a cost of Rs. 69,794 (works and repairs) against Rs. 1,53,835 in 1889-90. Government receives a contribution of Rs. 53,742 from the estate on account of these embankments.

5. The length of embankments maintained by Government under contract with the persons interested remained the same as in the previous year.

C. Embankments maintained by contract.

To ascertain the financial position of Government with respect to this class of embankment, it is necessary to compare the sums payable under the contracts with the outlay, including book charges for Establishment and Tools and Plant. The following table gives this information for the last ten years:—

The total sum payable annually by the persons interested is Rs. 1,02,315, whilst the expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 90,434 for works and repairs, and to Rs. 1,26,648 for all charges.

The cost of maintenance necessarily varies much in different years. So far on the whole Government has been a loser by the contracts, but this may be adjusted in the remaining years of the term.

In the Midnapore district the charges of the year were very low, less than in any previous year since the contract was entered into.

The floods of the Gunduck river were of an ordinary nature and did little damage to the embankments in the Sarun and Mozufferpore districts.

In the Chumparun district the river continued the attack on the left bank which was noticed in last year's resolution, necessitating the construction of further retired lines. The injury is caused by the erosive action of the water, not on the embankment itself, but on the friable soil on which the embankment stands.

6. There was a slight increase to the length of embankments maintained under the system of annual apportionment of the actual charges. The cost of maintenance was Rs. 14,551 for works and repairs, or, including all charges, Rs. 17,475 as compared with Rs. 22,205 in the previous year. The principal embankments maintained under the system of annual apportionment of the charges are the Turki main bund on the right bank of the Bagmati river, in the Mozufferpore district, and the Bazitpur and Monghyr embankments on the left bank of the Ganges. The Turki bund had to resist several high floods, and was cut on two occasions, owing to which the country ordinarily protected suffered considerable damage. As regards the remaining embankments of this class the year was uneventful.

D. Embankments maintained on re-payment of actual cost.

7. During the past year the question of the deterioration of drainage lines in embanked districts has not been forced upon the notice of Government so much as in previous years, as there was no heavy rainfall or excessive flooding; the matter has, however, continued to receive careful attention, and in the case of the Doab between the Rupnarain and Damudar a scheme has been drawn out which necessitates the considerable retirement of some marginal embankments on the Rupnarain and the removal of additional lengths on the right-bank of the Damudar. The latter portion of the scheme has now been carried out, or almost so, and the former is under consideration by the Civil Revenue authorities with respect to the extent to which Government may be liable to compensate the persons interested in the lands which will be exposed to floods by the retirement of the embankments.

In the south of the Midnapore district the proposals made by the Chief Engineer involve many and varied interests, and His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, while recognising the importance of the proposals and the difficulty about drainage which appears to be making itself felt over a steadily increasing area, has not been able to come to any definite conclusion on the subject. Further investigations are now being carried out under the more immediate superintendence of the Revenue Board, and it is hoped that some final decision will soon be arrived at. The question is a complicated one, and on the principle of action decided on, and the success of the arrangements made to carry it out, much will necessarily depend as to the treatment of other embanked districts in Bengal, in which the questions of disposal of drainage are becoming year by year more urgent.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Explanation.—[illegible] the normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last [illegible]. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Saturday, the 30th of January 1892.

Explanation.—...... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 2nd February 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 30TH OF JANUARY 1892.

DURING the previous week a feeble barometric depression had advanced in a south-easterly direction, and on the 23rd its centre was apparently near Amraoti, but the depression was exceedingly slight and it was evidently filling up. The depression had, however, been sufficiently influential to cause the sky to cloud over considerably in Behar and Bengal, and on the 23rd a few light rain showers were reported in South Behar On the 24th, or the first day of the present week, the barometer had fallen in North and Central Bengal, but it was rising in the west and south of the Province, and pressure became relatively low in North Bengal, though there was no evidence of any distinct depression existing. Conditions were, however, slightly disturbed, and southerly and south-easterly winds prevailed in East and North Bengal, and on this day rather numerous but very light showers were reported from the Shahabad and Gya districts, and also one or two showers from the Patna and Lohardugga districts. Temperature also continued exceptionally high in Bengal on the 24th, the excess above the normal ranging from about 2° or 3° to nearly 8°. On the 25th, there was a general but very slight fall of pressure over the whole Province, while temperature also remained exceptionally high, but wind directions generally became more normal and conditions were less disturbed. On the 26th, a decidedly rapid fall of pressure had taken place over the Province, the fall being largest in North Bengal and Behar, and pressure became below the normal over part of North Bengal, while it was above it elsewhere. The winds over the northern part of the Province also showed the effect of the disturbance, and south-westerly winds were reported at many of the central and northern stations in the Province, and rain fell at several stations in the Darjeeling district, which was reported on the morning of the 27th. The disturbance was, however, exceedingly slight, for pressure had risen on the 27th, and had become above the normal in all districts, and at this time also temperature commenced generally to fall. The rise of pressure continued on the 28th, while temperature also decreased at many stations, and winds also became generally north-westerly or of the normal cold weather direction. The increase of pressure had ceased on the 29th and there had been a slight fall, and on the 30th pressure was rising very slowly at some stations and falling at others, and pressure generally was about 0·05″ to 0·08″ in excess of the normal. The fall of temperature had continued slight, and on the 30th temperature was generally from about 2° to 6° or 7° in excess of the normal. The other conditions of wind direction, cloud proportion and humidity were, however, fairly normal at the close of the week.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been in excess of the normal over the whole Province, the amount of excess generally ranging from 0·06″ to 0·1″. This excess has, however, been generally smallest at the stations in South, East and North Bengal, while it has been largest in Chutia Nagpur and Behar.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the Province for the week has been no less than four degrees in excess of the normal. This abnormally high temperature has been fairly equally spread over the whole Province, but the excess was largest in the first half of the week and decidedly smaller during the second half.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the Province are compared with the normal values for the same period. It will be seen from this table that the excess has been almost equal both during the day and the night.

The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years, S.-G.'s Office ...	0·30

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

AUSTRALIA—NORTH-WEST COAST.

Non-existence of certain reefs; and particulars of Bal·ine Bank and Walker rock.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 624 of 1891) issued by the British Admiralty is republished:—

The following information has been received from Commander W. U. Moore, H. M. surveying vessel Penguin, dated October 1891—the result of recent examination of the several localities on the north-west coast of Australia:—

(1) Non-existence of reef in lat. 13° 35′ S., long. 125° 13′ E.

Search was made during three days, under favourable conditions of sea, for the reef charted as lying in about lat. 13° 35′ S., long. 125° 13′ E., and marked as "not seen in Cushie Doe, 1881;" an area extending about 10 miles around this position was sounded over, but no trace of shoal water was observed. The depths obtained were 30 to 45 fathoms, over an even bottom, consisting generally of coral, sand, and shells.

Consequent on this unsuccessful search, the reef has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

(2) Non-existence of Expedition Island.

Expedition island, originally reported by the Commander of the barque Tien Tsin in 1865, and charted as lying (the centre) in approximately lat. 15° 34′ S., long. 123° 46′ E. The Penguin, drawing 17 feet water, was anchored in the above position in 32 fathoms water; an examination for a radius of 3 to 5 miles showed that the bottom was uneven, and there were indications of shoal water 3 miles to the west and north-west of the vessel, but no land or sandbank was visible from aloft at low water neap tides. The Penguin approached the reported island on the bearing S. by W. distant 8 miles, and left it bearing N. by E. distant 30 miles, without seeing any danger. The description given of this island agrees fairly well with that of Adèle island lying in the same parallel of latitude, but about 33 miles westward.

Consequent on this examination, Expedition island has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

NOTE.—Shoal water extends farther south of Adèle island than has heretofore been charted. The Penguin found very uneven bottom in lat. 15° 45½′ S., long. 123° 17′ E., the least depth being 8 fathoms over coral. Nothing, however, was seen to indicate danger, but the locality should be navigated with caution.

(3) Particulars of Baleine Bank and Walker rock.

1. Baleine bank, marked P. D. The western point of this bank lies in lat. 16° 46′ S., long. 121° 49′ E.; thence it was examined for a distance of 5 miles eastward, the general depths being 24 feet over coral, and the least water 18 feet. The bank appeared to extend some miles farther eastward.

NOTE.—The locality around the 7 fathoms struck in 1890, in lat. 16° 43′ S., long. 121° 37′ E., has been examined, but no danger was found; depths of 12 to 18 fathoms over coral exist between it and Baleine bank; the sea was much discoloured with patches of mud and lime, having the appearance of sunken rocks, but none were discovered.

2. Walker rock, a small coral patch with 24 feet water on it, is situated in lat. 16° 52½′ S., long. 121° 48⅓′ E.

NOTE.—The tides in the neighbourhood of Baleine bank are rotatory, with a velocity of one to 2½ knots an hour; the flood stream at first makes South, and works round eastward; at half flood it sets East; and at high water North; the ebb stream at first sets North, and works round westward; at half ebb its direction is West, and at low water South.

General conditions.

Compensation under section 76 (c).

(1) The Collector, before awarding compensation under section 16 or section 76 (c), or making a reference under section 17 of the Irrigation Act [Act III (B.C.) of 1876] shall obtain the written opinion of the Superintending Canal Officer, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

No appeal from order of Canal Officer.

(2) Except as provided in the Irrigation Act and in these rules, no appeal shall lie from any order passed by a Canal Officer, but the Sub divisional and Divisional Canal Officers shall modify any order passed by them on the receipt of definite instruction to that effect from the Divisional or Superintending Canal Officers respectively.

Appeals to Collector.

(3) Appeals to the Collector under section 91 of the Irrigation Act, other than those specially provided for in Rule 49, will ordinarily be against an order passed by the Divisional Canal Officer. When the order passed has reference to the alignment of a village channel, or, to the refusal of the Divisional Canal Officer to grant a lease under schedule I, II or III, the Collector may require the Superintending Canal Officer to state his opinion in writing, and this opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings in the case.

On village channels.

Canal Officer to assist.

(4) Canal Officers shall give every assistance to applicant in aligning and laying out any village channels which they may desire to construct.

Register of village channels.

(5) A register of all village channels shall be maintained by the Divisional Canal Officer in such form as the Superintending Canal Officer may direct.

On the free irrigation of chaukidars' jaghirs.

Chaukidars' jaghirs.

(6) The chaukidar of any village in which lands are leased under schedule I, II, III or IV shall be entitled to a remission of the water-rates chargeable on account of lands included in his jaghir and in any leased area on the condition that he gives efficient and willing assistance to the Canal Officers in respect to the following matters:—

(a) In the preparation of applications for leases
(b) In the measurements of irrigated lands.
(c) In giving the names of the occupiers of the various fields.
(d) By receiving the demand statement, making it over to one of the principal raiyats in the village, and informing the cultivators that he has done so.
(e) By receiving "tippas" from the Canal Officers and distributing them.
(f) By reporting cases of unauthorized irrigation which may come to his notice.
(g) By being present when any local inquiry is made by a Canal Officer and by giving information concerning the matter under investigation.
(h) By reporting to the Collector any mutations in the holdings of persons who have signed a lease under schedule I or II that may come to his knowledge.

On the "lease unit" system.

Distributary lease units.

(7) The area commanded by each distributary which is not fully provided with village channels shall be portioned out by the Divisional Canal Officer into any convenient number of tracts, or group of villages to be called "lease units." The boundary of each of these "lease units" shall be so determined that the land lying within it can be conveniently irrigated from the same outlet or from any convenient group of outlets. The "lease units" shall be approved by the Superintending Canal Officer.

Classification of villages in "lease units."

(8) The area in each "lease unit" shall be divided by the Canal Officer into three classes.

(a) Lands which, being situated in immediate contact with a canal or distributary, can be irrigated by direct flow from outlets in it.
(b) Lands which are provided with village channels properly constructed and maintained in good order by the owners of the channels.
(c) Lands which, not being provided with proper village channels, and being remote from the canal or distributary, can only be irrigated by flow through fields intervening between them and the distributary.

(9) The Canal Officer shall keep in his office a plan showing the "lease units" of each distributary. Each "lease unit" shall be separately numbered and registered in a book which shall show:—

Record of "lease units."

Its area;
The number and size of outlets provided for it;
The names of the villages in it;
The class (a, b, or c,) of each area;
The date when the leases in it terminate.

(10) The boundaries of, or the classification of the tracts in any "lease unit" may at any time be amended by the Divisional Canal Officer with the previous sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer. On receipt of such sanction the Divisional Canal Officer shall amend his plans and registers.

Amendment of "lease units."

(11) The lease first granted in any "lease unit" must be for five years.

(12) No lease shall be granted to any class (c) village until all the class (a) villages in the "lease unit" have been leased, and until the villages lying between it and the class (a) villages of that "lease unit" (if any) have also been leased.

Leases of class (c) villages.

(13) Leases granted for a term of years to any or all of the villages situated in the same "lease unit" shall terminate at the same time as the lease first granted in that "lease unit."

Leases to terminate simultaneously.

(14) Provided that, for four years after the date of these rules, the lessees of lands in any "lease unit" in which the class (a) villages have been leased for five years, shall, when their leases expire, be offered the opportunity of extending them for such a term of years as will cause them to expire simultaneously with those of the class (a) villages of that "lease unit" and they may be extended at the rate of Re. 1-8 per acre. If, however, the lessees decline to renew them on these conditions, within one month of their expiry, they shall not be permitted to renew them subsequently except at the rates given in schedule II.

Exceptions with reference to present leases.

Schedule of Rates.

(15) Class (a) and class (b) villages shall be eligible to obtain leases under all the five schedules attached to these rules. Class (c) villages shall only be eligible for leases under schedules II and III.

On applications for the supply of water during the kharif season.

Kharif applications of three kinds.

(16) Applications for the supply of water in the kharif season will be granted:—

(1) For a term of years (schedules I and II).
(2) For one season only (schedule III).
(3) After the 1st of September from an outlet of a defined size (schedule VI).

(17) Applications for the supply of water for a term of years shall be subject to the following conditions:—

I. Notice in the attached form (Appendix I) must ordinarily be given to the Sub-divisional Canal Officer by the cultivators of a village not later than the 1st April if they require water for irrigation for a term of years to have effect from the 15th of June following. Applications presented after the 1st April will be accepted so far as may be possible, having regard to the measurements, &c., which are necessary before the grant of permits. Those presented between 1st April and 1st May will, if accepted, be liable, at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer, to an additional rate of 4 annas per acre for the first year of the lease, and those presented between the 1st May and 1st June will be similarly liable to an additional rate of 8 annas per acre. In either case the additional rate shall be payable at the same time as the first instalment of the ordinary rates due on the lease. On presentation of this notice the Canal Officer shall inspect the block which it is proposed to lease, and, if he approves of it, shall proceed to prepare the final application (Appendix III).

Notice that lease is required.

II. The application shall not be entertained unless it refers to a distinct block of land of which the boundaries are defined. The block must (in all but very exceptional cases) include all the irrigable lands of a village which are, or have been, cultivated with rice. If the block of land offered for lease has included within its boundaries:—

Applications to include all rice lands in village.

(a) High lands not irrigable by flow, or—
(b) "Beali" lands for which canal water is not ordinarily required, or—
(c) "Low lands" which cannot ordinarily benefit by canal water, these lands may be excluded from the final application. But water cannot in that case be supplied to such lands during the currency of the lease except on an application for an annual lease (schedule III).

Payment to be made for area leased.

III. The application must be in the form attached to these rules (Appendix III), which states that water-rates will be paid on all lands contained in the block for which the application is presented whether water is required or not, and that the applicants will arrange for the transit of the water from the distributary to all the fields of the block to be leased, and give due notice to the Canal Officer of any changes in their holdings.

Lease must be complete before water is supplied.

IV. The lands contained within the defined boundaries must be measured (or the area ascertained from the cadastral survey map) by the Canal Officer or his subordinates, and the application must be completely signed by all the cultivators holding lands in the block, or the applicants must bind themselves to be jointly responsible for the water-rates due on such block before a permit for the supply of water shall ordinarily be granted. Provided that if water is required to be supplied before this can be done, a preliminary application in the form Appendix II must be submitted before the 1st of September instead of the notice referred to in Rule I. This form binds the applicants to pay at the rate of Rs. 3 for each acre of their holdings if they fail to complete the lease for a term of years before the 30th of November of the year in which water is required. The Superintending Canal Officer may, if special circumstances appear to him to justify it, alter this date to the 1st of February next following. A permit which has been granted on this preliminary application will be cancelled as soon as the final application (Appendix III) has been completely signed by all the cultivators holding lands in the block. A permit for a term of years will then be issued.

If not, annual lease must be executed.

No leases granted after 1st of September.

V. When under the "lease unit" system described in Rules 7 to 15 inclusive, a portion of a village falls in one "lease unit" and the remainder in another "unit" a separate application must be signed for each portion of the village.

No extension of lease during its currency.

VI. No additions to the area covered by a lease duly executed for a term of years shall, as a rule, be permitted. But when the irrigable area which is under rice cultivation in a village is increased (owing to improvements in distribution or to the actual extension of cultivation or to any other cause), an application may be made for a separate lease for a term of years for such increased area. If the application is approved by the Canal Officer, a permit shall be granted for a term of years such that the lease will terminate at the same time as the one previously granted in the same village. The water-rates chargeable on such a lease shall be those defined in schedule II.

(18) Applications for water for one kharif season only shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Annual leases.

I. The application must be for a block of land having well-defined boundaries, and so situated that adjoining or intervening lands will not ordinarily or probably be irrigated by water supplied for the land included in the application. The block must be situated either—

(1) In immediate contact with a canal or distributary, so that it can be irrigated without a village channel by direct flow therefrom, or
(2) it must be provided with a proper village channel, or
(3) it must be situated in immediate contact with a village leased under schedules I and II, so that it can obtain a supply through the fields of that village.

II. The application must be in the form (Appendix IV) attached to these rules, which states that water-rates will be paid on all lands contained in the block for which an application is presented whether water is required or not, and that the applicants will arrange for the transit of the water from the distributary to all the fields in the block which they desire to irrigate.

No leases granted after 1st September.

III. Applications for leases under schedule III must be submitted before the 1st of September.

Water supplied after 1st September.

(19) Applications for the supply of water after the 1st of September from an outlet of a defined size shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Outlets leased.

I. Outlets in a canal or distributary bank may, at the discretion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, be leased from the 1st September until the 15th November at the rates enumerated in schedule VI, care being taken not to lease any outlet unless a head of not less than six inches on the outlet is available.

II. Persons occupying lands not under lease may apply for water to be delivered to them after the 1st of September for the current kharif season in the form (Appendix V) attached to these rules. The application shall not be entertained unless it is accompanied by a sum in cash equal to half the amount chargeable for the size of the outlet at the rates defined in schedule VI, and by an agreement executed by substantial persons in the form attached to Appendix V binding themselves to pay the remainder.

Lessee of outlet allowed free use of water.

III. The person to whom a permit for the use of an outlet is granted shall be allowed the free use of all the water he can obtain from that outlet without reference to the area irrigated.

On applications for the supply of water during the rabi and hot-weather seasons.

(20) Applications for the supply of water in the rabi season (15th November to 30th April) and in the hot-weather season (1st May to 15th June) will be subject to the following conditions:—

Water-rates paid in area watered.

I. The approximate area of land for which water is required must be stated in the application, which must be signed by all the occupiers of the land. The application must be in the form (Appendix VI) attached, which states that water-rates will be paid on the area actually irrigated.

Canal closures.

II. That water cannot be supplied during the hot-weather season when the canals are closed. Notice of the duration of such closures will be given before the commencement of the season.

(21) It shall be the duty of the patrol to enter in his shudkar every field which is irrigated in the rabi and hot-weather seasons.

Water of tanks.

(22) Water for filling tanks may be supplied at the discretion of the Canal Officer at the rates given in schedule VII. The charge for the water shall be paid in advance for such a quantity of water as the Canal Officer may consider necessary to fill the tank. The Canal Officer shall see that the outlet is opened for a sufficient time to give the quantity which is paid for.

On permits.

Grounds for refusing permit.

(23) A permit shall not be issued when, in the opinion of the Canal Officer—

(i) waste is likely to occur.

(In the order refusing a permit on this ground the Canal Officer shall state in writing the manner in which he apprehends that waste will occur.)

(ii) The area for which water is required cannot be irrigated without passing canal water through, over or into, unleased areas.

(24) All permits for the use of water shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Lessees to arrange for distribution.

I. That where there are no village channels the applicants will make their own arrangements for the transit of the water from the canal or distributary to the leased area.

No bunds allowed

II. That the water will be supplied at the level at which it is ordinarily maintained in the distributary, and that no earthen bunds or other works will be used to raise the level of the water in the distributary.

Canal Officer to regulate

III. That the regulation of the discharge of the outlets will be entirely in the hands of the Canal Officer and his subordinates.

Regular payment.

IV. That water-rates are paid when due.

Waste to be prevented.

V. That the applicants will not permit waste of water.

Water restricted to leased area

VI. That water supplied for the irrigation of a leased block of land in a village shall not be applied to any other lands in that village.

Leased block to be distinct.

VII. That land to be irrigated on kharif leases (schedules I, II and III) must form a compact block defined by well-marked boundaries of such a nature as clearly to separate the leased lands from the neighbouring unleased ones. The boundaries must be mentioned in the application.

Excluded lands.

VIII. That when high lands, "beali" lands, or low lands, which cannot ordinarily benefit by canal water, are, under Rule 17, II, excluded from a lease for a term of years, a schedule of such lands shall be attached to the application, the numbers of the fields on the cadastral map being stated in the schedule; or if there is not a cadastral survey map of the village, the Canal Officer shall attach a rough map to the lease showing the excluded area.

Power to cancel lease.

(25) If all the persons who have signed a lease under schedule I or II submit an application for the lease to be cancelled, the superintending Canal Officer may cancel it if he considers the reasons given are sufficient.

Annual permits.

(26) Permits for irrigation for a single kharif season under schedule III (annual leases) shall be subject to the same general conditions; the essential difference being in the duration of the lease and in the fact that a permit may be issued for any well-defined block and not necessarily for the whole irrigable land in the village which is cultivated with rice. "Beali" lands and low-lying lands cannot be excluded from annual leases if they are situated within the boundaries defined in the application.

Rabi permits.

(27) Permits for irrigation in the rabi or in the hot weather under schedules IV and V shall be issued on the following conditions:—

I.—That the applicants will give notice to the Canal Officer, or his subordinates, as soon as the area requiring irrigation has received a sufficient supply of water.
II.—That the applicants will undertake, as far as is practicable, to prevent water being wasted or applied to the irrigation of fields not included in the application.
III.—Water-rates will be levied on the areas actually irrigated and not on those specified in the application.

On penalties and the cancelling of leases.

(28) At the request of the Collector of the district, the Superintending Canal Officer shall direct the Divisional Canal Officer to—

Irrigation to be stopped where water-rates are not paid.

I. Decline to renew leases (i.e., to issue permits) for the irrigation of land in villages where there have been constant difficulties in realising water-rates. In such cases permits shall not be again issued until all the arrears of water-rates due are paid up; and also, if specially required, by the Collector not unless half the amount due for the first ensuing season is paid up in advance. An order under this rule (unless the Collector in the meantime apply for its being rescinded or modified) shall be in force for the time stated therein, which shall not exceed three years.

Lease may be cancelled where water-rates are not paid.

II. Cancel any lease under schedule I or II, if, on the 1st of June of any year, the water-rates due on such lease are in arrear by more than half a year's demand.

Lease to be cancelled when water misused.

(29) The Divisional Canal Officer may, with the concurrence of the Collector and the sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer, cancel a lease under schedule I or II if water is habitually misused or wasted. Such an order shall have effect from the 15th June next ensuing, and at least two months' notice must be given to the cultivators.

Interests of others to be considered in cancelling leases.

(30) The Superintending Canal Officer in issuing orders under Rules 28 and 29 shall bear in mind the circumstances affecting "lease units" as described in Rules 7 to 15, and shall not cancel a lease if it is necessary that it should remain in force in order that water may be supplied to other leased areas.

On Unauthorised Irrigation and Waste of Water.

Rate for unauthorised irrigation.

(31) Water-rates for unauthorised irrigation shall be assessed by the Canal Officer under section 78 of the Irrigation Act at rates not exceeding Rs. 5 an acre.

Two classes of unauthorised irrigation.

(32) Unauthorised irrigation during the kharif season consists of two classes—

(i) Unauthorised irrigation within the boundaries of a leased area.
(ii) Unauthorised irrigation effected with water taken either from a leased area or from a canal, distributary or village channel.

(i) Within a leased block.

(33) Unauthorised irrigation of the first class shall, during the kharif season, only be assessed when the land irrigated has been entered in the schedule of lands excluded from the lease; and then only when:—

(a) The irrigation has been recorded in the patrol's shudkar.
(b) The patrol and sectional officer report that there are signs that the water has been deliberately taken and that the crops have benefited.
(c) The reports of the patrol and sectional officer have been received by the Sub-divisional Canal Officer within 10 days after the date on which the illicit irrigation was detected.

(ii) Beyond a leased block.

(34) Unauthorised irrigation in the kharif season of the second class shall only be assessed when the same three conditions (a), (b) and (c) have been complied with, and further—

(d) When the assessment of the area irrigated has been authorised by the Divisional Canal Officer.

(35) It shall be the duty of the Subdivisional Canal Officer to deal promptly with cases of unauthorised irrigation. He shall personally inspect as many cases as he can, and shall not make any assessment himself, nor ask the Divisional Canal Officer to sanction any assessment, unless the evidence has been recorded and he considers it quite satisfactory.

(36) When in the first case, the Subdivisional Canal Officer has determined that an assessment of unauthorised irrigation in the kharif season shall be made; or when the Divisional Canal Officer has authorised such an assessment, the Canal Officer shall at once send, by post or otherwise, a slip *(a tippa) to each cultivator, informing him of the fact and quoting the approximate area, as detailed in the patrol's shudkar, which has been recorded as irrigated. At the same time he shall send an amin to measure the fields which have been irrigated and to prepare the demand statement therefor.

Notice of assessment to be sent.

(37) Demand statements of unauthorised irrigation during the kharif season should be served in the village immediately they are prepared, and in no case later than the 30th November.

Demand statements to be promptly issued.

(38) Unauthorised irrigation in the rabi season or in the hot-weather season shall be assessed by the Canal Officer on the evidence of the patrol and sectional officer. The Canal Officer should personally inspect as many cases as he can. A notice that an assessment will be made should be served on the cultivators as soon as an assessment is ordered, as provided in Rule 36, the procedure of which should be generally followed (mutatis mutandis).

Unauthorised irrigation in rabi season.

(39) Charges for waste of water under section 80 of the Irrigation Act shall be at the rates fixed in Rule 31, and be subject to the same conditions as the assessments of unauthorised irrigation which are stated in the foregoing rules. When a tank or piece of low ground has been deliberately filled, a charge of Rs. 5 per thousand cubic yards may, at the discretion of the Canal Officer, be imposed instead of an acreage rate.

Waste of water.

On demand statements.

(40) Statements showing the amounts due on account of water-rates shall be prepared in such form as may be sanctioned from time to time by the Lieutenant-Governor, under the supervision of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, and shall be signed by him and by the Divisional Canal Officer. They shall then be forwarded to the Collector for the realisation of the demands.

Demand statements.

(41) The demand statement showing the water-rates due on any lease given under schedules I and II shall be prepared at the same time as the application. A copy of it shall be given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village for the general information of the villagers. A separate statement or tippa signed and sealed by the zilladar may also, if the Collector so direct, be prepared in the name of each person who has signed the lease, showing the annual sum which is due from him. These tippas may be given to the patwari or chaukidar to distribute or may be sent by post. No further notice of demand shall be given during the currency of the lease.

For long leases prepared once for all. A copy sent to chaukidar.

And tippas to each ryot.

(42) A demand statement showing the water-rates under a lease for a single kharif season (schedule III) shall be prepared as soon as possible after the lease is granted and not later than two months after the issue of the permit. The statement shall show the amount due from each person who has signed the lease, whether irrigation has been effected or not. A copy of it shall be given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village for public information, and separate tippas showing the demands against each individual may also be sent as in the previous rule. No further notice of demand shall be given.

Similar procedure for annual kharif leases.

(43) The assessments and issue of demands on account of lands irrigated in the rabi season or in the hot-weather season shall be made under the following procedure:—

Demand statements for rabi and hot weather shall be for

I. The area which is actually irrigated in any village shall be measured, or ascertained by means of the cadastral map, by an amin with the assistance of the patrol. The khasrah, which shall be in a printed form, shall be signed by the amin and by at least two respectable cultivators. If any of the lessees desire to have a copy of the khasrah, he shall be allowed to copy it.

The area actually irrigated.

II. When the measurement is completed, the khasrah shall be forwarded to the Subdivisional Canal Officer, who shall prepare a demand statement with all reasonable despatch. A copy of this statement shall be sent to the patwari or to the chaukidar for public information in the village, and a tippa may be sent as in rules 41 and 42 above to each person whose fields have been irrigated.

Demand statement sent to chaukidar. Tippas to cultivators.

(44) Demand statements on account of unauthorised irrigation shall be dealt with generally in the same manner as those of the rabi season, but with greater promptness. The demand statement in such cases shall be printed on red paper to draw attention to the fact that the demand is payable at sight. The demand statements sent to the patwari or to the chaukidar and the tippas sent to the cultivators shall also be on red paper.

Demand for unauthorised irrigation. Payable at sight.

* A "tippa" is the same thing as the "percha" of the Sone Canal Rules.

(45) Persons who may wish to raise any objections to the demands made against them must present a written statement of their case to the Subdivisional Canal Officer, who, after such local or other enquiry as he may think necessary, shall pass orders on the matter. A copy of the order if not passed in his presence and hearing sh ll be delivered by post or otherwise to the person who raised the obje tion.

Objections to demands to be made to Canal Officer.

(46) All objections to demands on account of water-rates which relate to the supply of water and the assessment of water-rates and are addressed to the Collector sha'l be referred for the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer.

Objections made to Collector to be referred to Canal Officer.

(47) Objections to the demand statements must be presented within thirty days of the date on which the demand statement was given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village. or of the date on which the tippa was delivered to the pers n objecting. This period may be extended when reasonable cause for delay can be established.

Objections to be made within thirty days.

(48) The objection should ordinarily be stated in a form which will be sold for one pice at all Canal Offices, giving instructions as to the particulars required to admit of the objection being readily investigated; but any form may be accepted at the discretion of the Collector or canal officer provided it clearly states the name or names of the persons objecting, the crop and the year for which the charge is made, the demand from each cultivator to which objection is taken, and the name of the village in which the land is situated. Provided that no objection shall be received which refers to more than one "lease-unit," and that all or any of the raiyats in one "lease-unit" may join in one objection.

Prescribed form for objections.

(49) Any person who is not satisfied with the order passed by the Subdivisional Canal Officer under Rule 45 may file an application of appeal to the Collector under section 91 of the Irrigation Act. Such application must be accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against. The Collector shall thereupon, after considering the records of the case, pass such order as he may think fit, and may meanwhile susp nd collections by a written order if he thinks proper to do so.

Appeals to lie to the Collector.

(50) The Collector may, by a special order passed in each case, refer applications under rule 49 to any Deputy Collector for report or disposal. An appeal against an order passed by a Deputy Collector under this rule may be preferred, within thirty days, by either the applicant or the Divisional Canal Officer.

Appeal against order of Deputy Collector.

(51) When any person appeals to the Collector against an order passed by a subdivisional Canal Officer the proceedings shall be called for through the Divisional Canal Officer. who may record thereon any remarks he may think fit. The papers shall not be detained by him for the purpose of making further enquiries, but the Collector may, on the suggestion of the Divisional Canal Officer, or of his own motion, direct that such enquiries shall be made.

Procedure when an appeal is made to the Collector.

(52) Reports of, and applications for mutations of names in leases under schedules I and II shall be made to the Collector or to any officer authorized by him to receive and dispose of them. If addressed to any Canal Officer, they shall be referred to the Collector for disposal.

The 2nd February 1892.

No. 14*Marine.*—In accordance with the provisions of section 126, clause (4) of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, the Lieutenant-Governor directs the publication of the following bye-laws for regulating, landing and shipping of goods on inland vessels' wharves, which have been proposed by the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta:—

Landing and Shipping on Inland Wharves.

BYE-LAWS.

Goods to be landed at authorized wharves only.

1. With the exceptions hereinafter noted, no vessels, not being sea-going vessels, shall land or ship any goods at any wharf on the east bank of the river Hooghly between the northern boundary of the port and the Government Dockyard at Kidderpore, except at the wharves duly notified by the Commissioners under section 97 of Act III (B.C.) of 1890.

Exceptions.

2. The foregoing rule shall not apply to inland steamers or flats, or to boats laden with vegetables, fruits, meat, and market produce; such goods can be landed at the public ghats under any rules or restrictions at present or hereafter in force thereat.

Definition of market "produce."

3. By the term "market produce" shall be meant such perishable commodities as are imported for the bazars for immediate and daily consumption, but on such vegetables as potatoes, red gourds, or pumpkins, and the like, which are imported and stored, the toll shall be levied.

Goods not to be landed or shipped until toll has been paid.

4. No goods, liable under Schedule C for payment of toll, on which toll has not been paid, shall be either landed from, or shipped into, boats or vessels using the inland vessels' wharves.

Goods landed or shipped without payment of toll to be detained.

5. Goods landed from, or shipped into, boats or vessels without payment of the toll, shall be detained by the Commissioners, at the risk and expense of the consignees, until the toll has been paid.

Re landing or re-shipping.

6. If goods shipped have to be re-landed, or goods landed have to be re-shipped, such goods having already paid toll for shipping or landing, shall be exempted from further payment for re-landing or re-shipping, provided such re-landing or re-shipping takes place on the same day as the landing or shipping.

Steam-ferries and passenger-boats not to take goods unprotected by pass.

7. Persons in charge of steam-ferries or passenger-boats plying from any public ghat, shall not permit the landing or shipping from, or upon, their vessels of any goods liable under Schedule C for payment of toll, unless such goods are protected by passes.

Goods not to be stacked on the wharves.

8. Except for the purpose of enabling masters of vessels to take measurements or weighments of goods to be shipped on board their vessels, no goods shall be permitted to be stacked on the wharves beyond the time actually necessary to convey them away.

Goods awaiting shipment to be under control.

9. During the time it is actually necessary for goods in course of landing or shipping, to remain on the wharves, such goods shall be piled in places assigned for the purpose by the Superintendents of the wharves, or their subordinates.

Boats not to moor or anchor for purposes of sale or barter.

10. Boats shall not be moored or anchored at the wharves, in order that the owners of the goods brought in them may sell or barter.

Empty boats to lie in the stream.

11. Empty boats waiting to be hired, or having discharged goods, shall anchor in the stream, at least 150 feet off the wharves.

Timber not to be floated to detriment of the wharves.

12. No person shall float timber, rafts, or any obstructive articles in the stream within 150 feet of the bank, so as to impede the movement of boats and vessels at the inland vessels' wharves.

Commissioners' servants at liberty to board boats or vessels.

13. No person shall prevent the Superintendents of the wharves, or other persons deputed by them, from boarding any boat or vessel within 150 feet of the wharves, for the purpose of examining or ascertaining the quantities of the goods in them, or of detaining them for payment of tolls or other charges, or of giving effect to any of the bye-laws and rules passed by the Commissioners.

14. The hours for landing and shipping goods at the inland vessels' wharves shall be from 6 A.M. to 6 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and holidays authorized by the Commissioners; and no business shall be transacted on the wharves during the hours intervening between 6 P.M. and 6 A.M.; nor on such Sundays and authorized holidays, except on payment of overtime or extra fees respectively.

Hours for landing and shipping goods.

15. When goods are to be landed or shipped inward or outward, authenticated challans showing the descriptions and exact quantities of the goods, shall be tendered to the cashier by applicants for the passes. On the data furnished in these challans the passes will be drawn up and the tolls levied. In the absence of such challans, or where reasonable doubts exist with regard to their genuineness or correctness, the calculation for levying the toll shall be based on the registered tonnage of the boats or vessels from which the goods are to be landed, or on which they are to be shipped.

Challans to be filled up.

16. Any person committing an infringement of any of the foregoing bye-laws shall be liable for the first offence to a fine not exceeding Rs. 100, and for a continuance of that offence, after notice shall have been given him by the Commissioners of his having committed the offence, to a further fine of Rs. 50 per diem.

Penalty for non-observance of bye-laws.

Drawing in High Schools.

THE following correspondence regarding the introduction of drawing into High Schools as a subject for the Junior Scholarship Examination is published for general information. Separate intimation will be given as to the time when and the manner in which effect will be given to the orders of Government.

A. CROFT,
Director of Public Instruction.

CALCUTTA, the 7th February, 1892.

No. 6156, dated Calcutta, the 14th November, 1891.

From—A. CROFT, ESQ., Director of Public Instruction, Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

IN reference to your letter No. 440, dated the 4th August 1891, approving of the general introduction of drawing into high schools, I have the honour to recommend for the favourable consideration of Government the following suggestion, which I owe to Mr. Tawney, Principal of the Presidency College.

2. It is known to you that the University examiners candidates for matriculation in drawing as an optional subject, but that a candidate's success or failure in that subject does not help or hinder his passing the examination. Mr. Tawney's suggestion is that, for the purpose of awarding the Government junior scholarships, the marks gained in drawing by each candidate who takes it up should be added to his total. The advantage of taking up drawing would thus be so great that the subject would virtually become a compulsory one for all students who regarded themselves as possible candidates for scholarships, and the practical result would be that where the students of our drawing classes are now counted by tens, they would then number hundreds or more. A further advantage would be that drawing would be practised by all the best boys, not in any perfunctory or half-hearted way, but with a genuine desire to acquire an art that paid so well. The learning of drawing would, I am confident, become so common that there would be little risk of a student gaining a scholarship by drawing alone, while his attainments in other subjects were not up to the scholarship level. Marks should be assigned to drawing on such a scale as would give it its due weight and no more, while offering a tangible advantage to those who took it up. On that ground I prefer the present proposal to another which might possibly be put forward, namely, to award the scholarships on the University results, as at present, but to confine them to those candidates who passed in drawing. I think it better not to disqualify any candidate for backwardness in drawing, provided he is good enough all round to be able to make up his lee-way in other subjects.

3. If the scheme be accepted in principle, it will then be incumbent on Government to provide drawing masters in all Government high schools. The cost will be from Rs. 55 to Rs. 65 a month in each case, as explained in paragraph 8 of my No. 3834, dated the 1st July 1891, besides initial outlay amounting to Rs. 200. In some cases the expenditure, or part of it, can be met from the surplus income of the schools; and in all, the fees paid by students of the drawing-class will go some way to reduce the cost. The fee-rate has been fixed at 4 annas a month in the three high schools in which classes have been opened; but I would now recommend that when the ordinary schooling-fee exceeds Rs. 3 a month, no extra fee should be charged for drawing. The fee-receipts will be further enhanced by the admission of pupils from neighbouring high schools, the managers of which may not wish to entertain a drawing master of their own. The fee for such students should be fixed at 8 annas a month. In Calcutta, out-students should be admissible, not only to the existing drawing-class of the Hare School, so far as the accommodation may permit, but also to special classes to be opened in the School of Art, which may be expected abundantly to pay their way.

4. A further part of Mr. Tawney's scheme is that while drawing should remain optional in the three highest classes, it should be declared compulsory in the lower classes, from the fourth to the sixth or seventh. The suggestion is well worth consideration; and the accompanying copy of a letter No. 245, dated the 5th October 1891, from Mr. E. F. Mondy, late Officiating Principal of the Dacca College, shows that the experiment has been attended in that institution with very fair promise of success. If I do not press for its adoption now, it is chiefly because I should prefer to wait a little and see the results of the other measure which I am advocating. It is quite possible that the hope of becoming proficient in drawing at the Entrance examination will lead students to join the class voluntarily at the earliest possible stage. If otherwise, the subject can hereafter be made compulsory whenever the occasion may arise. It will be observed that if drawing is made compulsory at any stage, no fees can be levied in the corresponding classes; and we should thus forego some slight pecuniary advantage.

5. The date from which the first proposal, if approved, should have effect, would depend on the time within which the School of Art would be able to supply the large number of teachers that the scheme requires.

No. 245, dated Dacca, the 5th October 1891.

From—E. F. MONDY, ESQ., Offg. Principal, Dacca College,

To—The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

YOUR circular 4T—119, with its accompanying correspondence, on the subject of the teaching of drawing in schools, prompts me to offer the following remarks in anticipation of the regular report on the success of the plan adopted here.

In my letter No. 1, dated 1st April 1891, I reported having arranged to have drawing taught to the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th classes of the collegiate school, partly in the school hours and partly by extending them an hour every day. This has been in force for over three months, and there is every reason to be entirely satisfied with the result. Both the head master and the drawing master have assured me from time to time that the boys were taking very kindly to the work, the latter stating that all but about three or four of the boys in each class exhibited a liking for it. From reports by both masters sent to me at my request, the same appears. The head master writes: "I am glad to state that the boys evince great interest in drawing. I am therefore of opinion that the present arrangements be continued for another year." In reading this tentative approval, it must be borne in mind that the head master has a fear, as hinted at in my letter above quoted, that the introduction of drawing will, by taking time from other subjects, tend to lower the position the school has held among the schools in Bengal. This feeling is excusable, and though it is not likely to carry any undue weight here, there can be little doubt it may become such a factor of passive resistance to the introduction of drawing into many schools that it must not be lost sight of when estimating the results. That the boys do evince great interest in the work is encouraging.

The drawing master reports that he has a "total of 272 boys under instruction, one only being a voluntary student; 90 per cent. of the boys are eagerly prosecuting their studies in this branch, and are eager to show their talents at the annual examinations." He also showed me some drawings that had been executed "by the 4th class in little more or less than an hour without any correction from me," and many were very well done considering the short time the boys have been working at the subject. As at present there is no regular examination for these boys in this subject, I would recommend that a simple examination by the drawing master be conducted, and as a stimulus, seeing that the subject counts nothing towards class promotion, a few inexpensive prizes be offered to each class. As a further evidence of the way in which the boys are taking to the subject, I may add that in one of my recent visits to the hostel I found some boys copying drawings from a copy-book instead of studying at other subjects which count so much more in their school work.

The experience gained by this short trial tends to show that the too generally received notion that the Bengali student has a special inability for drawing is a mistake. That he is inapt is true, but I think experience will prove this to be the result of want of opportunity and incentive. Indeed if any proof of this is necessary, we have it in the survey school, where lads of very ordinary abilities are admitted, while a large number turn out very fair draughtsmen. Drawing here is compulsory, and is pursued with the same interest as other subjects.

Like results will, I feel convinced, follow its introduction here, when I hope it will be more generally extended. My intention was to carry the subject up to the second class in two years, leaving it, for obvious reasons, a voluntary subject for the Entrance class, at least until the University attach greater value to it. This must, however, be left for the report on the subject at the end of a year's trial.

No. 605, dated Calcutta, the 31st December 1891.

To—The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 6456, dated the 14th November last, and in reply to say that the Lieutenant-Governor cordially approves the proposal contained in paragraph 2 thereof, that for the purpose of awarding the Government junior scholarships the marks gained in drawing by each candidate who takes it up at the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University should be added to his total. His Honour will sanction from provincial revenues the expenditure necessary for the appointment of a drawing master in each high school which has not a surplus income after the deduction of fees. The suggestion made in paragraph 3 of your letter, that drawing should be a compulsory subject in the classes from the 4th to the 6th or 7th of these schools, seems to Sir Charles Elliott to be an excellent one, and His Honour will be ready to sanction it whenever you think the time has come for introducing it.

2. In connection with the policy of closing Government high school whenever there is a thoroughly good aided or unaided school to take its place, I am to observe that it may be arranged that, if the school of the latter class has no drawing master, the master employed at the Government high school to be closed should be transferred on loan to the high school which takes its place.

Explanation.—... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 9th February 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 6TH OF FEBRUARY 1892.

At the close of the previous week the meteorological conditions were fairly normal, except that temperature was unusually high for the season. On the 31st of January, or the first day of the present week, pressure remained fairly steady, though at many stations there was a slight decrease, while temperature on the whole was falling slowly; light north-westerly winds were blowing at almost all stations, and conditions on the whole were nearly normal except in the case of temperature, which was from about 2° to 6° in excess. A slight shower of rain was reported from Darjeeling on this day. A very distinct fall of pressure was reported on the 1st of February, but still pressure remained above the normal by small amounts; temperature also fell slowly, but the mean temperature was still largely in excess. On the 2nd instant winds had become distinctly more westerly, and at a few stations south-westerly winds were reported; pressure had also fallen rather rapidly, usually by more than a twentieth of an inch and had become almost normal, while temperature had risen moderately to rapidly and averaged about 5° to 7° above the normal over the whole province. On the 3rd instant a further rapid fall of pressure took place which at some stations exceeded a tenth of an inch, and a very feeble area of low pressure formed over Bengal, the centre of which appeared to be near Krishnagore, and there was a slight but distinct tendency for winds to circulate cyclonically round the same centre. Temperature also again rose rather rapidly in Bengal, the increase averaging about 2°. A few drops of rain were also reported at Bhogotpore on the 3rd. On the 4th, pressure was almost steady in Bengal, but the area of lowest pressure had been removed to Saugor Island and Calcutta, and to the west of this feeble low pressure winds were north-westerly and to the east of it south-easterly. The changes of temperature were a little variable, but at most stations there had been an increase. On the 5th, pressure began to rise slowly, but it was still largely below the normal, and temperature also continued generally from about 5° to 8° above the normal of the day; winds, however, generally became a little more normal, though at a good many stations winds were more or less southerly. On the 6th, pressure again rose slowly, but was still from about a twentieth to a tenth of an inch below the normal, and again temperature remained exceptionally high, for the mean of the day was from about 6° to 9° in excess. Winds also on this day had became southerly at almost all stations, and altogether conditions were very abnormal for the beginning of February; but probably these abnormal conditions were to a great extent connected with the existence of a shallow depression which had been reported on the 5th to be travelling in a south-easterly direction along the North-West Himalayas.

Pressure.—The mean pressure of the province for the week has been in defect of the normal by amounts usually equalling 0·02″ to 0·04,″ and this defect has been fairly equal in all districts except in the extreme west of the province, where pressure has been more nearly normal.

Temperature—Has been exceptionally high throughout the week, and in most divisions (except Orissa) there has been an excess of about five or six degrees. The excess has been smaller in Orissa, where it only equals 2 5,° but the average excess in the mean temperature for the whole province has been the very large amount of five degrees.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the s ameperiod Both day and night temperatures have been almost equally in excess:—

Rainfall.—Except for light showers at Darjeeling and Bhogotpore, the whole province has been rainless throughout the week.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·5° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

REVISED WATER-RATE RULES FOR THE MIDNAPORE CANAL.

The 16*th February* 1892.

No. 62.—Notification.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 99 and 78 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make the following rules and to fix the undermentioned rates to be charged for water supplied from the Midnapore Canal. These rules and rates will supersede those now in force.

J. M. MCNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

1. The officers of the Public Works Department, who have charge of the canal, are solely responsible for maintaining it in an efficient state of repair, for providing drainage channels where necessary, and generally for all engineering work involved in its management, as well as for the distribution of water to lessees. The word "canal" is here used as defined in section 3 of the Act.

2. The Deputy Revenue Superintendent, under the supervision of the Collector of the district as Revenue Superintendent, is responsible for the collection of water-rates and miscellaneous revenue accruing to Government from the canal.

3. Water shall not be distributed otherwise than on the application of a lessee, or o a ryot in whose favour a provisional requisition has been issued, as provided for in Rule 21 below. Such application may be made verbally or in writing to any Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which water is required.

4. If any lessee apply for water to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, or one of his subordinates verbally, he should be told to address himself to the officers of the Public Works Department. If he makes such an application in writing, his petition shall be forwarded direct by the canal revenue officer, to whom it is addressed, to the Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which the petitioner's village is supplied.

5. The canal officers of the Public Works Department, in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, shall map out the irrigable area into blocks in accordance with the natural features of the ground, and so determined that the whole block shall be irrigable from one outlet, or from one set of outlets. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines.

6. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its irrigable area in registers to be maintained by the Public Works officers and by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officers.

7. Leases for not more than five years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block, or, subject to the provisions of Rule 14, for definite parts of a block, under the following conditions:—

I.—The lease may be for the lands of one or more villages, but ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village, so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease.

II.—All leases within one block shall be granted so that they shall expire on the same date.

III.—In order to equalise the areas to be dealt with in each year, the date of expiry of the leases in each block shall be determined by the Public Works officers in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, so that one-fifth of the total area usually irrigated may fall out of lease in each year.

Explanation.

A blocks commence 1892	... ...	Expire	1897.
B „ „ 1893	... ...	„	1898.
C „ „ 1894	... ...	„	1899.
D „ „ 1895	... ...	„	1900.
E „ „ 1896	... ...	„	1901.

Then, should a lease in a B block expire in 1892, a lease for one year must be given. Similarly, a lease in a B block expiring in 1894 must be renewed for four years only. It may, however, be possible in cases like the latter to arrange by mutual consent to cancel the existing and unexpired leases in B blocks in 1893, and then to renew for the full term of five years.

8. The rates to be charged for water supplied between June and November, whether by flow or lift, to lessees on application shall be—

For a term of five years—Rs. 1-8 per acre for each season.

Provided that the leases, whether new or renewals, required for shorter terms in order to develop the system of blocks as explained above shall, on the first occasion, be offered at the above rate.

Subject to the above provision, the rates shall be—

	Rs.	A.	P.
For a term of four years	1	12	0	per acre per season.
„ „ of three „	2	0	0	„ „
„ „ of two „	2	4	0	„ „
For one season	2	8	0	„ „

Explanation.

An existing lease in a D block expires in 1892. The lessees will be offered a renewal for three years at Rs. 1-8 per acre per season. They decline this, and do not renew till 1893. They can then only get a lease for two years at Rs. 2-4 per acre per season. Similarly, an application for a new lease in a C block is received in 1892. A lease for two years at Rs. 1-8 per acre may be given; but should an application for a new lease in a C block be received in 1895, a lease for four years at Rs. 1-12 per acre will be granted.

9. For the supply of water, when available, for winter crops, a rate of Rs. 1-8 per acre per season shall be charged.

10. For the unauthorized use of canal water a rate of Rs. 5 per acre, or such less rate as may be fixed by the Collector, shall be charged.

11. Applications for water-leases under section 74 of the Act should be presented to the zilladar of the division in which the applicant's land lies, and, subject to Rules 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 below, zilladars are authorized to grant such leases.

12. No village shall be brought under lease for the first time, and no lease shall be renewed for a period exceeding one year, without the consent in writing of the Executive Engineer. Such consent in writing may be taken specially for a single village, or generally for specified tracts including several villages.

13. Every application for a water-lease shall contain the following particulars:—

1.—Name and residence of applicant.

2.—Name of pergunnah, mehal, and village in which the land to be irrigated is situated.

3.—Total area for the irrigation of which the application is made and its boundaries, and if the lands to be irrigated lie in separate chaks, the name of each chak.

4.—Names of the ryots whose lands are to be irrigated, and the quantity of land held by each.

5.—Name of the canal and number of distributary from which water is required.

6.—Signatures of the applicants.

14. No application for a water-lease shall be entertained when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a village-channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Executive Engineer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

15. Without the permission of the Collector, no application shall include lands belonging to more than one village, but tehsilalaida or other lands lying within the village boundary at the time of survey may be included.

16. Without special orders in writing from the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, no application for a water-lease shall be received unless it includes all the irrigable lands in a village.

17. When a water-lease is granted, a kabuliyat shall be taken in a form approved by Government, and a "permit" shall be given to the lessee or lessees in a form similar to that prescribed in Schedule C of the Act.

18. On the issue of a "permit" as above, of which the zilladar shall keep a duplicate, he shall forward a copy of the kabuliyat to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent for record, and at the same time he shall forward to the Executive Engineer or Sub-divisional Officer direct a requisition requesting him to supply water to the lessee on application. This requisition shall be kept by the officers of the Public Works Department till January 1st next following, and shall then be returned to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. On the back should be noted the several dates on which the village was supplied with water. A fresh requisition should be issued on or before June 1st, and returned on or before January 1st, each year, till the lease expires.

19. When application for a lease is received from a village not previously leased, the zilladar, before granting a lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with the survey records, as well as by local enquiry, that the particulars given in the application are correct. For the purpose of comparison with the survey record, the application should be sent through the Deputy Superintendent to the Collector. The zilladar should also satisfy himself that the Executive Engineer's consent, as required by Rule 12, has been obtained.

20. When application is made for the renewal of an expired lease, the zilladar, before granting a new lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with his register of kabuliyats that the particulars given in the application are correct.

21. Pending the result of the enquiries provided for in the last rules, the zilladar may, at his discretion, issue a provisional requisition for the supply of water to the area covered by the application.

22. When it comes to the knowledge of the Public Works Department officers in charge of the canal that canal water has been taken without authority, notice shall be sent to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, accompanied by the following particulars:—

1.—Name of village and pergunnah.
2.—Number of distributary from which water has been illicitly obtained.
3.—Manner in which water has been taken.
4.—Abstract of evidence that water has been taken.

A separate notice should be sent for each village irrigated without authority.

23. On receipt of such a notice, the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, after such enquiry as may be necessary, and after hearing any objection which may be raised, shall proceed to assess, at the rate provided in Rule 10, the land irrigated without authority. If in any case he thinks that this rate should not be imposed, he shall report the matter to the Collector for orders.

24. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted, or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, on the application of the Executive Engineer, and with the approval of the Collector, to cancel the lease.

25. The rates for water supplied from June to November shall, in each season, fall due on the 1st February following. The rates for water supplied for winter crops shall fall due on the 1st April following.

26. Water-rates imposed under Rule 10, on account of lands irrigated without authority, fall due as soon as the assessment is made, and shall be realized at once.

27. Remission of water-rates, either in whole or part, as the case may require, shall be granted by the Collector for—

1.—Injury to the crop on a leased area caused by deficient supply of water.

2.—Errors in the assessment of rates.

28. The Collector may grant remissions of water-rates, either in whole or part, for injury to the crops on leased areas caused by excess of water due to deficient drainage.

29. The Collector may commute rates charged under Rule 10 to those chargeable for water supplied on application, provided that a lease either for a term of years or for the season has been subsequently executed for the lands in question.

30. Remissions on other grounds than the above require the sanction of Government.

31. In cases where sums due on account of water-rates cannot be collected owing to the death, bankruptcy, or absconding of the defaulter, the amount which is non-realizable may be written off as irrecoverable on the authority of the Collector.

32. Before awarding compensation under section 16 of the Act, or making a reference under section 17 of the Act, the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Executive Engineer in charge of the canal, and his written opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

33. The Collector may distribute amongst village mookhyas, who agree in writing to assist the Deputy Superintendent in collecting water-rates, and generally in his operations under Act III (B.C.) of 1876, a commission calculated in such manner as he may think fit, provided the total amount paid shall not exceed 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates collected during the year. If the payments thus made to mookhyas do not amount to 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates of any year, the Collector may expend the balance in paying extra collecting establishment.

34. Registers shall be kept in the Deputy Superintendent's and zilladar's offices in forms sanctioned by Government.

35. A copy of the Collector's decision in all cases of remission, and of the Magistrate's decision in all cases of proceedings under section 93 or 94 of the Act, shall be forwarded to the Executive Engineer for information and record in his office.

On the free irrigation of chaukidars' jaghirs.

Chaukidars' jaghirs.

(6) The chaukidar of any village in which lands are leased under schedule I, II, III or IV shall be entitled to a remission of the water-rates chargeable on account of lands included in his jaghir and in any leased area on the condition that he gives efficient and willing assistance to the Canal Officers in respect to the following matters:—

(a) In the preparation of applications for leases.
(b) In the measurements of irrigated lands.
(c) In giving the names of the occupiers of the various fields.
(d) By receiving the demand statement, making it over to one of the principal raiyats in the village, and informing the cultivators that he has done so.
(e) By receiving "tippas" from the Canal Officers and distributing them.
(f) By reporting cases of unauthorized irrigation which may come to his notice.
(g) By being present when any local inquiry is made by a Canal Officer and by giving information concerning the matter under investigation.
(h) By reporting to the Collector any mutations in the holdings of persons who have signed a lease under schedule I or II that may come to his knowledge.

On the "lease unit" system.

Distributary lease units.

(7) The area commanded by each distributary which is not fully provided with village channels shall be portioned out by the Divisional Canal Officer into any convenient number of tracts, or group of villages to be called "lease units." The boundary of each of these "lease units" shall be so determined that the land lying within it can be conveniently irrigated from the same outlet or from any convenient group of outlets. The "lease units" shall be approved by the Superintending Canal Officer.

Classification of villages in "lease units."

(8) The area in each "lease unit" shall be divided by the Canal Officer into three classes.

(a) Lands which, being situated in immediate contact with a canal or distributary, can be irrigated by direct flow from outlets in it.
(b) Lands which are provided with village channels properly constructed and maintained in good order by the owners of the channels.
(c) Lands which, not being provided with proper village channels, and being remote from the canal or distributary, can only be irrigated by flow through fields intervening between them and the distributary.

Record of "lease units."

(9) The Canal Officer shall keep in his office a plan showing the "lease units" of each distributary. Each "lease unit" shall be separately numbered and registered in a book which shall show:—

Its area;
The number and size of outlets provided for it;
The names of the villages in it;
The class (a, b, or c,) of each area;
The date when the leases in it terminate.

Amendment of "lease units."

(10) The boundaries of, or the classification of the tracts in any "lease unit" may at any time be amended by the Divisional Canal Officer with the previous sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer. On receipt of such sanction the Divisional Canal Officer shall amend his plans and registers.

(11) The lease first granted in any "lease unit" must be for five years.

Leases of class (c) villages.

(12) No lease shall be granted to any class (c) village until all the class (a) villages in the "lease unit" have been leased, and until the villages lying between it and the class (a) villages of that "lease unit" (if any) have also been leased.

Leases to terminate simultaneously.

(13) Leases granted for a term of years to any or all of the villages situated in the same "lease unit" shall terminate at the same time as the lease first granted in that "lease unit."

Exceptions with reference to present leases.

(14) Provided that, for four years after the date of these rules, the lessees of lands in any "lease unit" in which the class (a) villages have been leased for five years, shall, when their leases expire, be offered the opportunity of extending them for such a term of years as will cause them to expire simultaneously with those of the class (a) villages of that "lease unit" and they may be extended at the rate of Re. 1-8 per acre. If, however, the lessees decline to renew them on these conditions, within one month of their expiry, they shall not be permitted to renew them subsequently except at the rates given in schedule II.

Schedule of Rates.

(15) Class (a) and class (b) villages shall be eligible to obtain leases under all the five schedules attached to these rules. Class (c) villages shall only be eligible for leases under schedules II and III.

On applications for the supply of water during the kharif season.

Kharif applications of three kinds.

(16) Applications for the supply of water in the kharif season will be granted:—

(1) For a term of years (schedules I and II).
(2) For one season only (schedule III).
(3) After the 1st of September from an outlet of a defined size (schedule VI).

(17) Applications for the supply of water for a term of years shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Notice that lease is required.

I. Notice in the attached form (Appendix I) must ordinarily be given to the Sub-divisional Canal Officer by the cultivators of a village not later than the 1st April if they require water for irrigation for a term of years to have effect from the 15th of June following. Applications presented after the 1st April will be accepted so far as may be possible, having regard to the measurements, &c., which are necessary before the grant of permits. Those presented between 1st April and 1st May will, if accepted, be liable, at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer, to an additional rate of 4 annas per acre for the first year of the lease, and those presented between the 1st May and 1st June will be similarly liable to an additional rate of 8 annas per acre. In either case the additional rate shall be payable at the same time as the first instalment of the ordinary rates due on the lease. On presentation of this notice the Canal Officer shall inspect the block which it is proposed to lease, and, if he approves of it, shall proceed to prepare the final application (Appendix III).

Applications to include all rice lands in village.

II. The application shall not be entertained unless it refers to a distinct block of land of which the boundaries are defined. The block must (in all but very exceptional cases) include all the irrigable lands of a village which are, or have been, cultivated with rice. If the block of land offered for lease has included within its boundaries:—

(a) High lands not irrigable by flow, or—
(b) "Beali" lands for which canal water is not ordinarily required, or—
(c) "Low lands" which cannot ordinarily benefit by canal water,

these lands may be excluded from the final application. But water cannot in that case be supplied to such lands during the currency of the lease except on an application for an annual lease (schedule III).

III. The application must be in the form attached to these rules (Appendix III), which states that water-rates will be paid on all lands contained in the block for which the application is presented whether water is required or not, and that the applicants will arrange for the transit of the water from the distributary to all the fields of the block to be leased, and give due notice to the Canal Officer of any changes in their holdings.

Payment to be made for area leased.

IV. The lands contained within the defined boundaries must be measured (or the area ascertained from the cadastral survey map) by the Canal Officer or his subordinates, and the application must be completely signed by all the cultivators holding lands in the block, or the applicants must bind themselves to be jointly responsible for the water-rates due on such block before a permit for the supply of water shall ordinarily be granted. Provided that if water is required to be supplied before this can be done, a preliminary application in the form Appendix II must be submitted before the 1st of September instead of the notice referred to in Rule I. This form binds the applicants to pay at the rate of Rs. 3 for each acre of their holdings if they fail to complete the lease for a term of years before the 30th of November of the year in which water is required. The Superintending Canal Officer may, if special circumstances appear to him to justify it, alter this date to the 1st of February next following. A permit which has been granted on this preliminary application will be cancelled as soon as the final application (Appendix III) has been completely signed by all the cultivators holding lands in the block. A permit for a term of years will then be issued.

Lease must be complete before water is supplied.

If not, annual lease must be executed.

No leases granted after 1st of September.

V. When under the "lease unit" system described in Rules 7 to 15 inclusive, a portion of a village falls in one "lease unit" and the remainder in another "unit" a separate application must be signed for each portion of the village.

VI. No additions to the area covered by a lease duly executed for a term of years shall, as a rule, be permitted. But when the irrigable area which is under rice cultivation in a village is increased (owing to improvements in distribution or to the actual extension of cultivation or to any other cause), an application may be made for a separate lease for a term of years for such increased area. If the application is approved by the Canal Officer, a permit shall be granted for a term of years such that the lease will terminate at the same time as the one previously granted in the same village. The water-rates chargeable on such a lease shall be those defined in schedule II.

No extension of lease during its currency.

(18) Applications for water for one kharif season only shall be subject to the following conditions:—

I. The application must be for a block of land having well-defined boundaries, and so situated that adjoining or intervening lands will not ordinarily or probably be irrigated by water supplied for the land included in the application. The block must be situated either—

Annual leases.

(1) In immediate contact with a canal or distributary, so that it can be irrigated without a village channel by direct flow therefrom, or
(2) it must be provided with a proper village channel, or
(3) it must be situated in immediate contact with a village leased under schedules I and II, so that it can obtain a supply through the fields of that village.

II. The application must be in the form (Appendix IV) attached to these rules, which states that water-rates will be paid on all lands contained in the block for which an application is presented whether water is required or not, and that the applicants will arrange for the transit of the water from the distributary to all the fields in the block which they desire to irrigate.

No leases granted after 1st September.

III. Applications for leases under schedule III must be submitted before the 1st of September.

Water supplied after 1st September.

(19) Applications for the supply of water after the 1st of September from an outlet of a defined size shall be subject to the following conditions:—

I. Outlets in a canal or distributary bank may, at the discretion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, be leased from the 1st September until the 15th November at the rates enumerated in schedule VI, care being taken not to lease any outlet unless a head of not less than six inches on the outlet is available.

Outlets leased.

II. Persons occupying lands not under lease may apply for water to be delivered to them after the 1st of September for the current kharif season in the form (Appendix V) attached to these rules. The application shall not be entertained unless it is accompanied by a sum in cash equal to half the amount chargeable for the size of the outlet at the rates defined in schedule VI, and by an agreement executed by substantial persons in the form attached to Appendix V binding themselves to pay the remainder.

III. The person to whom a permit for the use of an outlet is granted shall be allowed the free use of all the water he can obtain from that outlet without reference to the area irrigated.

Lessee of outlet allowed free use of water.

On applications for the supply of water during the rabi and hot-weather seasons.

(20) Applications for the supply of water in the rabi season (15th November to 30th April) and in the hot-weather season (1st May to 15th June) will be subject to the following conditions:—

Water-rates paid in area watered.

I. The approximate area of land for which water is required must be stated in the application, which must be signed by all the occupiers of the land. The application must be in the form (Appendix VI) attached, which states that water-rates will be paid on the area actually irrigated.

Canal closures.

II. That water cannot be supplied during the hot-weather season when the canals are closed. Notice of the duration of such closures will be given before the commencement of the season.

(21) It shall be the duty of the patrol to enter in his shudkar every field which is irrigated in the rabi and hot-weather seasons.

Water of tanks.

(22) Water for filling tanks may be supplied at the discretion of the Canal Officer at the rates given in schedule VII. The charge for the water shall be paid in advance for such a quantity of water as the Canal Officer may consider necessary to fill the tank. The Canal Officer shall see that the outlet is opened for a sufficient time to give the quantity which is paid for.

On permits.

Grounds for refusing permit.

(23) A permit shall not be issued when, in the opinion of the Canal Officer—

(i) waste is likely to occur.

(In the order refusing a permit on this ground the Canal Officer shall state in writing the manner in which he apprehends that waste will occur.)

(ii) The area for which water is required cannot be irrigated without passing canal water through, over or into, unleased areas.

(24) All permits for the use of water shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Lessees to arrange for distribution.

I. That where there are no village channels the applicants will make their own arrangements for the transit of the water from the canal or distributary to the leased area.

No bunds allowed.

II. That the water will be supplied at the level at which it is ordinarily maintained in the distributary, and that no earthen bunds or other works will be used to raise the level of the water in the distributary.

Canal Officer to regulate.

III. That the regulation of the discharge of the outlets will be entirely in the hands of the Canal Officer and his subordinates.

Regular payment.

IV. That water-rates are paid when due.

Waste to be prevented.

V. That the applicants will not permit waste of water.

Water restricted to leased area.

VI. That water supplied for the irrigation of a leased block of land in a village shall not be applied to any other lands in that village.

Leased block to be distinct.

VII. That land to be irrigated on kharif leases (schedules I, II and III) must form a compact block defined by well-marked boundaries of such a nature as clearly to separate the leased lands from the neighbouring unleased ones. The boundaries must be mentioned in the application.

Excluded lands.

VIII. That when high lands, "beali" lands, or low lands, which cannot ordinarily benefit by canal water, are, under Rule 17, II, excluded from a lease for a term of years, a schedule of such lands shall be attached to the application, the numbers of the fields on the cadastral map being stated in the schedule; or if there is not a cadastral survey map of the village, the Canal Officer shall attach a rough map to the lease showing the excluded area.

Power to cancel lease.

(25) If all the persons who have signed a lease under schedule I or II submit an application for the lease to be cancelled, the superintending Canal Officer may cancel it if he considers the reasons given are sufficient.

Annual permits.

(26) Permits for irrigation for a single kharif season under schedule III (annual leases) shall be subject to the same general conditions; the essential difference being in the duration of the lease and in the fact that a permit may be issued for any well-defined block and not necessarily for the whole irrigable land in the village which is cultivated with rice. "Beali" lands and low-lying lands cannot be excluded from annual leases if they are situated within the boundaries defined in the application.

Rabi permits.

(27) Permits for irrigation in the rabi or in the hot weather under schedules IV and V shall be issued on the following conditions:—

I.—That the applicants will give notice to the Canal Officer, or his subordinates, as soon as the area requiring irrigation has received a sufficient supply of water.

II.—That the applicants will undertake, as far as is practicable, to prevent water being wasted or applied to the irrigation of fields not included in the application.

III.—Water-rates will be levied on the areas actually irrigated and not on those specified in the application.

On penalties and the cancelling of leases.

(28) At the request of the Collector of the district, the Superintending Canal Officer shall direct the Divisional Canal Officer to—

Irrigation to be stopped where water-rates are not paid.

I. Decline to renew leases (i.e., to issue permits) for the irrigation of land in villages where there have been constant difficulties in realising water-rates. In such cases permits shall not be again issued until all the arrears of water-rates due are paid up; and also, if specially required, by the Collector not unless half the amount due for the first ensuing season is paid up in advance. An order under this rule (unless the Collector in the meantime apply for its being rescinded or modified) shall be in force for the time stated therein, which shall not exceed three years.

Lease may be cancelled where water-rates are not paid.

II. Cancel any lease under schedule I or II, if, on the 1st of June of any year, the water-rates due on such lease are in arrear by more than half a year's demand.

Lease to be cancelled when water misused.

(29) The Divisional Canal Officer may, with the concurrence of the Collector and the sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer, cancel a lease under schedule I or II if water is habitually misused or wasted. Such an order shall have effect from the 15th June next ensuing, and at least two months' notice must be given to the cultivators.

Interests of others to be considered in cancelling leases.

(30) The Superintending Canal Officer in issuing orders under Rules 28 and 29 shall bear in mind the circumstances affecting "lease units" as described in Rules 7 to 15, and shall not cancel a lease if it is necessary that it should remain in force in order that water may be supplied to other leased areas.

On Unauthorised Irrigation and Waste of Water.

Rate for unauthorised irrigation.

(31) Water-rates for unauthorised irrigation shall be assessed by the Canal Officer under section 78 of the Irrigation Act at rates not exceeding Rs. 5 an acre.

Two classes of unauthorised irrigation.

(32) Unauthorised irrigation during the kharif season consists of two classes—

(i) Unauthorised irrigation within the boundaries of a leased area.

(ii) Unauthorised irrigation effected with water taken either from a leased area or from a canal, distributary or village channel.

(i) Within a leased block.

(33) Unauthorised irrigation of the first class shall, during the kharif season, only be assessed when the land irrigated has been entered in the schedule of lands excluded from the lease; and then only when:—

(a) The irrigation has been recorded in the patrol's shudkar.

(b) The patrol and sectional officer report that there are signs that the water has been deliberately taken and that the crops have benefited.

(c) The reports of the patrol and sectional officer have been received by the Sub-divisional Canal Officer within 10 days after the date on which the illicit irrigation was detected.

(ii) Beyond a leased block.

(34) Unauthorised irrigation in the kharif season of the second class shall only be assessed when the same three conditions (a), (b) and (c) have been complied with, and further—

(d) When the assessment of the area irrigated has been authorised by the Divisional Canal Officer.

(35) It shall be the duty of the Subdivisional Canal Officer to deal promptly with cases of unauthorised irrigation. He shall personally inspect as many cases as he can, and shall not make any assessment himself, nor ask the Divisional Canal Officer to sanction any assessment, unless the evidence has been recorded and he considers it quite satisfactory.

(36) When in the first case, the Subdivisional Canal Officer has determined that an assessment of unauthorised irrigation in the kharif season shall be made; or when the Divisional Canal Officer has authorised such an assessment, the Canal Officer shall at once send, by post or otherwise, a slip *(a tippa) to each cultivator, informing him of the fact and quoting the approximate area, as detailed in the patrol's shudkar, which has been recorded as irrigated. At the same time he shall send an amin to measure the fields which have been irrigated and to prepare the demand statement therefor.

Notice of assessment to be sent.

(37) Demand statements of unauthorised irrigation during the kharif season should be served in the village immediately they are prepared, and in no case later than the 30th November.

Demand statements to be promptly issued.

(38) Unauthorised irrigation in the rabi season or in the hot-weather season shall be assessed by the Canal Officer on the evidence of the patrol and sectional officer. The Canal Officer should personally inspect as many cases as he can. A notice that an assessment will be made should be served on the cultivators as soon as an assessment is ordered, as provided in Rule 36, the procedure of which should be generally followed (mutatis mutandis).

Unauthorised irrigation in rabi season.

(39) Charges for waste of water under section 80 of the Irrigation Act shall be at the rates fixed in Rule 31, and be subject to the same conditions as the assessments of unauthorised irrigation which are stated in the foregoing rules. When a tank or piece of low ground has been deliberately filled, a charge of Rs. 5 per thousand cubic yards may, at the discretion of the Canal Officer, be imposed instead of an acreage rate.

Waste of water.

On demand statements.

(40) Statements showing the amounts due on account of water-rates shall be prepared in such form as may be sanctioned from time to time by the Lieutenant-Governor, under the supervision of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, and shall be signed by him and by the Divisional Canal Officer. They shall then be forwarded to the Collector for the realisation of the demands.

Demand statements.

(41) The demand statement showing the water-rates due on any lease given under schedules I and II shall be prepared at the same time as the application. A copy of it shall be given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village for the general information of the villagers. A separate statement or tippa signed and sealed by the zilladar may also, if the Collector so direct, be prepared in the name of each person who has signed the lease, showing the annual sum which is due from him. These tippas may be given to the patwari or chaukidar to distribute or may be sent by post. No further notice of demand shall be given during the currency of the lease.

For long leases prepared once for all. A copy sent to chaukidar.

And tippas to each ryot.

(42) A demand statement showing the water-rates under a lease for a single kharif season (schedule III) shall be prepared as soon as possible after the lease is granted and not later than two months after the issue of the permit. The statement shall show the amount due from each person who has signed the lease, whether irrigation has been effected or not. A copy of it shall be given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village for public information, and separate tippas showing the demands against each individual may also be sent as in the previous rule. No further notice of demand shall be given.

Similar procedure for annual kharif leases.

(43) The assessments and issue of demands on account of lands irrigated in the rabi season or in the hot-weather season shall be made under the following procedure:—

Demand statements for rabi and hot weather shall be for

I. The area which is actually irrigated in any village shall be measured, or ascertained by means of the cadastral map, by an amin with the assistance of the patrol. The khasrah, which shall be in a printed form, shall be signed by the amin and by at least two respectable cultivators. If any of the lessees desire to have a copy of the khasrah, he shall be allowed to copy it.

The area actually irrigated.

II. When the measurement is completed, the khasrah shall be forwarded to the Subdivisional Canal Officer, who shall prepare a demand statement with all reasonable despatch. A copy of this statement shall be sent to the patwari or to the chaukidar for public information in the village, and a tippa may be sent as in rules 41 and 42 above to each person whose fields have been irrigated.

Demand statement sent to chaukidar. Tippas to cultivators.

(44) Demand statements on account of unauthorised irrigation shall be dealt with generally in the same manner as those of the rabi season, but with greater promptness. The demand statement in such cases shall be printed on red paper to draw attention to the fact that the demand is payable at sight. The demand statements sent to the patwari or to the chaukidar and the tippas sent to the cultivators shall also be on red paper.

Demand for unauthorised irrigation. Payable at sight.

* A "tippa" is the same thing as the "percha" of the Sone Canal Rules.

(45) Persons who may wish to raise any objections to the demands made against them must present a written statement of their case to the Sub-divisional Canal Officer, who, after such local or other enquiry as he may think necessary, shall pass orders on the matter. A copy of the order if not passed in his presence and hearing shall be delivered by post or otherwise to the person who raised the objection.

Objections to demands to be made to Canal Officer.

(46) All objections to demands on account of water-rates which relate to the supply of water and the assessment of water-rates and are addressed to the Collector shall be referred for the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer.

Objections made to Collector to be referred to Canal Officer.

(47) Objections to the demand statements must be presented within thirty days of the date on which the demand statement was given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village, or of the date on which the tippa was delivered to the person objecting. This period may be extended when reasonable cause for delay can be established.

Objections to be made within thirty days.

(48) The objection should ordinarily be stated in a form which will be sold for one pice at all Canal Offices, giving instructions as to the particulars required to admit of the objection being readily investigated; but any form may be accepted at the discretion of the Collector or canal officer provided it clearly states the name or names of the persons objecting, the crop and the year for which the charge is made, the demand from each cultivator to which objection is taken, and the name of the village in which the land is situated. Provided that no objection shall be received which refers to more than one "lease-unit," and that all or any of the raiyats in one "lease-unit" may join in one objection.

Prescribed form for objections.

(49) Any person who is not satisfied with the order passed by the Subdivisional Canal Officer under Rule 45 may file an application of appeal to the Collector under section 91 of the Irrigation Act. Such application must be accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against. The Collector shall thereupon, after considering the records of the case, pass such order as he may think fit, and may meanwhile suspend collections by a written order if he thinks proper to do so.

Appeals to lie to the Collector.

(50) The Collector may, by a special order passed in each case, refer applications under rule 49 to any Deputy Collector for report or disposal. An appeal against an order passed by a Deputy Collector under this rule may be preferred, within thirty days, by either the applicant or the Divisional Canal Officer.

Appeal against order of Deputy Collector.

(51) When any person appeals to the Collector against an order passed by a Sub-divisional Canal Officer, the proceedings shall be called for through the Divisional Canal Officer, who may record thereon any remarks he may think fit. The papers shall not be detained by him for the purpose of making further enquiries, but the Collector may, on the suggestion of the Divisional Canal Officer, or of his own motion, direct that such enquiries shall be made.

Procedure when an appeal is made to the Collector.

(52) Reports of, and applications for mutations of names in leases under schedules I and II shall be made to the Collector or to any officer authorized by him to receive and dispose of them. If addressed to any Canal Officer, they shall be referred to the Collector for disposal.

Mutations of names.

On the payment of water-rates.

(53) Water-rates assessed under sections 78, 79, and 80 of the Irrigation Act shall be due on the following dates:—

I. Leases for the kharif season for a term of years (schedules I and II)—
In one instalment on the ... ... 1st March.

Note.—The demand statements will be sent to the Collector as soon as the lease is complete as provided in Rule 41. Annual demand statements are not necessary.

II. Annual leases.

(a) Leases for a single kharif season (schedule III)—

In one instalment on the ... ... 1st March.

Note.—The demand statements for the water-rates due on these leases shall be submitted to the Collector as soon as the application is complete (see Rule 42).

(b) Leases during the rabi season (schedule IV)—In one instalment on the 1st August (except for sugarcane).

(c) Leases during the hot-weather season (schedule V) for sugarcane. The demand for the irrigation of sugarcane for both the rabi and hot-weather seasons shall be paid in one insalment on the 1st of April after the crop is cut.

Note.—The demand statements for these two classes of leases shall be submitted to the Collector fifteen days, if possible, before the water-rates are due, but accuracy in the charges is of more importance than a rigid adherence to dates.

III. For water supplied for kharif crops after the 1st of September to lands which are not under lease (schedule VI)—

First moiety ...	... Before the outlet is opened.
Second „ ...	... 1st March.

Note.—The first moiety shall be paid to the Subdivisional Canal Officer, the second to the Collector A demand statement shall be forwarded to the Collector as soon as the lease has been granted.

IV. Water supplied for filling tanks (schedule VII)—Shall be paid to the Subdivisional Canal Officer in one instalment—before the outlet is opened.

V. Unauthorised irrigation and waste.

Assessments under sections 79 and 80 of the Irrigation Act.	On receipt of the demand statement by the Collector.

(54) The water-rates shall be paid on or before the dates when they fall due as detailed in the previous paragraph.

Contractor for water-rates.

(55) At the joint written request of all the cultivators signing the application and of a person who shall be termed the contractor, a lease for a term of years may be granted under which the said contractor shall collect and pay to Government the entire sum due annually on the said application. In such a case the form of application shall be altered as prescribed in the footnote of Appendix III. A contractor shall be entitled to receive a commission of 15 per cent. on the amount paid to the Collector.

To be approved by Collector.

(56) No person shall be accepted as contractor under rule 54 except with the written consent of the Collector to his nomination. The Collector may require the contractor to give security for the execution of the agreement. The contractor must be either the zamindar or the farmer of the entire village. No person who is the zemindar or farmer of only a portion of the village, less than sixteen annas, shall be accepted as contractor.

Powers of contractors to collect.

(57) Contractors shall be entitled to collect water-rates from the cultivators who have signed the application and from their successors in interest in the land included therein, at the rates fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 78 of the Act. Every sum due from a cultivator to a contractor on account of water-rates under rule 54 shall be deemed to be a sum due to Government under sections 83 and 85 of the Irrigation Act.

Contractor's payments when due.

(58) The sum due from the contractor shall be paid to the Collector, either by instalments or in one sum, before the 31st of March.

Resignation of contractor.

(59) A contractor may resign his interest in a lease on giving to the Collector, before the 1st of October, a written notice of his intention to do so.

Canal Officer may appoint approved contractor.

(60) If, after the completion of a lease under sechedule I or II a contractor, as described in rule 55, comes forward, and is willing to undertake to collect the entire sum due from any village on account of water-rates, the Canal Officer, subject to the approval of the Collector, may appoint him to the office under a proper agreement under section 82 of the Act.

Any person paying entire demand may claim 15 per cent.

(61) If, at any time, the cultivators of a village under lease pay to the Collector through any one person nominated by themselves, the entire sum due on their lease, on or before the date on which the water-rates are due, a refund of 15 per cent. of the amount so paid shall be made at the time of payment to such person.

On Remission.

Gauge of discharges.

(62) The water-gauges on distributaries or other channels shall be held to give authoritative data for all calculations of discharge required to verify claims for remission of water-rate on account of failure of supply.

Remission for failure of supply.

(63) Claims to remission of water-rates under section 76 (b) shall be made to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. Such claims shall only be admitted on proof of actual loss caused by failure or stoppage of supply. On proof of such loss, due to such failure or stoppage as described in section 76 (b), the Divisional Canal Officer shall remit the whole or any part of the rates. All Applications for remission of water-rates shall be made in the manner provided in rule 45 within 15 days after the occurrence of such failure or stoppage.

Compensation.

(64) Before awarding compensation under section 76 (c), the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Divisional Canal Officer, and such opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

Remissions by Superintending Canal Officer.

(65) The Collector or the Superintending Canal Officer, acting under the general instructions which he may from time to time receive from Government, may, in special cases, remit the whole or part of the water-rates due to Government. PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 67.

Dated the 11th February 1892.

THE subjoined annual accounts and reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardugga, Manbhoom, and Singbhoom for the year 1890-91, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, are published for general information.

F. J. JOHNSTONE,
Joint-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 41D.R., dated Hazaribagh, the 29th May 1891.

From—C. J. S. FAULDER, ESQ., C.S., Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Hazaribagh,

To—The Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the administration of the District Road Fund, together with a detailed account of receipts and expenditure for the year ending 31st March 1891.

2. The District Committee held three meetings during the year, in all of which quorum was obtained, the average attendance being 7·6. The members residing in and about the town of Hazaribagh took more interest in the working of the Act than those living in the interior of the district.

* * * *

3. The term of five years since their last appointment of many of the members having expired, the Committee was reconstituted during the year.

4 The following is a summary of the business transacted by the Committee during the year under report:—

(1) Preparation of the budget estimates of receipts and expenditure for the year 1891-92.
(2) Passing of estimates of different works to be executed in 1891-92.
(3) Passing of annual account and report for 1889-90.
(4) Consideration of the District Engineer's application for increase of travelling allowance.
(5) Revision of the list of members.

5. The accounts were as usual audited by a Sub-Committee appointed under section 174 of the Act.

6. Branch Committee.—There is only one Branch Committee in the district at Giridih, which held five meetings during the year, in which the average attendance was 4·8. The Committee consists of 14 members, of whom 5 are Europeans. The Sub-divisional Officer reports that most of the members who attended the meetings were native gentlemen, and that the European members, with the exception of one, took no interest in the working of the Act.

7. Rs. 4,544 were made over to the Branch Committee for the repairs of the roads under it, and all but Re. 0-2-9 were spent—Rs. 567-0-11 departmentally by the Vice-

Chairman, Rs. 760-6-9 by five native and one European member, and the rest by contract. Rs. 289-6-9 were spent on original works of a petty nature, Rs. 197-12 on establishments, and the rest on repairs. A Sub-Overseer of the District Committee received allowance of Rs. 5 for inspecting the work of the Branch Committee, but the arrangement was not satisfactory. The Branch Committee has to spend a very large part of its income on the roads immediately round Giridih, which is a large and rising town, where there ought to be a municipality paying for its own roads, and the roads of the interior have to be neglected in consequence; at the same time they might be better than they are. The Branch Committee has 232 miles of roads on its hands: the average sum available per mile is thus Rs. 24-6. The Branch Committee complains that at this figure it cannot keep the roads up. My own experience is that with Rs. 24-6 per mile a very great deal can be done for fair-weather roads. Rs. 10, or even Rs. 5, have, I have found, been sufficient to keep such roads in good order, and it certainly should be possible with Rs. 24-6. The work of the Branch Committee in past year has no doubt been badly done, too much being left to uninstructed and unsupervised contractors. Mr. Rattray towards the end of his tour noted that he had not come across a single Branch Committee's road in good order. He himself takes interest in the work, and may, I hope, effect an improvement. The Vice-Chairman, Babu Burmeshor Prosad, also takes great interest in the work.

8. The road cess in the district continued to be levied at the maximum rates prescribed by law.

9. The demand on account of cess on lands and mines during the year was Rs. 46,173 against Rs. 46,170 in the previous year. The annual valuation of mines brought about an increase of Rs. 15 in the demand, but on the other hand there has been a decrease of Rs. 12 in the demand of road cess collected in the Gya district owing to revaluation operations of that district; hence the net increase was Rs. 3 only.

10. The year commenced with an arrear balance of Rs. 1.289. This, together with Rs. 46,173, the demand for the year, less the sum of Rs. 1,535 paid in advance in previous years, gave a total of Rs 45,927 for collection within the year under report. Of this sum Rs. 36,471 were realised, the balance outstanding at close of the year being Rs. 9,456. In addition to the above, a sum of Rs. 1,635 was collected as advance for future years. The percentage of collections on current demand is Rs 82·5. Most of the arrears due at close of the year was due from revenue-paying estates in which the last kist fell due on the 28th March, or three days before the close of the year. The accrual of heavy balance is chiefly due to the failure of the proprietor of the Ramgurh Estate to pay in Rs. 8,798 out of the sum payable by him on account of kist of 28th March last. Most of the arrears, namely Rs. 8,701, have since been realised.

11. From fees, fines, i e., chiefly for non-submission of revaluation returns, Rs. 6,929 were realised in the year.

12. Including a few small miscellaneos receipts and an opening balance of Rs. 29,134-4-3, the income available for expenditure in the year was Rs. 82,674-10.

13. Original works.—The only original works taken up during the year under review were the gravelling of the road from Golah to Dakagurha viâ Dimra towards Jhalda en route to Purulia, a distance of about 12 miles, and the construction of a third class inspection bungalow at Murkutcho. The bungalow (Rs. 433-0-9) and a little more than 6 miles of the road (Rs. 3,000) have been completed during the year. Owing to the limited funds at the disposal of the Committee no other work could be undertaken during the year.

14. Repairs.—Thirty-four miles of the metalled and 47 miles of gravelled roads have been maintained at a cost, respectively, of Rs. 6,301-10-8 and Rs. 3,566-12-5, and are in fair condition.

15. Nineteen fair-weather roads, aggregating to about 300 miles, have been kept up in fair condition at a cost of Rs. 12,822-0-5 and are fit for cart traffic. The steep gradients are gradually being improved and the approaches down to beds of unbridged rivers and nallahs eased for wheeled traffic.

16. Village roads, aggregating to about 357 miles, have been repaired and made feasible for cart traffic. The roads of this class in the head-quarters were under the supervision of the District Engineer, and were kept up at a cost of Rs. 2,639-1-11, and those in the Giridih subdivision were under the supervision of the Branch Committee.

17. Arboriculture.—No new trees were planted during the year; the existing trees, about 14,000 in number have been maintained at a cost of Rs. 1,562-1-6, and are generally in a flourishing state. Many of the avenues are incomplete owing to want of proper protection, and the completion of these avenues must be the care of the Committee before fresh avenue planting can be undertaken. The proposal of clump planting or planting of topes of trees along every 5 or 6 miles of the road has since been approved by the Commissioner, and will be adopted in future in place of avenue planting as funds permit. The expenditure on replanting trees and protecting them during the year under report was Rs. 1,562-1-6.

18. Nursery. There is only one nursery garden in the Road Cess Office compound containing about 900 plants.

19. Staging Bungalows and Serais.—There is only one staging bungalow at Ramgurh. It yielded Rs. 55-8 during the year, and its maintenance cost Rs. 257-3-9. Since the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway the dâk bungalow is rarely used, and the income is therefore reduced.

20. The only cart serai in the district, namely at Bogodhur on the Grand Trunk Road, yielded Rs. 103, and its maintenance cost Rs. 36-5-3.

Vice-Chairman.

Explanatory memorandum attached to the District Road Fund Account for the year 1890-91.

THE receipts on account of fines for non-submission of revaluation returns during 1889-90 and 1890-91 having been much larger than what had been estimated for, the closing balance at the end of the year exceeded the limit prescribed in paragraph 9 of the Government Resolution No. 4228R.C., of the 18th December 1885. Provisions have, however, been made for the disposal of the excess balance in the budget for the current year.

The transfer of allotments noted in antique figures in column 2 of Part II of the account has been sanctioned by the Committee; the Commissioner's sanction to the same is being applied for.

H. C. MITTER,
Vice-Chairman,

No. 95D.R., dated Ranchi, the 18th June 1891.

From—COLONEL E. G. LILLINGSTON, Deputy Commissioner and Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Lohardugga,

To—The Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts and report on the working of the Road Cess Act, IX (B.C.) of 1880, for the year ending 31st March 1891.

* * * * * * * *

3. * * * * The attendance of the non-official members of the District Road Cess Committee during the year under report was unsatisfactory, for out of nine non-officials three attended only two meetings, and two failed to attend any meetings of the Committee during 1890-91. Regarding Palamow Branch Road Cess Committee * * * also the attendance of the non-official members was unsatisfactory.

4. The following is the summary of business transacted at the meetings of the District Road Cess Committee held during the year under report:—

(a) Passing the budget estimate.
(b) Fixing the rate of road cess to be levied during the year.
(c) Passing the annual accounts for 1889 90.
(d) Passing estimates submitted by the District Engineer for the repairs of different roads during 1890 91.
(e) Appointing contractors for the construction and repairs of different roads for 1890-91.
(f) Disposing of other miscellaneous business.

5. P. H. O'Brien, Esq., C.S., Joint-Magistrate, held the office of Vice-Chairman from July to December 1890, and Assistant Magistrate B. B. Newbould, Esq., C.S., from January to March 1891. On account of there being no covenanted assistant from April to June 1890, the office of the Vice-Chairman was under my direct supervision. The cheques were signed by Debendra Lal Bose, one of the members of the Committee in place of the Vice-Chairman, under the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division under clause 2, section 129 of Act IX (B.C.) of 1880.

6. The demand on account of cess on lands and mines during the year, including arrears of last year, amounted to Rs. 65,433. Of this Rs. 514 was collected in advance during the previous year, and Rs. 61,044 has been collected within the year under report, thus leaving a balance outstanding on 31st March 1891, Rs. 3,845. In addition to the above, a sum of Rs. 505 was collected in advance on account of the ensuing year 1891-92.

7. The cess was levied at the maximum rate. There was no difficulty in collecting it at head-quarters. In the Palamow sub-division, however, some difficulty was experienced in collecting the cesses from the estates which are held by numerous share-holders either by purchase or by inheritance. The recognised and recorded proprietors of these estates are but proprietors in name. A separate report on this subject will be submitted.

8. The accounts of the year were duly examined and audited by a Sub-Committee consisting of the Vice-Chairman and two other English-knowing members.

9. Original Works.—Ranchi-Lohardugga road.—A masonry arched bridge, 16 feet span, was constructed in the 46th mile, and the diversions at Karrak, Bara, and Baratpore bridges, which had been taken in hand in the previous year, were also completed, and the approaches of these bridges were metalled with gravel over a layer of soling.

10. Survey was taken of Ranchi-Gola and Daltongunge-Sherghotty roads and plans prepared. Drawings were prepared of Ranchi-Chandil, Ranchi-Palkote, Bundu-Jhaldu, and Kuru to Orenga stream roads.

11. Repairs.—Lalpore to Hazaribagh road.—Gravel was put over metalling in half a mile of the length and petty repairs undertaken.

12. Ranchi-Booti road.—Gravelling was renewed here and there and the road maintained in good order.

13. Ranchi and Lohardugga road.—About 5 miles of the road were gravelled, and gravel collection was made in 7 miles. Petty repairs, including renewal of gravelling here and there, were executed throughout the length of the road. The timber roadway of a culvert on the 13th mile was reconstructed.

14. Anandi-Gola road.—Surface repairs were undertaken and the road maintained in fair order.

15. Lohardugga and Chattra road.—Timber roadways in two bridges, 15 feet span each, were thoroughly renewed and timber railings constructed on one bridge. Much earthwork was executed in thoroughly repairing the road from 26th mile to Baloomath, and petty repairs, including renewal of some temporary bridges, were undertaken throughout the entire length of the road.

16. Ranchi-Chandil road.—The new diversion from Subornarekha bridge on Public Works Department road to Purulia, about a mile and a half in length, was gravelled and a rubble masonry and flag stone culvert constructed on it. Several temporary bridges were reconstructed and the road maintained in good order.

17. Ranchi and Palma road.—A timber bridge was rebuilt in Nagri Doae, gravelling was executed at places and petty repairs undertaken.

18. Ranchi-Pithoria road.—About a mile and a half of the road was gravelled. A diversion was constructed near Pithoria and patch repairs undertaken.

19. Ranchi and Palkote road—About a mile of the road was gravelled. The entire length of the old road from Kulhutoo to Muruchkel, 22 miles in length, which had been abandoned in favour of a diversion 5 miles longer, was again resumed for public convenience and was almost thoroughly reconstructed, including rebuilding several temporary bridges; petty repairs were undertaken.

20. Khunti and Kamdera road.—Road was maintained in fair order and some temporary bridges rebuilt and repaired.

21. Palma-Lohardugga viâ Bhandra road.—Road was maintained in fair order and some temporary bridges rebuilt and repaired.

22. Lohardugga-Sumbulpore road.—Five miles of the road thoroughly reconstructed. About 100 running feet of temporary bridges were constructed; petty repairs were undertaken.

23. Kuru to Orenga stream.—The bridge over Senha stream was completed and the earthwork in diversion at this bridge was in progress. Surface repairs were executed and some temporary bridges rebuilt.

24. Orenga stream to Daltongunge road—Surface maintained in good order and several temporary bridges renewed.

25. Daltongunge-Moharajgunge road.—About a mile of the road was gravelled, some temporary bridges were reconstructed and the road kept in fair order.

26. Daltongunge and Garwa road.—The road maintained in fair order.

27. Garwa-Majiwan and Garwa-Untari roads.—About 2 miles of each of the roads were reconstructed and petty repairs undertaken.

28 Majiwan-Jupla road.—About 4 miles of the road were reconstructed, surface repairs undertaken and some temporary bridges renewed.

29. Daltongunge-Sherghotty road.—Three miles of the road in the ghât requiring heavy earthwork in cutting and filling were thoroughly reconstructed and some temporary bridges rebuilt; petty repairs were also undertaken.

30. Daltongunge-Patan road.—About 2 miles of the road reconstructed.

31. Petty roads near Sudder station.—They were maintained in good order.

32. Village roads.—In the head-quarters sub-division 24 miles of roads were newly constructed, about 20 miles which had been taken in hand in previous year were completed, and some 120 miles maintained in passable order. A bridge 20 feet span with rubble masonry abutments and wing walls on sâl timber roadway was constructed on Palkote-Gomla road. In Palamow sub-division some 15 miles of roads were constructed and about 25 miles maintained in fair order.

33. Arboriculture.—About 350 seedlings brought from Shibpur Botanical Gardens, and some 400 taken from nurseries at Ranchi, Lohardugga, and Daltongunge were planted along the roadside. Plants along 75 miles of roads taken altogether were maintained, and several new gabions supplied to them.

34. Staging Bungalows—Two staging huts, one on Ranchi-Gola road, and another on the Daltongunge and Garwa road, were completed this year. The bungalow at Balumath was much improved with additions and alterations, renewal of the tiled roof with sâl battens and bullahs, and providing light terrace roofings in the rooms. All the bungalows and huts were kept in fair order.

85. Tools and Plant.—One stone road-roller for consolidation of gravels was constructed, and several other tools were purchased and repaired.

86. Generally it may be said that more attention has been paid to securing good and lasting work rather than quantity. Drainage is being specially looked after and care taken that the bad portions of roads are completed before work is done on the better parts. A system has been introduced to finish off such portions of roads as are to be put in order first, and until these are completed the contractors and subordinates employed under the District Engineer are not given credit for any other work executed.

87. Accounts.—The monthly accounts of the Road Fund and of the District Engineer's office were examined by the Vice-Chairman, and two other English-knowing members of the Committee who were appointed for the purpose.

88. The Local Auditor inspected this and the District Engineer's office on the 22nd November 1890, and the result was very satisfactory.

89. The establishments entertained under the Road Cess Act are—

(a) Establishment for collection of revenue.
(b) Committee's office estalishment.
(c) Engineering establishment.

40. The establishment for collection of revenue at head-quarters consists of one head-clerk and accountant, one assistant clerk, one mohurr. and one peon. These officers also do the works connected with the Committee's office, for which there is no separate establishment. The establishment under the Sub-divisional Officer of Palamow consists of one clerk and one peon.

* * * * * * * *

43. The roads, bridges, and culverts mentioned in the budget estimate for 1891-92 (sanctioned by Government) are the works proposed to be taken in hand during the ensuing year 1891-92.

44. The works have all been executed by contract during the year under report, and the small sums advanced to the contractors have been adjusted.

E. G. LILLINGSTON, Colonel.
Chairman, District Road Cess Committee,
Lohardugga.

N. L CHATTERJEE, Accountant. D. C. BOSE, Member. B. B. NEWBOULD, Vice-Chairman.

No. 25D.R., dated Purulia, the 7th July 1891.

From—C. A. S. BEDFORD, ESQ., Chairman, District Road Committee, Manbhoom,
To—The Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following brief annual report of the operations of the Cess Act, IX (B.C.) of 1880, and of the working of the District Road Committee of Manbhoom during the year 1890-91.

2. Working of the Cess Act, IX (B.C.) of 1880.—The demands, collections, and arrears on Road and Public Works cesses, and interest on lands, mines, quarries, and jungles for the year 1890-91, are shown in statement.

The arrears due for 1889-90 were Rs. 8,795, including Rs. 35 on account of a Digwari estate which had escaped assessment, and the demand for the year was Rs. 86,305 against

Rs. 27,465 and Rs. 87,492, respectively, for the two preceding years. There was a decrease of Rs. 1,187 in the demand owing to reduction in assessments on some mines, quarries, and jungles. The collection of the year was Rs. 76,149 against Rs. 1,05,951 in the preceding year, showing an outstanding balance of Rs. 18,950 at the end of the year against Rs. 8,760 in the preceding year. This is chiefly owing to the non-realisation of Rs. 14,054 (since realised) due from the Pachet estate for the kist ending 28th March 1891. The percentage of collections on net demand was Rs. 80,073. Out of the net balance (Rs. 18,950) outstanding at the end of the year. Rs. 17,836 have since been realised, and steps are being taken to recover the amount in arrear. As has often been noticed, cesses were not paid regularly during the year under report in many cases. There is a general tendency to put off payment until certificates are enforced. Of the revenue-paying estates, Jaipur, Katras, and Pachet are the most irregular in their payments. The practice of intimating to owners of mines, quarries, and jungles the amount of their indebtedness by means of post-cards was continued and was found to work satisfactorily.

3. Working of the Committee.—During the year under report the Committee held 12 meetings for the transaction of business, and in all of them a sufficient number of members was present to form a quorum. * * * *

The following is a summary of the business transacted by the Committee during the year:—

(1) Passing monthly accounts of the District Road Fund audited by a Standing Sub-Committee.
(2) Passing annual account and report for the year 1889-90.
(3) Discussing District Engineer's report regarding reduction of cost of maintaining cart serais, the income from falling off on account of the Bengal-Nagpore Railway.
(4) Discussing proposal submitted by the Barrabhum Estate Manager, of Messrs. R. Watson and Company regarding the construction of a bridge over the Nengshai nullah below Barrabazar.
(5) Considering a petition from the Bagmundi zemindar for the construction of a road from the Bolorampore Railway station to Bagmundi.
(6) Sanctioning acting allowance to District Engineer's clerk for the performance of District Road Committee's Accountant's duties during latter's privilege leave.
(7) Sanctioning annual budget estimate of the Committee's receipts and expenditure for the year 1891-92.

4. Working of the Branch Road Committee at Govindpore.—Babu Mohendronath Mukerjee, Sub-divisional Officer of Govindpore, was Chairman of the Branch Committee. No meetings were held and no business transacted.

5. Working establishment.—There has been no material change in the executive establishment of the Committee during the year under report. Two of the sub-overseers were absent on leave for short periods, and temporary arrangements had to be made to carry on their work.

* * * * *

6. Works done during the year.—Appendix B gives the abstract of all the works done during the year and the expenditure on them.

(a) Sudder sub-division—Original Works.—The following original works were executed during the year under report:—

(1) Approach road to the Anara Railway station
(2) Approach road to the Adra Railway station.

These approach roads connect the Purulia-Burrakur road with the adjacent railway stations, the necessity of which was much felt soon after the opening of the Bengal-Nagpore Railway. Earthwork, turfing, and bridgework were entirely completed and the roads opened to public traffic during the year under report. A valuable strip of land had to be acquired for the approach road to the Adra Railway station at some expense. In addition to the above, a road from Chirkunda on the Grand Trunk Road to Patlabari was budgetted for, but the project was afterwards abandoned owing to the Bengal Coal Company's making a free gift of a road which was their private property and which was found would meet our requirements

Repair Works.—The works under this head consisted of the usual maintenance of the district roads, and were generally much the same as in previous years. All the roads were kept up in fair condition generally. The following improvements however, deserve notice:—

(1) All the railway level crossings on the Purulia-Chybassa road, which were left in a more or less unfinished condition by the Railway Company, were attended to and were properly completed at the expense of the Railway Company.
(2) About 2 miles more of the Purulia station roads were stone-metalled to meet the requirements of increased wheel traffic in the vicinity of the Railway station.
(3) Minor improvements, such as easing steep gradients, adjusting alignments, construction of temporary stone culverts, &c., were effected.

The inspection and staging bungalows and bridges and culverts on all the roads were kept up in good condition.

Village roads.—Besides the annual petty repairs to the several existing village roads, the following are the principal additions and improvements under this head:—

(1) A surface road was constructed from the Adra Railway station to Kashipore for Rs. 500 only. It was very much wanted, especially as Kashipore, which is a big village of some importance, had no outlet in the direction of the Railway line. It is our intention to improve this road very shortly.

(2) The Barrabazar-Maubazar road was extended a mile further on towards Manbazar.

(3) The Jeypore-Begoonkoodar road was completed, and it is now thoroughly fit for wheel traffic.

Cart serais.—The serais on the Purulia-Ranchi road and Purulia-Bankura road were maintained and are in good condition. The compound of the Jeypore serai was improved by metalling. The incomes from the serais on the other roads, especially from those on the Purulia-Burrakur and Purulia-Chybassa roads, fell off very much during the year, and in anticipation of the abolition of some of them and reduction of others, no money was expended on them except what was absolutely necessary for petty repairs.

Arboriculture.—The work under this head consisted merely of the maintenance of young trees and plants along the Purulia station roads, as nothing more could be done for want of funds.

(b) Govindpore sub-division.—There was no original work done in this sub-division.

Repair works.—The works under this head consisted of the usual maintenance repairs' in this sub-division. Besides the above seven miles of the Govindpore-Giridih and two of 3rd and 4th sections of the Jhapra-Govindpore road were improved by gravelling.

The bridges and culverts on all the roads in the sub-division and the bungalows at Govindpore and Rajgunj were kept in proper repair.

Village roads.—The only road under this head on which work was done is the one from Rajgunj to Nowagurh. This road was very much improved and extended towards the Ranchi road close to the Damuda river.

Cart serais.—The serais along the Grand Trunk Road were repaired and are in good condition.

Audit Certificate.

WE hereby certify that the books and accounts specified below,* prescribed for the Road Cess office and for the office of the District Engineer, are duly kept up, and that they have been posted for the year 1890-91, and they have been duly scrutinized by the Sub-Committee.

Also that the treasury officer's abstract of the account of the Committee for the year has been duly received and checked with the cash and pass books, and found to agree therewith, except in respect of the amount of imprest in the hands of the Accountant which has been duly noted in the cash-book.

That the vouchers for the payments of the year have been cancelled that none but duly sanctioned expenditure has been incurred, and that in the case of original works the register of monthly expenditure shows clearly the amount of sanctioned estimates, the grant for the year, and generally that the work of the office has been performed with a due observance of the rules prescribed by Government.

Vice-Chairman.

* Road Cess Office—(1) Cash-book; (2) Cash abstract book; (3) Register of monthly receipts and expenditure; (4) Account of deposits; (5) Account of advances.
District Engineer's Office—(I) Accounts, viz.—(1) Files of contract certificates; (2) Files of bills for purchases or purchase lists; (3) Files of day-books; (4) Files of establishment bills; (5) Files of aquittance rolls: (II) Books, viz.—(2) Register of bills passed; (3) Register of works and repairs; (4) Register of tools and plant; (6) Account of advances; (7) Account of deposits.

Explanatory Note.

1. The excess expenditure of Rs. 182-15-4 under head "Establishment and Contingencies of Office of Collection" is on account of the head-clerk's salary for March 1891, viz. Rs. 70 having been paid to him in advance owing to his leaving on privilege leave for three months, and the balance, (Rs. 112-15-4) is on account of cost of service of notices, &c., not recoverable under sections 72, 78, and 81 of the Cess Act IX (B.C.) of 1880.

2. The excess expenditure of Rs. 124-3-7 under head of "Percentage cost of establishment, &c.," is owing to payment made during the year for the year previous.

3. The excess expenditure in some of the items of "Repair works" is apparent, but not actual, as the budget provision is for the year under report, whereas the expenditure includes payment for works provided for in the previous year.

4. The contingent expenditure incurred by the District Engineer from April to December 1890 has been charged under head "Administration" according to the old practice, as there was no such provision in the budget under head "Public Works Establishment and Contingencies." In the revised budget, however, a sum of Rs. 42 was provided to meet the contingent expenditure of the District Engineer's office for January, February, and March 1891, but no expenditure for the purpose was incurred during the three months of the year.

H. W. HILL,
Vice-Chairman.

Remarks by the Chairman.

I inspected the whole length of this road. The repair works were on the whole fairly well executed.

R. H. RENNY,

The 16th April 1891.

Annual Report on the Road Cess Operations for the year 1890-91.

1. Chybassa-Bend road.—A second class road, 73 miles in length, extends from Chybassa to Kopun nullah near Bend. In addition to repairs of a petty nature to the surface of the road and to the bridges and culverts, the low portions of the road near Bend have been raised. The dilapidated timber platform of the bridge about two miles to the west of Ghatsilla has been replaced by brick arches. Almost all portions up to Nursingurh that get very miry during the rains have been gravelled, the aggregate length of such gravelling being about 5 miles. There are two big streams, the Kharkai and the Subornarekha, which have been crossed by this road, and there are private ferries for passage of traffic across during the rains. The Gorura nullah crossings, of which there are two, have got no ferries, and during floods the traffic is discontinued. There are seven other minor unbridged steams in the 9th, 14th, 17th, 21st, 22nd, and 51st miles, and for want of funds the bridging of these could not be taken up.

Nursingurh-Bhairagora road.—This is a fifth class road which branches off from Nursingurh on the 56th mile of the Chybassa-Bend road and extends up to Bhairagora, a distance of 21 miles. The surface of the road and the timber culverts have been maintained. About a mile in length of road near Kokpara has been gravelled; very narrow places of the old road have been widened; jungle cutting and drain clearing have been done in many places.

I inspected the whole length of this road and found it in fair order.

R. H. RENNY,

The 16*th April* 1891.

Chybassa-Subornarekha River road—A third class road, 31 miles long, extends from Chybassa to the Subornarekha river. This road leads to Purulia. The road and the culverts have been maintained. The steep approaches to the Sunjoy river in the 20th mile have been eased. The portions that get miry during the rains have been gravelled, the aggregate length of such gravelling being over 4 miles.

I inspected nearly the whole length of this road and found it in good order.

R. H. RENNY,

The 16*th April* 1891.

The Subornarekha ghât improvement.—The more important and difficult portion of the work, namely rock cutting, has nearly been finished. The ghât on the south of the hill has been completed and is being used for traffic.

Chybassa-Khursowan road.—A fourth class road from Chybassa to Khursowan, a distance of 17 miles, of which the first 12 miles being in Kolhan is annually maintained from the Road Cess fund. In addition to maintaining the surface of the road and the culverts, clayey portions of the road of an aggregate length of about a mile have been gravelled. Since the opening of the Bengal-Nagpore Railway the road has became more important than before as it serves as a feeder road to the Amda station.

I inspected the road. The portion up to the level crossing over the railway is in good order, but that from the crossing to Khursowan is nearly obliterated. A road from the crossing to the Amda Railway station is badly needed.

R. H. RENNY,

The 16*th April* 1891.

Chakradharpore-Koksinga road—Is a fourth class road, from Chakradharpore to Koksinga, a distance of 51 miles only, the first 18 miles of which is annually maintained. Low portions in the beginning of the road were raised, and rain damage repairs done in the beginning of the cold season.

I inspected the road as far as Goilkera about 24 miles; it was in fair order.

R. H. RENNY,

The 16*th April* 1891.

Chybassa-Jyntgurh road—Is a second class road from Chybassa to Jyntgurh, a distance of 36 miles. The surface of the road has been maintained and the dilapidated timber culverts have been renewed. Heavy portions have mostly been gravelled, the total length of these being about 2 miles.

I inspected the whole of this road and found it in good order.

R. H. RENNY,

The 16*th April* 1891.

Village roads.—Of the village roads, the one from Chybassa to Katbari, a distance of 20 miles, has been improved. The surface has been repaired, and the clayey portions that become impassable for carts during the rains have been gravelled. The timber platforms of a few culverts have been replaced by brick arches.

A. CHATTERJEE,

District Engineer, Singhboom.

I inspected the whole of this road and found it in good condition.

R. H. RENNY,

Chairman, D. R. C. C., Singhboom.

The 16*th April* 1891.

EXPLANATION.

OF the amounts, Rs. 281-8 6 and Rs. 304-10, shown against head "Miscellaneous" both in the receipt and expenditure side in Part I of the annual accounts, Rs. 268, represents the sum received from one Sona Prodhan of Goilmoora for raising a portion of Chakradharpur-Kosinga road No. 6. The work, however, was subsequently ordered to be executed by the said Prodhan himself, and the amount thus received and credited in favour of the District Road Fund under head "Miscellaneous" in the cash-book was refunded to the said Sona Prodhan, debiting the same under the same head.

R. H. RENNY,
Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Singbhoom.

No. 192R.C., dated Ranchi, the 30th September 1891.

From—COLONEL E. G. LILLINGSTON, Offg. Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the accounts and reports of the several District Road Committees of this division for the year ending 31st March 1891 with the following remarks.

2 The number of meetings held by the District Road Committees varied from a minimum of three in Hazaribagh to a maximum of twelve in Manbhoom. In all districts except Lohardugga there were sufficient members present at each meeting to form a quorum. In Lohardugga alone in two meetings of the District Road Committee and in one of the Palamow Branch Committee there was no quorum. As in previous years the members residing in and about the head-quarters stations were more regular in their attendance than those living in the interior of the districts. The attendance of members was generally satisfactory, except in Lohardugga, where out of nine non-official members three attended only two meetings and two altogether failed to attend any meetings of the Committee.

In the Giridih Branch Committee out of five European members only one is reported to have taken any interest in the Committee's proceedings. This is much to be regretted.

3. During the past year the cess was levied in all the districts at the maximum rate. The opening balances, receipts, charges and closing balances of the several Road Committees during the past year are shown below—

	Hazaribagh.	Lohardugga.	Singbhoom.	Manbhoom.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Opening balance	29,134	14,864	6,270	23,461	73,729
Receipts	53,540	70,658	15,353	36,839	1,76,390
Total	82,674	85,522	21,623	60,300	2,50,119
Charges	62,971	61,098	17,742	49,497	1,91,308
Closing balances	19,703	24,424	3,881	10,803	58 811

It is satisfactory to observe that the closing balances are smaller than the opening balances in Hazaribagh, Manbhoom, and Singbhoom. In Lohardugga, however, they are larger than the closing balances of the previous year. The Road Committee of the last named district will be asked to see that these balances are reduced at the end of the current-year to a quarter's demand of the year.

4. As might be expected owing to the extensive areas of the districts and the insufficiency of the funds at the disposal of the several Committees very little could be done under the head of Original Works, the bulk of the expenditure incurred being devoted to repairs and maintenance of the existing roads. In Hazaribagh the only original works undertaken during the year were the gravelling of the road between Gola and Dakagurha via Dimra and the construction of a third class inspection bungalow at Murkatcho. In Lohardugga a masonry arched bridge of 16 feet span at the 46th mile of the Ranchi-Lohardugga road was constructed during the year, while the diversions at the Karak, Bora, and Baratpur bridges, which had been taken in hand in the previous year, were completed during the year.

In Manbhoom two short roads connecting the Purulia-Burrakur road with the stations of Adra and Anara on the Bengal-Nagpore Railway were constructed during the year.

In Singbhoom the only original works undertaken during the past five years consisted of the metalling of the heavy portions of the six roads noted on the margin and the improving of the Subornorekha ghât. The total expenditure incurred on original works in the several districts amounted to Rs. 18,843 against Rs. 1,00,396 spent on repairs, and Rs. 2,871 on petty construction and repairs. The following statement shows the amounts spent in the several districts on original works, repairs, and petty construction and repairs, the total cost of the engineering staff entertained and the percentage of this cost on the total amounts spent on works:—

1. Chybassa-Bend road.
2. Narsingburh-Bhairagora road.
3. Chybassa-Subornorekha road.
4. Chybassa-Kursowan road.
5. Chybassa-Jaintighur road.
6. Chybassa-Katbari road

DISTRICT.	Amount spent on original works.	Amount spent on repairs.	Amount spent on petty construction and repairs.	Total amount spent on works.	Total cost of Public Works establishment entertained.	Percentage of cost of establishment on the amounts spent on works.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Hazaribagh	4,142	34 031	160	38,333	7,691	19·9
Lohardugga	3,713	31,265	1,069	36,047	9,218	25·5
Singbhoom	5,837	4,483	238	10,558	3,133	29·7
Manbhoom	4,851	30,617	1,406	36 874	7,262	19·7
Total ...	18,843	1,00,396	2,871	1,22,110	27,304	22·4

Considering the amount spent on works, the cost of the establishments entertained in Singbhoom and Lohardugga is very high, being about 29·7 and 25·5 per cent., respectively, of the amounts actually spent on works. The Road Committees of these two districts will be called on to see that much larger amounts are spent by them on works during the current year.

[Cf. Act XVII of 1887, s. 158.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN several provinces a general rate is already levied on estates under the Court of Wards, and is credited to Government to meet the estimated cost of supervision and management by Government officers. It is desirable to place the legality of these rates beyond doubt, and at the same time to limit their amount. It has been decided that other Local Governments should be empowered to levy similar rates, and that the rates should be leviable on all estates under Government management, and not merely on those under the Court of Wards.

Power has been given to the Local Governments to reduce or remit the rate in special cases. This provision is designed especially to meet cases in which Government officials are relieved of the supervision and management by the employment of special general managers.

Under section 4 of the Bill it is open to Local Governments either to charge special fees for legal advice and audit of accounts, where these services are rendered by Government officials, or to debit the contribution for these services to the general rate.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF JANUARY 1892.

1. The most noticeable feature of the weather during the past month has been the absence of rainfall in all districts; the only falls occurring in Behar and the Darjeeling Hill Tracts, where, however, they rarely exceeded a tenth of an inch—a small fraction of what is usually received in January.

2. In consequence of the continued absence of cloudy weather, temperature has been above the normal, especially during the third week, when both night and day readings were about 5° in excess. In the early part of the month minimum readings were generally a little below the normal in the northern districts, and about 3° below in Orissa and South-West Bengal, and again there was a similar arrangement after the period of warm weather about the middle of the month.

3. Humidity differed very little from the normal, as taken from the 8 A.M. readings, but cloud proportion is low in all districts.

4. These abnormal conditions as to rainfall and temperature have not been due to the absence of barometric depressions, as three of these approached the province during the month, but though pressure was considerably in defect at the time, their influence in the higher reaches of the atmosphere seems to have been much less than usual.

At the end of December a rather rapid fall of pressure set in at the western stations, and continuing for about two days caused defect of more than a tenth of an inch in the western districts. Southerly winds began in Lower Bengal, but the effect of the disturbance which disappeared before the centre reached Bengal, was apparent only in the wind circulation and increasing temperature. On the 1st of January pressure was again rising, and by the 2nd, northerly winds recommenced. After this ordinary cold weather conditions prevailed till the 9th, with small oscillations of pressure, but on the 9th another disturbance in North-Western India began to affect the pressure and temperature distribution in Bengal, the former falling by a tenth of an inch and the latter rising several degrees. As before, fine clear weather continued with increasing humidity and a tendency to southerly winds. The depression was, however, not so short-lived as the previous one, and moving in an easterly direction reached Bengal about the 11th, when passing near Berhampore it moved slowly over the province, the recovery of pressure not occurring till the 14th. While southerly winds were blowing, the air near the surface of the earth was warm and moist, but the sky continued almost cloudless, and no rain was reported except a few drops at Kalimpong. On the 14th pressure was below the normal by amounts varying from ·15 inch to ·2 inch. The depression then began to fill up, the rise on the 15th being moderate in the southern districts, and continuing more rapidly on the following day. From this date winds became northerly, temperature fell rapidly, and ordinary cold weather prevailed for some days. From the 16th to the 19th, northerly or north-westerly winds prevailed, humidity and temperature were both low, and the sky absolutely cloudless. On the 20th the third depression of the month began to affect weather in Bengal, but it was then far to the north-west, and as happened in the beginning of the month, it filled up before it reached the western districts of the province. It was only on the 23rd and 24th that its influence was marked, in the cloudy sky and light rainfall, in Behar; but from the 22nd temperature and humidity rose, and wind directions were east or south-east. The districts where light rain fell were Shahabad, Gya, and Patna on both the 23rd and 24th. On the latter of these two days pressure was falling in North and Central Bengal, but though temperature and humidity continued high, there was no apparent depression, and no more rain fell except a few showers in the Darjeeling Hills on the 27th. Pressure then began to rise, and continued till the 29th, the resulting distribution being between a twentieth and a tenth of an inch above the normal. Temperature, however, continued high, and excess in some places amounted to 7°. During the last week, North Behar received on an average about a tenth of the normal rainfall, and South Behar about a third, while the average excess of temperature for the whole province was very little under 4°.

Pressure—Differed very little from the normal during the first ten days of January, the average for this period being a few thousandths of an inch above the normal, except in the extreme north where there was a very slight defect. During the following week readings were generally a tenth of an inch below, and the largest average defect was ·126 inch at Dinagepore and ·118 inch at Berhampore, while at some of the eastern and southern stations defect was little over ·05 inch. After the filling up of the depression about the middle of the month, there was a rapid rise resulting in a moderate excess for the week ending on the 23rd and this excess continued or slowly increased to about a tenth of an inch till the end of the month.

Temperature—Has been high during the greater part of the month, especially during the day. In the first part of the month minimum readings were generally one or two degrees below the normal, but as there was a considerable excess during the day, the means were only slightly in defect, except in Orissa. During the second week unusually warm weather prevailed, and means were in some cases more than 5° above the normal. After the depression filled up, night readings were again below the normal, but towards the end of the month there was again a large excess, especially in the hill districts where previously there had been comparatively low temperatures. The means for the whole month are above the normal by amounts varying between 1·3° in Assam and about 3° in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar.

The actual oscillations and variations of temperature from the normal for the month are given in the following table, where the variations from the normal of the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts are given :—

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater.

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head District observations of rainfall the normal means are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the past ten years. The means of the district are the numerical average of the rainfall return received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the subdivisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 16*th February* 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 13TH OF FEBRUARY 1892.

At the close of the previous week the meteorological conditions in Bengal were particularly abnormal. The mean temperature of February 5th reported on the morning of the 6th had been no less than from 6° to 9° above the normal of the day, humidity was also very high on the 6th, pressure was below the normal by amounts varying from a twentieth to a tenth of an inch, and more or less southerly winds had set in at almost all stations. On the 7th there had been a brisk fall of pressure over the whole province, and pressure had become below the normal by amounts varying up to about a sixth of an inch. Temperature, on the other hand, had risen moderately, and southerly winds continued to be reported at practically all stations. On the 8th pressure was rising slowly, and temperature also again rose at the majority of stations. The distribution of pressure on this day was, however, decidedly irregular, and the barometer was distinctly low over Central and North Bengal; north-westerly winds set in at the western stations, while southerly and south-easterly winds were blowing over the eastern half of the province. Considerable interaction was therefore taking place, and this resulted in the formation of a series of small local storms usually accompanied by rain, and on the morning of the 9th a large proportion of the stations in East and North Bengal and a few stations in North Behar reported light to moderate rain. These disturbed conditions, however, quickly passed away from Bengal, and pressure had increased on the morning of the 9th, while a brisk fall of temperature had occurred, though again the majority of stations reported southerly winds. On the 10th both pressure and temperature had fallen slowly in Bengal, but more important meteorological changes had taken place in North-Western India, where a barometric depression had appeared over the western desert. On the 11th this depression had become more marked, and was apparently travelling in an easterly direction, and in advance of the depression moderate general rain commenced to fall, but on the 11th only a few light showers were reported, principally in Chutia Nagpur, though a few other local showers occurred elsewhere. On the 11th the pressure changes in Bengal were exceedingly small, but temperature had again commenced to rise rather rapidly in front of the advancing depression, and was again from about 7° to 10° above the normal. On the 12th pressure was rising slowly over the greater part of Bengal, though at the extreme western stations in Chutia Nagpur it had commenced to fall, apparently being influenced by the advancing depression, which was reported on this date to have developed very considerably in intensity. Wind directions in the western districts of the province also appeared to form the eastern part of a cyclonic circulation, though in the eastern half of the province winds were north-westerly. Fairly general rain commenced in Chutia Nagpur on the 12th, and rain also was reported on this day in Sonthal Pergunnahs, Shahabad, and Gya. On the 13th the barometric depression had advanced in an easterly direction, and its centre was near Agra and Jhansi, and it was still a considerable storm. In Bengal pressure fell moderately in connection with the advancing depression, and temperature was generally rising slowly, while rainfall had on this day extended over a considerable part of Behar, though it was very light and perhaps not very general. Conditions therefore at the close of the week were entirely dependent on the depression in the North Western Provinces.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been below the normal in all districts, but the variations have been decidedly irregular, pointing to the existence of disturbed conditions generally. The largest defects have been about 0·06" at some of the central stations of the province, such as at Berhampore, Bankura, &c., while on the other hand at the stations in the south of Chutia Nagpur pressure has been almost normal.

Temperature—Has again been exceptionally high throughout the week, and the mean temperature has been more than six degrees in excess of the normal. This excess has been fairly equally distributed (except in Orissa where it is only 3°), though in Behar and North Bengal it exceeds 7°.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. The excess, it will be seen, has been even larger in the night than it has been in the day temperatures: —

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

REVISED WATER-RATE RULES FOR THE MIDNAPORE CANAL.

Notification No. 62, dated the 16th February 1892.

In exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 99 and 78 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make the following rules and to fix the undermentioned rates to be charged for water supplied from the Midnapore Canal. These rules and rates will supersede those now in force.

J. M. MCNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

1. The officers of the Public Works Department, who have charge of the canal, are solely responsible for maintaining it in an efficient state of repair, for providing drainage channels where necessary, and generally for all engineering work involved in its management, as well as for the distribution of water to lessees. The word "canal" is here used as defined in section 3 of the Act.

2. The Deputy Revenue Superintendent, under the supervision of the Collector of the district as Revenue Superintendent, is responsible for the collection of water-rates and miscellaneous revenue accruing to Government from the canal.

3. Water shall not be distributed otherwise than on the application of a lessee, or of a ryot in whose favour a provisional requisition has been issued, as provided for in Rule 21 below. Such application may be made verbally or in writing to any Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which water is required.

4. If any lessee apply for water to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, or one of his subordinates verbally, he should be told to address himself to the officers of the Public Works Department. If he makes such an application in writing, his petition shall be forwarded direct by the canal revenue officer, to whom it is addressed, to the Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which the petitioner's village is supplied.

5. The canal officers of the Public Works Department, in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, shall map out the irrigable area into blocks in accordance with the natural features of the ground, and so determined that the whole block shall be irrigable from one outlet, or from one set of outlets. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines.

6. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its irrigable area in registers to be maintained by the Public Works officers and by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officers.

7. Leases for not more than five years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block, or, subject to the provisions of Rule 14, for definite parts of a block, under the following conditions:—

I.—The lease may be for the lands of one or more villages, but ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village, so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease.

II.—All leases within one block shall be granted so that they shall expire on the same date.

III.—In order to equalise the areas to be dealt with in each year, the date of expiry of the leases in each block shall be determined by the Public Works officers in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, so that one-fifth of the total area usually irrigated may fall out of lease in each year.

Explanation.

A blocks commence	1892	... ...	Expire	1897.
B " "	1893	... ...	"	1898.
C " "	1894	... ...	"	1899.
D " "	1895	... ...	"	1900.
E " "	1896	... ...	"	1901.

Then, should a lease in a B block expire in 1892, a lease for one year must be given. Similarly, a lease in a B block expiring in 1894 must be renewed for four years only. It may, however, be possible in cases like the latter to arrange by mutual consent to cancel the existing and unexpired leases in B blocks in 1893, and then to renew for the full term of five years.

8. The rates to be charged for water supplied between June and November, whether by flow or lift, to lessees on application shall be—

For a term of five years—Rs. 1-8 per acre for each season.

Provided that the leases, whether new or renewals, required for shorter terms in order to develop the system of blocks as explained above shall, on the first occasion, be offered at the above rate.

Subject to the above provision, the rates shall be—

	Rs.	A.	P.
For a term of four years	1	12	0	per acre per season.
" " of three "	2	0	0	" "
" " of two "	2	4	0	" "

Explanation.

An existing lease in a D block expires in 1892. The lessees will be offered a renewal for three years at Rs. 1-8 per acre per season. They decline this, and do not renew till 1893. They can then only get a lease for two years at Rs. 2-4 per acre per season. Similarly, an application for a new lease in a C block is received in 1892. A lease for two years at Rs. 1-8 per acre may be given; but should an application for a new lease in a C block be received in 1895, a lease for four years at Rs. 1-12 per acre will be granted.

9. For the supply of water, when available, for winter crops, a rate of Rs. 1-8 per acre per season shall be charged.

10. For the unauthorized use of canal water a rate of Rs. 5 per acre, or such less rate as may be fixed by the Collector, shall be charged.

11. Applications for water-leases under section 74 of the Act should be presented to the zilladar of the division in which the applicant's land lies, and, subject to Rules 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 below, zilladars are authorized to grant such leases.

12. No village shall be brought under lease for the first time, and no lease shall be renewed for a period exceeding one year, without the consent in writing of the Executive Engineer. Such consent in writing may be taken specially for a single village, or generally for specified tracts including several villages.

13. Every application for a water-lease shall contain the following particulars:—

1.—Name and residence of applicant.

2.—Name of pergunnah, mehal, and village in which the land to be irrigated is situated.

3.—Total area for the irrigation of which the application is made and its boundaries, and if the lands to be irrigated lie in separate chaks, the name of each chak.
4.—Names of the ryots whose lands are to be irrigated, and the quantity of land held by each.
5.—Name of the canal and number of distributary from which water is required.
6.—Signatures of the applicants.

14. No application for a water-lease shall be entertained when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a village-channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Executive Engineer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

15. Without the permission of the Collector, no application shall include lands belonging to more than one village, but tehsilalaids or other lands lying within the village boundary at the time of survey may be included.

16. Without special orders in writing from the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, no application for a water-lease shall be received unless it includes all the irrigable lands in a village.

17. When a water-lease is granted, a kabuliyat shall be taken in a form approved by Government, and a "permit" shall be given to the lessee or lessees in a form similar to that prescribed in Schedule C of the Act.

18. On the issue of a "permit" as above, of which the zilladar shall keep a duplicate, he shall forward a copy of the kabuliyat to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent for record and at the same time he shall forward to the Executive Engineer or Sub-divisional Officer direct a requisition requesting him to supply water to the lessee on application. This requisition shall be kept by the officers of the Public Works Department till January 1st next following, and shall then be returned to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. On the back should be noted the several dates on which the village was supplied with water. A fresh requisition should be issued on or before June 1st, and returned on or before January 1st, each year, till the lease expires.

19. When application for a lease is received from a village not previously leased, the zilladar, before granting a lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with the survey records, as well as by local enquiry, that the particulars given in the application are correct. For the purpose of comparison with the survey record, the application should be sent through the Deputy Superintendent to the Collector. The zilladar should also satisfy himself that the Executive Engineer's consent, as required by Rule 12, has been obtained.

20. When application is made for the renewal of an expired lease, the zilladar, before granting a new lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with his register of kabuliyats that the particulars given in the application are correct.

21. Pending the result of the enquiries provided for in the last rules, the zilladar may, at his discretion, issue a provisional requisition for the supply of water to the area covered by the application.

22. When it comes to the knowledge of the Public Works Department officers in charge of the canal that canal water has been taken without authority, notice shall be sent to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, accompanied by the following particulars:—

1.—Name of village and pergunnah.
2.—Number of distributary from which water has been illicitly obtained.
3.—Manner in which water has been taken.
4.—Abstract of evidence that water has been taken.

A separate notice should be sent for each village irrigated without authority.

23. On receipt of such a notice, the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, after such enquiry as may be necessary, and after hearing any objection which may be raised, shall proceed to assess, at the rate provided in Rule 10, the land irrigated without authority. If in any case he thinks that this rate should not be imposed, he shall report the matter to the Collector for orders.

24. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted, or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, on the application of the Executive Engineer, and with the approval of the Collector, to cancel the lease.

25. The rates for water supplied from June to November shall, in each season, fall due on the 1st February following. The rates for water supplied for winter crops shall fall due on the 1st April following.

26. Water-rates imposed under Rule 10, on account of lands irrigated without authority, fall due as soon as the assessment is made, and shall be realized at once.

27. Remission of water-rates, either in whole or part, as the case may require, shall be granted by the Collector for—

1.—Injury to the crop on a leased area caused by deficient supply of water.
2.—Errors in the assessment of rates.

28. The Collector may grant remissions of water-rates, either in whole or part, for injury to the crops on leased areas caused by excess of water due to deficient drainage.

29. The Collector may commute rates charged under Rule 10 to those chargeable for water supplied on application, provided that a lease either for a term of years or for the season has been subsequently executed for the lands in question.

30. Remissions on other grounds than the above require the sanction of Government.

31. In cases where sums due on account of water-rates cannot be collected owing to the death, bankruptcy, or absconding of the defaulter, the amount which is non-realizable may be written off as irrecoverable on the authority of the Collector.

32. Before awarding compensation under section 16 of the Act, or making a reference under section 17 of the Act, the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Executive Engineer in charge of the canal, and his written opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

33. The Collector may distribute amongst village mookhyas, who agree in writing to assist the Deputy Superintendent in collecting water-rates, and generally in his operations under Act III (B.C.) of 1876, a commission calculated in such manner as he may think fit, provided the total amount paid shall not exceed 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates collected during the year. If the payments thus made to mookhyas do not amount to 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates of any year, the Collector may expend the balance in paying extra collecting establishment.

34. Registers shall be kept in the Deputy Superintendent's and zilladar's offices in forms sanctioned by Government.

35. A copy of the Collector's decision in all cases of remission, and of the Magistrate's decision in all cases of proceedings under section 93 or 94 of the Act, shall be forwarded to the Executive Engineer for information and record in his office.

IRRIGATION.

REVISED WATER-RATE RULES FOR THE ORISSA CANALS.

Notification No. 56, dated the 9th February 1892.

IN exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 99 and 78 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make the following rules and to fix the undermentioned rates to be charged for water supplied from the Orissa Canals. These rules and rates will supersede those now in force.

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

General conditions.

Compensation under section 76 (c).

(1) The Collector, before awarding compensation under section 16 or section 76 (c), or making a reference under section 17 of the Irrigation Act [Act III (B.C.) of 1876] shall obtain the written opinion of the Superintending Canal Officer, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

No appeal from order of Canal Officer.

(2) Except as provided in the Irrigation Act and in these rules, no appeal shall lie from any order passed by a Canal Officer, but the Sub divisional and Divisional Canal Officers shall modify any order passed by them on the receipt of definite instruction to that effect from the Divisional or Superintending Canal Officers respectively.

Appeals to Collector.

(3) Appeals to the Collector under section 91 of the Irrigation Act, other than those specially provided for in Rule 49, will ordinarily be against an order passed by the Divisional Canal Officer. When the order passed has reference to the alignment of a village channel, or. to the refusal of the Divisional Canal Officer to grant a lease under schedule I, II or III, the Collector may require the Superintending Canal Officer to state his opinion in writing, and this opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings in the case.

On village channels.

Canal Officer to assist.

(4) Canal Officers shall give every assistance to applicant in aligning and laying out any village channels which they may desire to construct.

Register of village channels.

(5) A register of all village channels shall be maintained by the Divisional Canal Officer in such form as the Superintending Canal Officer may direct.

On the free irrigation of chaukidars' jaghirs.

Chaukidars' jaghirs.

(6) The chaukidar of any village in which lands are leased under schedule I, II, III or IV shall be entitled to a remission of the water-rates chargeable on account of lands included in his jaghir and in any leased area on the condition that he gives efficient and willing assistance to the Canal Officers in respect to the following matters:—

(a) In the preparation of applications for leases.
(b) In the measurements of irrigated lands.
(c) In giving the names of the occupiers of the various fields.
(d) By receiving the demand statement, making it over to one of the principal raiyats in the village, and informing the cultivators that he has done so.
(e) By receiving "tippas" from the Canal Officers and distributing them.
(f) By reporting cases of unauthorized irrigation which may come to his notice.
(g) By being present when any local inquiry is made by a Canal Officer and by giving information concerning the matter under investigation.
(h) By reporting to the Collector any mutations in the holdings of persons who have signed a lease under schedule I or II that may come to his knowledge.

On the "lease unit" system.

Distributary lease units.

(7) The area commanded by each distributary which is not fully provided with village channels shall be portioned out by the Divisional Canal Officer into any convenient number of tracts, or group of villages to be called "lease units." The boundary of each of these "lease units" shall be so determined that the land lying within it can be conveniently irrigated from the same outlet or from any convenient group of outlets. The "lease units" shall be approved by the Superintending Canal Officer.

Classification of villages in "lease units."

(8) The area in each "lease unit" shall be divided by the Canal Officer into three classes.

(a) Lands which, being situated in immediate contact with a canal or distributary, can be irrigated by direct flow from outlets in it.
(b) Lands which are provided with village channels properly constructed and maintained in good order by the owners of the channels.
(c) Lands which, not being provided with proper village channels, and being remote from the canal or distributary, can only be irrigated by flow through fields intervening between them and the distributary.

Record of "lease units."

(9) The Canal Officer shall keep in his office a plan showing the "lease units" of each distributary. Each "lease unit" shall be separately numbered and registered in a book which shall show:—

Its area;
The number and size of outlets provided for it;
The names of the villages in it;
The class (a, b, or c,) of each area;
The date when the leases in it terminate

Amendment of "lease units."

(10) The boundaries of, or the classification of the tracts in any "lease unit" may at any time be amended by the Divisional Canal Officer with the previous sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer. On receipt of such sanction the Divisional Canal Officer shall amend his plans and registers.

(11) The lease first granted in any "lease unit" must be for five years.

Leases of class (c) villages.

(12) No lease shall be granted to any class (c) village until all the class (a) villages in the "lease unit" have been leased, and until the villages lying between it and the class (a) villages of that "lease unit" (if any) have also been leased.

Leases to terminate simultaneously.

(13) Leases granted for a term of years to any or all of the villages situated in the same "lease unit" shall terminate at the same time as the lease first granted in that "lease unit."

Exceptions with reference to present leases.

(14) Provided that, for four years after the date of these rules, the lessees of lands in any "lease unit" in which the class (a) villages have been leased for five years, shall, when their leases expire, be offered the opportunity of extending them for such a term of years as will cause them to expire simultaneously with those of the class (a) villages of that "lease unit" and they may be extended at the rate of Re. 1-8 per acre. If, however, the lessees decline to renew them on these conditions, within one month of their expiry, they shall not be permitted to renew them subsequently except at the rates given in schedule II.

Schedule of Rates.

(15) Class (a) and class (b) villages shall be eligible to obtain leases under all the five schedules attached to these rules. Class (c) villages shall only be eligible for leases under schedules II and III.

On applications for the supply of water during the kharif season.

Kharif applications of three kinds.

(16) Applications for the supply of water in the kharif season will be granted:—

(1) For a term of years (schedules I and II).
(2) For one season only (schedule III).
(3) After the 1st of September from an outlet of a defined size (schedule VI).

(17) Applications for the supply of water for a term of years shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Notice that lease is required.

I. Notice in the attached form (Appendix I) must ordinarily be given to the Sub-divisional Canal Officer by the cultivators of a village not later than the 1st April if they require water for irrigation for a term of years to have effect from the 15th of June following. Applications presented after the 1st April will be accepted so far as may be possible, having regard to the measurements, &c., which are necessary before the grant of permits. Those presented between 1st April and 1st May will, if accepted, be liable, at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer, to an additional rate of 4 annas per acre for the first year of the lease, and those presented between the 1st May and 1st June will be similarly liable to an additional rate of 8 annas per acre. In either case the additional rate shall be payable at the same time as the first instalment of the ordinary rates due on the lease. On presentation of this notice the Canal Officer shall inspect the block which it is proposed to lease, and, if he approves of it, shall proceed to prepare the final application (Appendix III).

Applications to include all rice lands in village.

II. The application shall not be entertained unless it refers to a distinct block of land of which the boundaries are defined. The block must (in all but very exceptional cases) include all the irrigable lands of a village which are, or have been, cultivated with rice. If he block of land offered for lease has included within its boundaries:—

(a) High lands not irrigable by flow, or—
(b) "Beali" lands for which canal water is not ordinarily required, or—
(c) "Low lands" which cannot ordinarily benefit by canal water, these lands may be excluded from the final application. But water cannot in that case be supplied to such lands during the currency of the lease except on an application for an annual lease (schedule III).

Payment to be made for area leased.

III. The application must be in the form attached to these rules (Appendix III), which states that water-rates will be paid on all lands contained in the block for which the application is presented whether water is required or not, and that the applicants will arrange for the transit of the water from the distributary to all the fields of the block to be leased, and give due notice to the Canal Officer of any changes in their holdings.

Lease must be complete before water is supplied.

If not, annual lease must be executed.

No leases granted after 1st of September.

IV. The lands contained within the defined boundaries must be measured (or the area ascertained from the cadastral survey map) by the Canal Officer or his subordinates, and the application must be completely signed by all the cultivators holding lands in the block, or the applicants must bind themselves to be jointly responsible for the water-rates due on such block before a permit for the supply of water shall ordinarily be granted. Provided that if water is required to be supplied before this can be done, a preliminary application in the form Appendix II must be submitted before the 1st of September instead of the notice referred to in Rule I. This form binds the applicants to pay at the rate of Rs. 3 for each acre of their holdings if they fail to complete the lease for a term of years before the 30th of November of the year in which water is required. The Superintending Canal Officer may, if special circumstances appear to him to justify it, alter this date to the 1st of February next following. A permit which has been granted on this preliminary application will be cancelled as soon as the final application (Appendix III) has been completely signed by all the cultivators holding lands in the block. A permit for a term of years will then be issued.

V. When under the "lease unit" system described in Rules 7 to 15 inclusive, a portion of a village falls in one "lease unit" and the remainder in another "unit" a separate application must be signed for each portion of the village.

No extension of lease during its currency.

VI. No additions to the area covered by a lease duly executed for a term of years shall, as a rule, be permitted. But when the irrigable area which is under rice cultivation in a village is increased (owing to improvements in distribution or to the actual extension of cultivation or to any other cause), an application may be made for a separate lease for a term of years for such increased area. If the application is approved by the Canal Officer, a permit shall be granted for a term of years such that the lease will terminate at the same time as the one previously granted in the same village. The water-rates chargeable on such a lease shall be those defined in schedule II.

(18) Applications for water for one kharif season only shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Annual leases.

I. The application must be for a block of land having well-defined boundaries, and so situated that adjoining or intervening lands will not ordinarily or probably be irrigated by water supplied for the land included in the application. The block must be situated either—

(1) In immediate contact with a canal or distributary, so that it can be irrigated without a village channel by direct flow therefrom, or
(2) it must be provided with a proper village channel, or
(3) it must be situated in immediate contact with a village leased under schedules I and II, so that it can obtain a supply through the fields of that village.

II. The application must be in the form (Appendix IV) attached to these rules, which states that water-rates will be paid on all lands contained in the block for which an application is presented whether water is required or not, and that the applicants will arrange for the transit of the water from the distributary to all the fields in the block which they desire to irrigate.

No leases granted after 1st September.

III. Applications for leases under schedule III must be submitted before the 1st of September.

Water supplied after 1st September.

(19) Applications for the supply of water after the 1st of September from an outlet of a defined size shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Outlets leased.

I. Outlets in a canal or distributary bank may, at the discretion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, be leased from the 1st September until the 15th November at the rates enumerated in schedule VI, care being taken not to lease any outlet unless a head of not less than six inches on the outlet is available.

II. Persons occupying lands not under lease may apply for water to be delivered to them after the 1st of September for the current kharif season in the form (Appendix V) attached to these rules. The application shall not be entertained unless it is accompanied by a sum in cash equal to half the amount chargeable for the size of the outlet at the rates defined in schedule VI, and by an agreement executed by substantial persons in the form attached to Appendix V binding themselves to pay the remainder.

Lessee of outlet allowed free use of water.

III. The person to whom a permit for the use of an outlet is granted shall be allowed the free use of all the water he can obtain from that outlet without reference to the area irrigated.

On applications for the supply of water during the rabi and hot-weather seasons.

(20) Applications for the supply of water in the rabi season (15th November to 30th April) and in the hot-weather season (1st May to 15th June) will be subject to the following conditions:—

Water-rates paid in area watered.

I. The approximate area of land for which water is required must be stated in the application, which must be signed by all the occupiers of the land. The application must be in the form (Appendix VI) attached, which states that water-rates will be paid on the area actually irrigated.

Canal closures.

II. That water cannot be supplied during the hot-weather season when the canals are closed. Notice of the duration of such closures will be given before the commencement of the season.

(21) It shall be the duty of the patrol to enter in his shudkar every field which is irrigated in the rabi and hot-weather seasons.

Water of tanks.

(22) Water for filling tanks may be supplied at the discretion of the Canal Officer at the rates given in schedule VII. The charge for the water shall be paid in advance for such a quantity of water as the Canal Officer may consider necessary to fill the tank. The Canal Officer shall see that the outlet is opened for a sufficient time to give the quantity which is paid for.

On permits.

Grounds for refusing permit.

(23) A permit shall not be issued when, in the opinion of the Canal Officer—

(i) waste is likely to occur.

(In the order refusing a permit on this ground the Canal Officer shall state in writing the manner in which he apprehends that waste will occur.)

(ii) The area for which water is required cannot be irrigated without passing canal water through, over or into, unleased areas.

(24) All permits for the use of water shall be subject to the following conditions:—

Lessees to arrange for distribution.

I. That where there are no village channels the applicants will make their own arrangements for the transit of the water from the canal or distributary to the leased area.

No bunds allowed.

II. That the water will be supplied at the level at which it is ordinarily maintained in the distributary, and that no earthen bunds or other works will be used to raise the level of the water in the distributary.

Canal Officer to regulate.

III. That the regulation of the discharge of the outlets will be entirely in the hands of the Canal Officer and his subordinates.

Regular payment.

IV. That water-rates are paid when due.

Waste to be prevented.

V. That the applicants will not permit waste of water.

Water restricted to leased area.

VI. That water supplied for the irrigation of a leased block of land in a village shall not be applied to any other lands in that village.

Leased block to be distinct.

VII. That land to be irrigated on kharif leases (schedules I, II and III) must form a compact block defined by well-marked boundaries of such a nature as clearly to separate the leased lands from the neighbouring unleased ones. The boundaries must be mentioned in the application.

Excluded lands.

VIII. That when high lands, "beali" lands, or low lands, which cannot ordinarily benefit by canal water, are, under Rule 17, II, excluded from a lease for a term of years, a schedule of such lands shall be attached to the application, the numbers of the fields on the cadastral map being stated in the schedule; or if there is not a cadastral survey map of the village, the Canal Officer shall attach a rough map to the lease showing the excluded area.

Power to cancel lease.

(25) If all the persons who have signed a lease under schedule I or II submit an application for the lease to be cancelled, the superintending Canal Officer may cancel it if he considers the reasons given are sufficient.

Annual permits.

(26) Permits for irrigation for a single kharif season under schedule III (annual leases) shall be subject to the same general conditions; the essential difference being in the duration of the lease and in the fact that a permit may be issued for any well-defined block and not necessarily for the whole irrigable land in the village which is cultivated with rice. "Beali" lands and low-lying lands cannot be excluded from annual leases if they are situated within the boundaries defined in the application.

Rabi permits.

(27) Permits for irrigation in the rabi or in the hot weather under schedules IV and V shall be issued on the following conditions:—

I.—That the applicants will give notice to the Canal Officer, or his subordinates as soon as the area requiring irrigation has received a sufficient supply of water

II.—That the applicants will undertake, as far as is practicable, to prevent water being wasted or applied to the irrigation of fields not included in the application.

III.—Water-rates will be levied on the areas actually irrigated and not on those specified in the application.

On penalties and the cancelling of leases.

(28) At the request of the Collector of the district, the Superintending Canal Officer shall direct the Divisional Canal Officer to—

Irrigation to be stopped where water-rates are not paid.

I. Decline to renew leases (i.e., to issue permits) for the irrigation of land in villages where there have been constant difficulties in realising water-rates. In such cases permits shall not be again issued until all the arrears of water-rates due are paid up; and also, if specially required, by the Collector not unless half the amount due for the first ensuing season is paid up in advance. An order under this rule (unless the Collector in the meantime apply for its being rescinded or modified) shall be in force for the time stated therein, which shall not exceed three years.

Lease may be cancelled where water-rates are not paid.

II. Cancel any lease under schedule I or II, if, on the 1st of June of any year, the water-rates due on such lease are in arrear by more than half a year's demand.

Lease to be cancelled when water misused.

(29) The Divisional Canal Officer may, with the concurrence of the Collector and the sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer, cancel a lease under schedule I or II if water is habitually misused or wasted. Such an order shall have effect from the 15th June next ensuing, and at least two months' notice must be given to the cultivators.

Interests of others to be considered in cancelling leases.

(30) The Superintending Canal Officer in issuing orders under Rules 28 and 29 shall bear in mind the circumstances affecting "lease units" as described in Rules 7 to 15, and shall not cancel a lease if it is necessary that it should remain in force in order that water may be supplied to other leased areas.

On Unauthorised Irrigation and Waste of Water.

Rate for unauthorised irrigation.

(31) Water-rates for unauthorised irrigation shall be assessed by the Canal Officer under section 78 of the Irrigation Act at rates not exceeding Rs. 5 an acre.

Two classes of unauthorised irrigation.

(32) Unauthorised irrigation during the kharif season consists of two classes—

(i) Unauthorised irrigation within the boundaries of a leased area.

(ii) Unauthorised irrigation effected with water taken either from a leased area or from a canal, distributary or village channel.

(i) Within a leased block.

(33) Unauthorised irrigation of the first class shall, during the kharif season, only be assessed when the land irrigated has been entered in the schedule of lands excluded from the lease; and then only when:—

(a) The irrigation has been recorded in the patrol's shudkar.

(b) The patrol and sectional officer report that there are signs that the water has been deliberately taken and that the crops have benefited.

(c) The reports of the patrol and sectional officer have been received by the Sub-divisional Canal Officer within 10 days after the date on which the illicit irrigation was detected.

(ii) Beyond a leased block.

(34) Unauthorised irrigation in the kharif season of the second class shall only be assessed when the same three conditions (a), (b) and (c) have been complied with, and further—

(d) When the assessment of the area irrigated has been authorised by the Divisional Canal Officer.

(35) It shall be the duty of the Subdivisional Canal Officer to deal promptly with cases of unauthorised irrigation. He shall personally inspect as many cases as he can, and shall not make any assessment himself, nor ask the Divisional Canal Officer to sanction any assessment, unless the evidence has been recorded and he considers it quite satisfactory.

(36) When in the first case, the Subdivisional Canal Officer has determined that an assessment of unauthorised irrigation in the kharif season shall be made; or when the Divisional Canal Officer has authorised such an assessment, the Canal Officer shall at once send, by post or otherwise, a slip *(a tippa) to each cultivator, informing him of the fact and quoting the approximate area, as detailed in the patrol's shudkar, which has been recorded as irrigated. At the same time he shall send an amin to measure the fields which have been irrigated and to prepare the demand statement therefor.

Notice of assessment to be sent.

(37) Demand statements of unauthorised irrigation during the kharif season should be served in the village immediately they are prepared, and in no case later than the 30th November.

Demand statements to be promptly issued.

(38) Unauthorised irrigation in the rabi season or in the hot-weather season shall be assessed by the Canal Officer on the evidence of the patrol and sectional officer. The Canal Officer should personally inspect as many cases as he can. A notice that an assessment will be made should be served on the cultivators as soon as an assessment is ordered, as provided in Rule 36, the procedure of which should be generally followed (mutatis mutandis).

Unauthorised irrigation in rabi season.

(39) Charges for waste of water under section 80 of the Irrigation Act shall be at the rates fixed in Rule 31, and be subject to the same conditions as the assessments of unauthorised irrigation which are stated in the foregoing rules. When a tank or piece of low ground has been deliberately filled, a charge of Rs. 5 per thousand cubic yards may, at the discretion of the Canal Officer, be imposed instead of an acreage rate.

Waste of water.

On demand statements.

(40) Statements showing the amounts due on account of water-rates shall be prepared in such form as may be sanctioned from time to time by the Lieutenant-Governor, under the supervision of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, and shall be signed by him and by the Divisional Canal Officer. They shall then be forwarded to the Collector for the realisation of the demands.

Demand statements.

(41) The demand statement showing the water-rates due on any lease given under schedules I and II shall be prepared at the same time as the application. A copy of it shall be given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village for the general information of the villagers. A separate statement or tippa signed and sealed by the zilladar may also, if the Collector so direct, be prepared in the name of each person who has signed the lease, showing the annual sum which is due from him. These tippas may be given to the patwari or chaukidar to distribute or may be sent by post. No further notice of demand shall be given during the currency of the lease.

For long leases prepared once for all. A copy sent to chaukidar.

And tippas to each ryot.

(42) A demand statement showing the water-rates under a lease for a single kharif season (schedule III) shall be prepared as soon as possible after the lease is granted and not later than two months after the issue of the permit. The statement shall show the amount due from each person who has signed the lease, whether irrigation has been effected or not. A copy of it shall be given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village for public information, and separate tippas showing the demands against each individual may also be sent as in the previous rule. No further notice of demand shall be given.

Similar procedure for annual kharif leases.

(43) The assessments and issue of demands on account of lands irrigated in the rabi season or in the hot-weather season shall be made under the following procedure:—

Demand statements for rabi and hot weather shall be for

I. The area which is actually irrigated in any village shall be measured, or ascertained by means of the cadastral map, by an amin with the assistance of the patrol. The khasrah, which shall be in a printed form, shall be signed by the amin and by at least two respectable cultivators. If any of the lessees desire to have a copy of the khasrah, he shall be allowed to copy it.

The area actually irrigated.

II. When the measurement is completed, the khasrah shall be forwarded to the Subdivisional Canal Officer, who shall prepare a demand statement with all reasonable despatch. A copy of this statement shall be sent to the patwari or to the chaukidar for public information in the village, and a tippa may be sent as in rules 41 and 42 above to each person whose fields have been irrigated.

Demand statement sent to chaukidar. Tippas to cultivators.

(44) Demand statements on account of unauthorised irrigation shall be dealt with generally in the same manner as those of the rabi season, but with greater promptness. The demand statement in such cases shall be printed on red paper to draw attention to the fact that the demand is payable at sight. The demand statements sent to the patwari or to the chaukidar and the tippas sent to the cultivators shall also be on red paper.

Demand for unauthorised irrigation. Payable at sight.

* A "tippa" is the same thing as the "percha" of the Sone Canal Rules.

(45) Persons who may wish to raise any objections to the demands made against them must present a written statement of their case to the Sub-divisional Canal Officer, who, after such local or other enquiry as he may think necessary, shall pass orders on the matter. A copy of the order if not passed in his presence and hearing shall be delivered by post or otherwise to the person who raised the objection.

Objections to demands to be made to Canal Officer.

(46) All objections to demands on account of water-rates which relate to the supply of water and the assessment of water-rates and are addressed to the Collector shall be referred for the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer.

Objections made to Collector to be referred to Canal Officer.

(47) Objections to the demand statements must be presented within thirty days of the date on which the demand statement was given to the patwari or to the chaukidar of the village, or of the date on which the tippa was delivered to the person objecting. This period may be extended when reasonable cause for delay can be established.

Objections to be made within thirty days.

Explanatory Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The variations are negative when the mean of the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers denoting cloud amount represent the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head District Observations of rainfall the normal means are the numerical average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the ten years. The means of the district are the numerical average of the rainfall return received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the sub-division stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

Explanation.—... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 1st March 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 27TH OF FEBRUARY 1892.

AT the close of the previous week the meteorological conditions in Bengal were slightly disturbed, owing to the fact that pressure over Bengal had become so low, that a large shallow barometric depression may be said to have existed over the province, though the feeble depression was not accompanied by any distinct cyclonic circulation of winds. On the 21st pressure had again fallen rapidly in Bengal, the fall being largest at the central and eastern stations, where in some cases it exceeded a tenth of an inch. A very distinct depression on this day existed, the centre of which was apparently in North Bengal, where at some stations pressure was nearly a quarter of an inch below the normal. Temperature also rose rapidly on this day and became from about 4° to 8° above the normal. On the 22nd the pressure changes over Bengal were very slight and the temperature changes were variable, there being an increase in some districts and a decrease in others, particularly in those in the north of the province. The barometric depression therefore continued to exist with a centre in North Bengal, and to this centre winds generally converged, and the influence of the depression was shown in the fact that a few stations, principally in South-West Bengal, reported rain. On the 23rd pressure again fell slowly to moderately in Bengal, and the depression in North Bengal became even more strongly marked, for at some stations, such as at Jalpaiguri and Dhubri, pressure had become nearly three-tenths of an inch below the normal. The wind directions on this day appeared to show that the centre of the disturbance had moved in an easterly direction and was probably passing into Assam. On the 24th pressure continued to fall at the eastern stations, while a moderate increase was taking place in the centre and west of the province. The depression still existed over North Bengal and the western parts of Assam with a defect of a quarter of an inch at some stations, and again winds showed a distinct cyclonic circulation round the centre. The effects of the disturbance were rather more marked on this day than they had been, and numerous stations, principally in East Bengal, reported light rain on this day. On the 25th the depression commenced to pass away and a rapid increase of pressure took place, which at Dhubri exceeded a tenth of an inch. Winds were more northerly than they had been, and became at most stations north-westerly, and a very rapid fall of temperature and humidity set in, the fall in the mean temperature averaging 4° or 5,° while at some stations humidity decreased 20 and 30 per cent. On the 26th pressure again continued to rise at all except the western stations, though it still remained below the normal by about a twentieth of an inch. Temperature also continued to fall, and became from about 2° to 4° below the normal, and dry westerly and north-westerly winds prevailed generally over the province. On the 27th a rapid fall of pressure again set in over Central and Northern Bengal, the fall being largest at Purnea, where it exceeded a tenth of an inch, and again there was a distinct tendency for a barometric depression to form over Bengal with a centre near Purnea. With this distribution of pressure winds again became more or less southerly at a large number of stations except in the extreme west of the province, where they still remained westerly. Temperature and humidity therefore generally increased rather rapidly, and in the case of the mean temperature it had again become above the normal at a large number of stations. With these slightly disturbed conditions, a few stations, principally in East Bengal, again reported light rain showers.

The meteorological conditions during the week have therefore not been very important, and except in East and South-West Bengal, where there have been a few showers, rainfall has been to a great extent absent.

Pressure.—With the almost continuous existence of a barometric depression during the week over the province, the centre of which has been generally in North Bengal, it will be seen that pressure has been rather largely in defect of the normal. The mean defect for the week at some of the stations in North Bengal has been very large; equalling indeed nearly a fifth of an inch, the defect at Dinajpur and Jalpaiguri exceeding 0·18". From this as the centre of largest defect, the deficiency decreases towards the south and west, and in Orissa and Chota Nagpore it only equals about a tenth of an inch.

Temperature—Has shown large variations during the week, but for the greater part of the time it has been in excess of the normal. The average excess in the mean temperatures of all the districts of the province has been 1·5°, but in such districts as South-West and North Bengal and in South Behar it has been from 2° to 2·5°. In Chota Nagpore, on the other hand, temperature has been almost normal.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. The variation, it will be seen, has been almost equally distributed over both day and night temperatures :—

Rainfall.—The falls during the week have been practically confined to South-West and East Bengal, but, however, even East Bengal only shows an average fall of 0·10 inch and South-West Bengal one of 0·03 inch. The district which has received the largest fall is the Chittagong Hill Tracts with 1·20 inches; Noakhali has also averaged 0·48 inch, and Chittagong district 0·12 inch, but all other districts have received an average fall of only a tenth of an inch or less.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Temporary mine field south-west of Blakang Mati island.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 21 of 1892) that from 1st December 1891 to 1st March 1892, an area lying south-west of Blakang Mati island would be appropriated for practice with submarine mines. The limits of this mine field are defined as follows:—On the north-west by an imaginary line joining Rimau point and spherical red buoy moored with that point bearing N.-E. distant 5 cables; on the south-west by a line joining this buoy and another spherical red buoy moored with Rimau point bearing north, distant one mile; on the south-east by a line drawn from the last mentioned buoy in a N.E. direction to Blakang Mati island; and on the north-east by the coast of that island.

Mariners are cautioned not to anchor or pass within the above mentioned limits.

Shoals lying in the approach to this port from the westward.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 22 of 1892) of the existence of two shoals (Lorna shoals) lying in the approach to port Darwin from the westward :—

Lorna shoals consist of two small patches, 9 cables apart, in a north-east and south-west direction, with 24 feet water on each over sand and shells. There are depths of 6 to 9 fathoms between the patches, and 11 to 12 fathoms around. The sea does not break on the shoals except during strong winds.

The north-east shoal is situated in lat. 12° 20′ 55″ S., long. 130° 19′ 20″ E.

The depths given are at low water spring tides.

Non-existence of Bahia reef.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 23 of 1892) of an unsuccessful search having been made in that vessel for Bahia reef, reported as lying in about lat. 1° 10′ S., long. 126° 50′ E. A sounding of 2,530 fathoms over dark green mud was obtained precisely in the above mentioned position, and similar depths were found in the vicinity.

This, in conjunction with the unsuccessful search for the danger made by H. M. Surveying vessel Flying Fish in 1885, and the very doubtful origin of the report, may be taken as disproving its existence. Bahia reef has therefore been expunged from the Admiralty Charts.

Approximate position : lat. 37° 10½′ N., long. 126° 11½′ E.

2. A rock, with 12 feet on it at low water, lies north-west of Pender rock, with North Watcher bearing about N.E. ¼ N., distant $1\frac{6}{10}$ miles, and Yung Hung Do summit about S. ⅝ E.

Shoals in Lawada approach.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 32 of 1892) of the existence of two shoals lying in the approach to Lawada (Lehadu) from the north-eastward. These shoals, apparently composed of sand and coral, circular in shape and about 5 cables in diameter, with 2 fathoms the least water found on them; and 11 fathoms between them, lie about 5 cables apart in a north-west and south-east direction.

The north-west shoal lies with Conical hill bearing approximately S. 9° W., and Coast hill S 50° W., distant 10½ miles, or in about lat. 11° 32¼′ N., long. 43° 19¾′ E.

Note.—It is stated that the soundings in the vicinity of the above-mentioned shoals are incorrect, there being in many places 8 fathoms less water than shown on the Admiralty charts.

AUSTRALIA, NORTH-WEST COAST—Eastern Archipelago.

Notice to Mariners No. 18 of 1892, issued by the British Admiralty, is republished below.

The following information has been received from Commander W. U. Moore, H.M. Surveying Vessel Penguin, dated November 1891,—the result of recent examination of the several localities off the north-west coast of Australia:—

1. Parry shoal, composed of coral, extends within the 10 fathoms line 4 miles in an E. by N. and W. by S. direction, with a breadth of half a mile. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water over it, lies one mile from its western end, in lat. 11° 9¼′ S., long. 123° 39½′ E.
2. Flinders shoal is circular in shape, and 1½ miles in diameter, with a general depth of 6 to 8 fathoms over coral. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water on it, is situated in lat. 9° 52¼′ S., long. 129° 17′ E.
3. Franklin shoal is circular in shape, and one mile in diameter, with a general depth of 6 to 8 fathoms over coral. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water on it, is situated in lat. 9° 52¾′ S., long. 129° 19′ E.
4. Blackwood shoal is about 6 cables in diameter, with a general depth of 8 to 14 fathoms, coral bottom. The shoalest spot, with 7 fathoms water over it, lies in lat. 9° 53′ S., long. 129° 25′ E.
5. Evans shoal extends 4¾ miles in a N.N.W. and S.S.E. direction, with a breadth of 3 miles, and has a general depth of 8 to 16 fathoms. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water on it over coral, lies 4 cables from the north extreme, in lat. 9° 53 S., long. 129° 32¾′ E.

There are quantities of snakes and sea perch on these banks.

CAUTION.—It is probable that many other shoals exist on or near the same parallel of latitude, both eastward of Evans shoal and westward of Flinders shoal. The four shoals above mentioned are probably part of a submerged barrier, lying along the edge of the bank. Northward of them the character of the bottom changes to globigerina ooze.

NOTE.—The hill on the south coast of Bathurst island, eastward of cape Fourcroy, situated in lat. 11° 47′ 50″ S., long. 130° 8′ E., is conical and conspicuous, 420 feet in height, and forms a good landmark in approaching the coast.

EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO.

NOTE.—The existing plan of Kulewatte harbour, Damma island, on sheet of harbours and anchorages between Bali and Timor, No. 935, is misleading, the anchorage being much smaller than represented. The anchorage is in 20 fathoms water, fine black sand and coral, with the large hut on the point, close to the ruin of Watch house (now scarcely visible) bearing N.E. by N., distant 1½ cables. The space admits of one vessel (about 1,000 tons burden) lying at single anchor, or two of that size moored.

Harbour improvements.

Among the extensive works executed, a Breakwater has been built, running out from Manora point in a S. by E. direction to a distance of 1,500 feet into 5 fathoms of water. This affords complete shelter to the Entrance Channel during the south-west monsoon; also a channel has been opened through the entrance with a depth of 21½ feet at low water spring-tides, 500 feet in breadth. The channel is marked by buoys, black on starboard hand, red on port.

The Merewether pier, 312 feet in length, has 26 feet at low water alongside.

The Erskine wharf, 2,008 feet in length, has accommodation for 5 vessels of the largest class.

An improved Red Light of the all-round-anchor pattern of ship's light is exhibited at the extreme end of the Breakwater, brightly visible in clear weather 5 nautical miles, and at least half that distance during the south-west monsoon.

The height of this light is 54½ feet above mean sea-level, and it is maintained throughout the year.

Caution.—An Electric Light is used for working steamers alongside the "Merewether" pier and "Erskine" wharf. The height above mean sea-level is 67½ feet, and would be visible from the westward about 15 miles. The position of this light being north 1¼ miles from the lighthouse on Manora, Commanders of vessels are warned not to mistake it for the Fixed light.

Note.—Mail Steamers arriving off the Port at night should burn two blue lights in quick succession; other vessels one, or two at intervals of two minutes. During the fair season, Pilots will board, but during the monsoon they must keep off the Port until daylight.

REVISED WATER-RATE RULES FOR THE MIDNAPORE CANAL.

Notification No. 62, dated the 16th February 1892.

In exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 99 and 78 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make the following rules and to fix the undermentioned rates to be charged for water supplied from the Midnapore Canal. These rules and rates will supersede those now in force.

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

1. The officers of the Public Works Department, who have charge of the canal, are solely responsible for maintaining it in an efficient state of repair, for providing drainage channels where necessary, and generally for all engineering work involved in its management, as well as for the distribution of water to lessees. The word "canal" is here used as defined in section 3 of the Act.

2. The Deputy Revenue Superintendent, under the supervision of the Collector of the district as Revenue Superintendent, is responsible for the collection of water-rates and miscellaneous revenue accruing to Government from the canal.

3. Water shall not be distributed otherwise than on the application of a lessee, or of a ryot in whose favour a provisional requisition has been issued, as provided for in Rule 21 below. Such application may be made verbally or in writing to any Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which water is required.

4. If any lessee apply for water to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, or one of his subordinates verbally, he should be told to address himself to the officers of the Public Works Department. If he makes such an application in writing, his petition shall be forwarded direct by the canal revenue officer, to whom it is addressed, to the Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which the petitioner's village is supplied.

5. The canal officers of the Public Works Department, in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, shall map out the irrigable area into blocks in accordance with the natural features of the ground, and so determined that the whole block shall be irrigable from one outlet, or from one set of outlets. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines.

6. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its irrigable area in registers to be maintained by the Public Works officers and by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officers.

7. Leases for not more than five years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block, or, subject to the provisions of Rule 14, for definite parts of a block, under the following conditions:—

I.—The lease may be for the lands of one or more villages, but ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village, so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease.

II.—All leases within one block shall be granted so that they shall expire on the same date.

III.—In order to equalise the areas to be dealt with in each year, the date of expiry of the leases in each block shall be determined by the Public Works officers in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, so that one-fifth of the total area usually irrigated may fall out of lease in each year.

Explanation.

A blocks commence 1892	... ...	Expire 1897.
B " " 1893	... ...	" 1898.
C " " 1894	... ...	" 1899.
D " " 1895	... ...	" 1900.
E " " 1896	... ...	" 1901.

Then, should a lease in a B block expire in 1892, a lease for one year must be given. Similarly, a lease in a B block expiring in 1894 must be renewed for four years only. It may, however, be possible in cases like the latter to arrange by mutual consent to cancel the existing and unexpired leases in B blocks in 1893, and then to renew for the full term of five years.

8. The rates to be charged for water supplied between June and November, whether by flow or lift, to lessees on application shall be—

For a term of five years—Rs. 1-8 per acre for each season.

Provided that the leases, whether new or renewals, required for shorter terms in order to develop the system of blocks as explained above shall, on the first occasion, be offered at the above rate.

Subject to the above provision, the rates shall be—

	Rs.	A.	P.
For a term of four years	1	12	0	per acre per season.
" " of three "	2	0	0	" "
" " of two "	2	4	0	" "
For one season	2	8	0	" "

Explanation.

An existing lease in a D block expires in 1892. The lessees will be offered a renewal for three years at Rs. 1-8 per acre per season. They decline this, and do not renew till 1893. They can then only get a lease for two years at Rs. 2-4 per acre per season. Similarly, an application for a new lease in a C block is received in 1892. A lease for two years at Rs. 1-8 per acre may be given; but should an application for a new lease in a C block be received in 1895, a lease for four years at Rs. 1-12 per acre will be granted.

9. For the supply of water, when available, for winter crops, a rate of Rs. 1-8 per acre per season shall be charged.

10. For the unauthorized use of canal water a rate of Rs. 5 per acre, or such less rate as may be fixed by the Collector, shall be charged.

11. Applications for water-leases under section 74 of the Act should be presented to the zilladar of the division in which the applicant's land lies, and, subject to Rules 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 below, zilladars are authorized to grant such leases.

12. No village shall be brought under lease for the first time, and no lease shall be renewed for a period exceeding one year, without the consent in writing of the Executive Engineer. Such consent in writing may be taken specially for a single village, or generally for specified tracts including several villages.

13. Every application for a water-lease shall contain the following particulars:—

1.—Name and residence of applicant.

2.—Name of pergunnah, mehal, and village in which the land to be irrigated is situated.

3.—Total area for the irrigation of which the application is made and its boundaries, and if the lands to be irrigated lie in separate chaks, the name of each chak.

4.—Names of the ryots whose lands are to be irrigated, and the quantity of land held by each.

5.—Name of the canal and number of distributary from which water is required.

6.—Signatures of the applicants.

14. No application for a water-lease shall be entertained when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a village-channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Executive Engineer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

15. Without the permission of the Collector, no application shall include lands belonging to more than one village, but tehsilalaidi or other lands lying within the village boundary at the time of survey may be included.

16. Without special orders in writing from the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, no application for a water-lease shall be received unless it includes all the irrigable lands in a village.

17. When a water-lease is granted, a kabuliyat shall be taken in a form approved by Government, and a "permit" shall be given to the lessee or lessees in a form similar to that prescribed in Schedule C of the Act.

18. On the issue of a "permit" as above, of which the zilladar shall keep a duplicate, he shall forward a copy of the kabuliyat to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent for record and at the same time he shall forward to the Executive Engineer or Sub-divisional Officer direct a requisition requesting him to supply water to the lessee on application. This requisition shall be kept by the officers of the Public Works Department till January 1st next following, and shall then be returned to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. On the back should be noted the several dates on which the village was supplied with water. A fresh requisition should be issued on or before June 1st, and returned on or before January 1st, each year, till the lease expires.

19. When application for a lease is received from a village not previously leased, the zilladar, before granting a lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with the survey records, as well as by local enquiry, that the particulars given in the application are correct. For the purpose of comparison with the survey record, the application should be sent through the Deputy Superintendent to the Collector. The zilladar should also satisfy himself that the Executive Engineer's consent, as required by Rule 12, has been obtained.

20. When application is made for the renewal of an expired lease, the zilladar, before granting a new lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with his register of kabuliyats that the particulars given in the application are correct.

21. Pending the result of the enquiries provided for in the last rules, the zilladar may, at his discretion, issue a provisional requisition for the supply of water to the area covered by the application.

22. When it comes to the knowledge of the Public Works Department officers in charge of the canal that canal water has been taken without authority, notice shall be sent to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, accompanied by the following particulars:—

1.—Name of village and pergunnah.

2.—Number of distributary from which water has been illicitly obtained.

3.—Manner in which water has been taken.

4.—Abstract of evidence that water has been taken.

A separate notice should be sent for each village irrigated without authority.

23. On receipt of such a notice, the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, after such enquiry as may be necessary, and after hearing any objection which may be raised, shall proceed to assess, at the rate provided in Rule 10, the land irrigated without authority. If in any case he thinks that this rate should not be imposed, he shall report the matter to the Collector for orders.

24. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted, or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, on the application of the Executive Engineer, and with the approval of the Collector, to cancel the lease.

25. The rates for water supplied from June to November shall, in each season, fall due on the 1st February following. The rates for water supplied for winter crops shall fall due on the 1st April following.

26. Water-rates imposed under Rule 10, on account of lands irrigated without authority, fall due as soon as the assessment is made, and shall be realized at once.

27. Remission of water-rates, either in whole or part, as the case may require, shall be granted by the Collector for—

1.—Injury to the crop on a leased area caused by deficient supply of water.

2.—Errors in the assessment of rates.

28. The Collector may grant remissions of water-rates, either in whole or part, for injury to the crops on leased areas caused by excess of water due to deficient drainage.

29. The Collector may commute rates charged under Rule 10 to those chargeable for water supplied on application, provided that a lease either for a term of years or for the season has been subsequently executed for the lands in question.

30. Remissions on other grounds than the above require the sanction of Government.

31. In cases where sums due on account of water-rates cannot be collected owing to the death, bankruptcy, or absconding of the defaulter, the amount which is non-realizable may be written off as irrecoverable on the authority of the Collector.

32. Before awarding compensation under section 16 of the Act, or making a reference under section 17 of the Act, the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Executive Engineer in charge of the canal, and his written opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

33. The Collector may distribute amongst village mookhyas, who agree in writing to assist the Deputy Superintendent in collecting water-rates, and generally in his operations under Act III (B.C.) of 1876, a commission calculated in such manner as he may think fit, provided the total amount paid shall not exceed 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates collected during the year. If the payments thus made to mookhyas do not amount to 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates of any year, the Collector may expend the balance in paying extra collecting establishment.

34. Registers shall be kept in the Deputy Superintendent's and zilladar's offices in forms sanctioned by Government.

35. A copy of the Collector's decision in all cases of remission, and of the Magistrate's decision in all cases of proceedings under section 93 or 94 of the Act, shall be forwarded to the Executive Engineer for information and record in his office.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

RESOLUTION ON THE BOARD'S REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE OPIUM DEPARTMENT FOR 1890-91.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—OPIUM.

No. 910-O.

Calcutta, the 8th March 1892.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Board's Report on the Administration of the Opium Department for the year 1890-91.

The report is submitted by Mr. C. C. Stevens, who succeeded Sir H. L. Harrison as Member of the Board of Revenue, in charge of the Miscellaneous Revenue Department, in December 1891.

Tour of Inspection by the Member in Charge.

2. During the year Sir H. L. Harrison made a tour of inspection in the two Agencies, and submitted to Government some valuable suggestions on several important questions, viz., the more economical working of the saw-mills at Patna, the reversion to mangowood for packing the Bihar provision opium, the increase to the rack accommodation at the Ghazipore Factory, and the increase in the standard of caking Benares opium. In regard to the first question, Government has already, with a view to keeping down the cost as much as is compatible with actual requirements, on the recommendation of the Board, sanctioned the proposal that the mills should be worked for only five days in the week, and should be entirely closed for one month at the end of the manufacturing year (October), and for the three months during which the manufacture of provision opium is carried on. It is expected that these economies will reduce the annual expenditure on the saw-mills to reasonable limits. The substitution of mangowood for sâlwood affords a promising source of economy in the manufacture of chests. The cost of sâl timber per chest being Re. 1-8 per cubic foot, and of mangowood only Re. 0-8 per cubic foot, the substitution of the latter for the former would result in a saving of two-thirds of the cost of sâl timber, which amounted in the year of report to Rs. 1,22,564. The use of mangowood for the manufacture of opium chests was abandoned in 1831, on the ground that mangowood was becoming scarce. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to revert to this class of wood if it is found that there is no danger of denuding the country, but it should not be forgotten that there is already a heavy demand for the felling of mango trees caused by the manufacture of all indigo chests out of this wood. Taking the produce of indigo at 60,000 maunds for North Bihar alone, the number of chests required would amount roughly to 20,000. If to this consumption is added the quantity required for 25,000 chests of opium, the consequences to the mango groves of Bihar might be serious, unless the reproduction of the trees is steadily maintained.

Manufacture of mangowood chests.

3. Sir Charles Elliott notes with satisfaction that the question of rack accommodation is under the careful consideration of the Board. The practice of storing unpacked cakes on racks at the factories has been proved by experience to be useful in preserving the weight and condition of the cakes, but it entails a cost for labour in handling, computed at Rs. 6-14 per chest, which does not, in the opinion of the Agents, give a commensurate return. The Board think, however, that it should be continued to the fullest extent possible at each factory. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that, while the practice may be continued, there is no occasion at present to pursue the question of increasing the rack accommodation in the factories, as the present low reserve renders the existing rack accommodation sufficient for all purposes.

Rack accommodation.

4. In regard to raising the consistence of Benares opium, orders have been passed that the Benares provision should in future be caked at a consistence of 71 per cent. instead of 70 per cent., which was formerly recognised as the standard consistence, though, as a matter of fact, the cakes were in many cases prepared at a consistence of 71 per cent. or over.

Consistence of the Benares provision opium.

5. The outturn during the season 1890-91 was only 44,522 chests against 44,760 chests in the preceding year, and against the latest estimate of 49,904 chests referred to in the Resolution on the Board's Opium Report for 1889-90. Notwithstanding an increase of 9,728 bighas in the land actually cultivated in the Bihar Agency, and of 20,929 bighas in Benares, there was a falling off of 4,422 maunds in the outturn of the season in the former and of 8,347 maunds in the latter as compared with the season 1889-90. These results are directly attributable to unseasonable rain accompanied in several districts by severe hailstorms in both Agencies during the months of February and March, which did considerable damage to the crop, while the damp and heavy weather reduced abnormally the consistence of the opium brought in by the cultivators so as to render 8,695 maunds of opium unfit for caking into provision opium. It appears that it was by the use of 3,000 maunds of Benares opium at Patna for the excise opium and with the help of a previous stock of provision opium at the Bihar Agency of high consistency that the number of provision chests could be raised to the figures eventually attained at Patna. The Board do not mention details of the stock, thus making it appear in paragraph 4 of their report that a diminished supply of opium gave an increased number of chests, nor is the matter cleared up in the Bihar Agent's report. As a result of this exceptionally poor outturn, the reserve of provision chests, after providing for the supply for the year 1892, will be reduced from 18,770 chests on the 31st December 1891 to 9,292 chests on the 31st December 1892.

Outturn.

6. The low reserve has naturally given rise to apprehensions whether, regard being had to the fact that the demand is practically fixed, the existing area under poppy cultivation is sufficient to meet it. As, however, it has been considered inexpedient to increase the area under cultivation, no measures have been taken with a view to secure its expansion. In the Bihar Agency it is reported that the orders of Government reducing the area of cultivation, coupled with three successive bad seasons, have had the effect of discouraging opium cultivation. "An idea has got about," it is said, "that Government do not want opium, and many raiyats, especially those near big towns, have found out that potatoes, tobacco, &c., are as profitable as poppy. When a cultivator has once severed his connection with the department, and has begun to take advances from mahajans in another line of business, it is difficult to get him back." In the Benares Agency, on the other hand, it is reported that "in Oudh and in parts of Rohilkund nothing is more disappointing to a cultivator than an order for curtailment of cultivation. So popular indeed is poppy cultivation in these parts that raiyats from the remote districts of Bahraich, Gonda, Rai Bareili, and Pertabgarh come down to Ghazipore to appeal in person to the Agent against the orders of the District Officers reducing the cultivation." In some divisions of the Benares Agency successive bad seasons have to a certain extent discouraged the cultivators, but it is believed that a favourable season will restore the popularity of poppy cultivation in these parts. The earnings of a cultivator in the Benares Agency during the year under report, which was of an exceptionally unfavourable character, were on the average Rs. 13-9-6 against Rs. 17-1-9 (free, of course, from the inevitable encumbrance of mahajan's interest) during the previous year. The earnings of a cultivator in the Bihar Agency are not stated in the Agent's report, but the consistency of Bihar opium, and hence the price paid for it being higher, the earnings of a cultivator in the Bihar Agency ought to be higher. The total number of cultivators in the two Agencies was 1,306,741. The Opium Commission of 1883 observed that—

Extension of cultivation.

"The poppy crop is a staff and not a crutch; it helps the raiyat to pay his way, but does not form his sole dependence; it seldom occupies more than one-tenth of his holding; it yields him a good profit in a prosperous year, but its failure does not reduce him to absolute penury."

The idea that Government contemplate the cessation of opium manufacture, referred to above, is one that is detrimental alike to the interests of the cultivators and others concerned in the opium trade, and it is to be regretted that unfounded rumours should have obtained any credence. The question of increasing or decreasing the area under cultivation requires special consideration in accordance with all the circumstances affecting its solution. The maintenance of the supply and of the reserve at the normal amounts has to be regarded on the one hand, whereas on the other the objections to the appearance of an oscillation of policy and to the consequent disturbance of agricultural anticipations are patent. The variableness of the seasons and the outturns is the inconstant factor in the problem which necessitates its periodical revision. If the produce of the crop now being gathered is insufficient to restore the reserve to some extent, if not to the normal amount of 30,000 chests, it will be for the Board to consider whether an increase of cultivation should not be aimed at in the autumnal settlements.

7. During the season under report the weighments commenced too soon after the produce had been saturated by rain, the result being a deterioration of the value of the drug on account of lower consistency, and consequent disappointment to the cultivators. It was recognised that the quality of the produce would have improved by delay, and weighments were postponed as much as possible, but the dates for weighments having already been advertised, they could not be very materially altered without great inconvenience to the raiyats.

Weighments.

8. The Bihar Agent visited every division in his Agency once, and in some cases twice, being altogether out on tour for 100 days. The number of days spent by the Benares Agent on tour is not given; but out of 16 divisions he visited 11. The position of the head-quarters, Ghazipore, at the extreme southern end of the provinces is said to be an obstacle to his visiting every division during the year, but the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the Agent will arrange to see something of every division during the year. The Sub-Deputies in the Bihar Agency appear to have been in camp for periods varying from 91 days in Motihari (where the shortness of the period is accounted for by the illness and subsequent death of Mr. Carter, the Sub-Deputy Opium Agent) to 129 days in Bettiah and Shahabad. The Benares Agent has made no reference to this matter in his report.

Total quantity of opium received in the Agencies.

9. The total quantity of opium received in the Bihar Agency of various degrees of consistency was 37,452 maunds against 40,003 maunds in the previous year: in the Benares Agency the quantity of opium received reduced to the standard consistence of 70° was 44,373 maunds against 52,720 maunds in the previous year. The number of chests of provision opium manufactured in the Bihar Agency was 21,834 chests, and in the Benares Agency 22,688 chests. The quantity of excise opium manufactured was 2,808 maunds in the Bihar Agency and 5,416 maunds in the Benares Agency. The total expenditure in the Bihar Agency amounted to Rs. 88,19,349 against Rs. 94,73,579 in the preceding year, and in the Benares Agency Rs. 1,02,28,196 against Rs. 1,18,95,140, this decrease in both the Agencies being due to diminished produce.

Opium Manual.

10. The Board report that, owing to the delay which has unavoidably been incurred in issuing the new Opium Manual, they are not in a position to comply with the orders of the Government of India by submitting a review of the expenditure incurred in the season under report, based on the statements which are prepared for the Agents and the Board and certified by the Accountant-General. It was found impracticable to lay down a common Opium Manual for both the Agencies. Accordingly, with the sanction of Government, it was decided that, while Part I of the Manual containing the opium laws and rules should be common to both the Agencies, Parts II, III, and IV containing the rules and forms should be distinct for each. Part I for both the Agencies and Parts II, III, and IV for the Benares Agency have been completed. Part II for the Bihar Agency is also nearly ready for publication, and the Board promise to lose no time in completing this and the remaining parts.

Outstanding balances.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with Mr. Kemble in his view that all requests for loans made by poppy cultivators should be granted whenever sufficient security can be obtained for the repayment of the advance. The balances on account of advances to cultivators are heavy, being Rs. 55,674 in the Bihar Agency, the greater part of which amount appertains to the Gya Sub-Agency, where hail proved specially destructive to the crops, and Rs. 47,853 in the Benares Agency. The early recovery of these advances is doubtful, as the prospects of the present season do not appear to be favourable, especially in the unirrigated area.

Irrigation.

12. There is an improvement in the extent of irrigated cultivation in the Bihar Agency, but this improvement is mainly due to new cultivation, and not to existing non-irrigated poppy cultivation being brought under irrigation. In the Benares Agency, out of a total cultivation of 394,791 bighas, only 8,533 bighas are unirrigated, of which 7,001 bighas are, as usual, confined to the Gorakhpore Sub-Agency. In the Bihar Agency, out of a total cultivation of 407,960 bighas, 81,678 bighas are unirrigated against 84,628 bighas in the preceding year.

Wells.

13. The amount advanced for wells in the Bihar Agency was Rs. 24,355 against Rs. 18,420 in the year previous, showing an increase of Rs. 5,935. With these advances, 263 pucca and 306 kutcha wells were constructed, against 237 pucca and an equal number of kutcha wells in 1889-90: 208 pucca and 5 kutcha wells were repaired, and 23 pucca wells are reported to be under construction. The largest amount, viz. Rs. 9,532, was advanced in the Chapra Sub-Agency, the next in order being Tirhut and Aliganj. In reference to Chapra, Mr. Kemble is inclined to think, considering the small area under poppy cultivation in this district, that other crops derive more benefit than poppy does from the advances given by the Opium Department. Mr. Kemble, however, adds:—

"By encouraging irrigation we prevent our cultivation from decreasing more than it otherwise would; and as the wells are a decided benefit to the country, I think that all requests for loans made by poppy cultivators should be granted whenever sufficient security can be obtained for the repayment of the advance."*

The Lieutenant-Governor fully endorses the above view.

Breaches of Opium Laws.

14. There was an increase in the number of cases instituted as well as in the percentage of convictions and in the amount of rewards paid to informers for offences against the opium laws in the Lower Provinces: in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, however, while there was an increase in the number of institutions, the percentage of convictions fell off from 84·67 in the preceding year to 82·28; and there was a decrease in the amount of rewards disbursed to informers. The Junior Member of the Board of Revenue, North-Western Provinces, dwelling on the unsatisfactory results of opium cases in the North-Western Provinces, suggests, in the review of the Excise Commissioner's report for the year ending 30th September, 1890, that "the best means for ensuring the prompt and free distribution of rewards, where possible, is probably the judicious selection of the officers by whom the trial of Excise and Opium cases is entrusted, and the careful supervision of their work in this respect by the District Officer." In the Benares Agency the Board note with satisfaction that the question of opium smuggling receives careful attention from the officers of the Department. The Benares Agent says:—

"Each case is separately reported to this office by the local opium officer, who explains the departmental action taken, and reports whether an officer of the Department has attended the trial to watch the cost on the part of the Agency. An endeavour is made to trace the source of supply, and when a cultivator is implicated, the details of the whole license are submitted to this office, and orders issued prohibiting cultivation by the offender and his relations, or discontinuing the cultivation in the whole village."

The Board regret to find that in the Bihar Agency the same active interest is not evinced by the officers of the Department. Sir Charles Elliott desires that the Bihar Agent may be directed to impress on his subordinate officers the importance of the subject and the necessity for the most careful attention to it.

Nepal opium.

15. Orders have already been issued by Government on the question referred to in pararaph 23 of the Board's report of modifying the existing system under which payment is made for Nepal opium.

Merits of Officers.

16. The good service rendered by Messrs. SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1892.

THE important features in the meteorology of February in Bengal and Assam have been—

1. The mean pressure has been below the normal in all districts. The defect generally slightly exceeds a twentieth of an inch, but it is largest in North Bengal and Assam, where at several stations it is nearly equal to 0·09". The variations of pressure from day to day during the month have also been large.

2. Temperature has been in considerable excess of the normal almost throughout the month. This excess has averaged generally from 2° to 4°, and it has been smallest in Orissa and Chota Nagpur and highest in North Bengal and South Bihár. In Assam also the excess has been rather larger than 2°.

3. Humidity has been below the normal in the southern and south-western districts, but elsewhere it has generally been above it. The variation of the cloud proportion from the normal has been small and a little irregular.

4. Only one important barometric depression, which travelled in an easterly or south-easterly direction from North-Western India, advanced towards and partially over Bengal during the month. This depression appeared on the Western Desert on February the 10th, and advanced slowly in an east-south-easterly direction, and on the 13th its centre was near Agra and Delhi, and it was still a considerable storm; and on the 14th it was near Cawnpur and Sutna, but on the 15th and subsequent days it filled up and disappeared. It gave disturbed weather for several days, particularly between the 11th and 16th. Several other, but much more feeble, barometric depressions appeared in North-Western India during the month and advanced south-eastwards, but these caused little disturbance to the weather in Bengal beyond giving very high temperature and low pressure, and in addition a few local rain showers. On the whole, therefore, the month of February was an unusually quiet one, and weather was fine almost throughout the month.

5. Owing principally to the influence of the more important depression just noticed, fairly general rain was received in certain districts of the Province, the showers usually occurring from the 11th to the 16th. The amounts of rain which have thus fallen have been decidedly larger than the normal values in Chota Nagpur and South Bihár, while about normal amounts have fallen in North Bihár; but all other divisions have received rainfalls in defect of the normal for the month, and this has been particularly the case in South-West Bengal and Orissa.

Meteorology of the month.—For the first six or seven days of the month the changes of the meteorological conditions were of the usual oscillatory character which accompany fine settled weather, and therefore they call for no detailed comment. On the 7th there had been a brisk fall of pressure over the whole Province, while on the 8th it was rising slowly. The distribution of pressure on this day was, however, decidedly irregular, and the barometer was distinctly low over Central and North Bengal; north-west erly winds then set in at the western stations, while southerly and south-easterly winds were blowing over the eastern half of the Province. Considerable interaction was therefore taking place, and this resulted in the formation of a series of small local storms usually accompanied by rain, and on the morning of the 9th a large proportion of the stations in East and North Bengal and a few stations in North Bihár reported light to moderate rain. These disturbed conditions, however, quickly passed away from Bengal and weather became fine, though the majority of stations still reported southerly winds. On the 10th more important meteorological changes had taken place in North-Western India, where a barometric depression appeared over the Western Desert. On the 11th this depression had become more marked and was apparently travelling in an easterly direction, and in advance of the depression moderate general rain commenced to fall, though on the 11th only a few light showers were reported in the Province of Bengal, principally in Chota Nagpur. On the 11th, though the pressure changes in Bengal were exceedingly small, temperature had commenced to rise rather rapidly in front of the advancing depression, and had become from about 7° to 10° above the normal. On the 12th pressure had commenced to fall at the extreme western stations in Chota Nagpur, apparently being influenced by the advancing depression, which was reported on this date to have developed very considerably in intensity. Wind directions in the western districts of the Province also appeared to form the eastern part of a cyclonic circulation, though in the eastern half of the Province winds were north-westerly. Fairly general rain commenced in Chota Nagpur on the 12th, and rain also was reported on this day in Sonthal Parganas, Shahabad, and Gaya. On the 13th the barometric depression had advanced in an easterly direction, and its centre was near Agra and Jhansi, and it was still a considerable storm, and in Bengal rainfall had on this day extended over a considerable part of Bihár, though it was very light and perhaps not very general. On the morning of the 14th, the depression was between Cawnpore and Sutna, having moved slowly in an easterly direction. Pressure was hence falling moderately to rapidly in Bengal, while temperature was as usual rising rapidly in front of the advancing depression. Conditions generally on this day became decidedly disturbed; a few rain showers were reported in Bihár, and at Darjeeling a gale of wind was reported, pointing to the fact that the depression was largely influencing the upper layers of the atmosphere.

On the morning of the 15th the depression had to a great extent filled up and disappeared, and pressure was rising in Bengal, while on the other hand temperature had fallen rapidly. The depression gave very disturbed weather from the 11th to the 15th, and at Darjeeling a severe storm accompanied by a large amount of hail occurred, and 1·67 inches of rain (due to the melting of the hail) was registered. At most of the stations in the Province of Bengal, except those in East Bengal and Orissa, rain was also recorded on the morning of the 15th. A brisk to rapid increase of pressure had taken place on the 16th, and the effects of the depression had quite disappeared, winds became again generally northerly and north-westerly, and a fall of temperature varying from about 3° to nearly 9° occurred, and for the time ordinary cold weather conditions again became established in Bengal. From the 15th to the 16th practically no rain was reported except from a few stations in Orissa and South-West Bengal. From the 17th to the 19th the changes were quite unimportant, but on the 19th conditions again commenced to change in Bengal, for pressure began to fall briskly owing to the existence of another barometric depression which had appeared in North-Western India and which was advancing slowly down the Gangetic plain. On the morning of the 19th the centre of the depression was near Lucknow, but it was decidedly feeble and was giving little rain. Temperature in Bengal in front of the advancing depression as usual again rose and became above the normal by 2° or 3°. Winds also became generally southerly and humidity rose rapidly, and conditions became a little abnormal and unsettled, though no stations reported rain. On the 20th, pressure fell briskly in Bengal and became about a tenth of an inch below the normal, and a depression apparently existed in a feeble form over the province. Winds were, however, very irregular and did not show any distinct circulation. On the 21st pressure had again fallen rapidly in Bengal and a very distinct depression existed on this day, the centre of which was in North Bengal, where at some stations pressure was nearly a quarter of an inch below the normal. Temperature also rose rapidly and became from about 4° to 8° above the normal. On the 22nd the pressure changes over Bengal were very slight, but on the 23rd pressure again fell slowly to moderately in Bengal, and the depression in North Bengal became even more strongly marked, for at some stations, such as at Jalpaiguri and Dhubri, pressure had become nearly three-tenths of an inch below the normal. The wind directions on this day appeared to show that the centre of the disturbance had moved in an easterly direction and was probably passing into Assam. On the 24th pressure continued to fall at the eastern stations, while a moderate increase was taking place in the centre and west of the Province. The depression still existed over North Bengal and the western parts of Assam, with a defect of a quarter of an inch at some stations, and again winds showed a distinct cyclonic circulation round the centre. The effects of the disturbance were rather more marked on this day than they had been, and numerous stations, principally in East Bengal, reported light rain. On the 25th the depression commenced to pass away and a rapid increase of pressure took place, which at Dhubri exceeded a tenth of an inch. Winds were more northerly than they had been, and became at most stations north-westerly, and a very rapid fall of temperature and humidity set in, the fall in the mean temperature averaging 4° or 5,° while at some stations humidity decreased 20 and 30 per cent. On the 26th pressure continued to rise and temperature fell and became from about 2° to 4° below the normal, and dry westerly and north-westerly winds prevailed generally over the Province. On the 27th a rapid fall of pressure again set in over Central and Northern Bengal, the fall being largest at Purnea, where it exceeded a tenth of an inch, and there was a distinct tendency for a barometric depression to form over Bengal with a centre near Purnea. With this distribution of pressure winds again became more or less southerly at a large number of stations, and temperature and humidity generally increased rather rapidly. With these slightly disturbed conditions, a few stations, principally in East Bengal, again reported light rain showers. On the 28th this feeble low pressure area moved from Purnea in an easterly direction apparently over Assam or Upper Burma, and weather again became fine with increasing pressure and decreasing temperature over Bengal, and on this and the last day of the month conditions were quite settled and of ordinary north-east monsoon character.

Pressure.—As stated previously, the mean pressure for the month has usually varied from 0·05" to 0·09" below the normal. The defect was, however, comparatively small in the first week of the month, for it only equalled from 0·02" to 0·04". In the second week the defects had rather increased, and at some stations they were as much as 0·06". In the third week the mean defect was about equal to, or perhaps rather less than, that of the first week of the month; but in the last week of the month, owing to the almost continuous existence of a barometric depression over North Bengal, the defect varied from about a fifth of an inch at such stations as Dinajpur and Jalpaiguri to a tenth of an inch in Orissa and Chota Nagpur.

In Assam the mean defect in pressure for the month was nearly 0·08".

Temperature—In the first week of the month was in excess of the normal by about five to six degrees. In the second week again temperatures were very high, and they averaged more than six degrees in excess of the normal. In the third week temperature was high at the commencement comparatively low in the middle when the weather was influenced by the cool wave of air following after the barometric depression, and again high at the close of the week, when the Province began to be influenced by another depression. The mean temperature for the third week was therefore only one degree above the normal. In the fourth week there were again large variations of temperature, but the mean was only about a degree and a half in excess of the normal. The mean temperature for the month has been about three to four degrees above the normal in South-West, East, and North Bengal and Bihár, and about two degrees above it in Assam, Chota Nagpur, and Orissa.

The following table shows generally the variation of the mean temperature from the normal, week by week, at nine typical stations in the Province:—

Rainfall.—The heaviest falls for the month have been reported in Chota Nagpur, which averages 1·30 inches, or a fall nearly twice as large as usual. In South Bihár the falls have averaged 0·75 inch or about 70 per cent. in excess of the usual fall, while in North Bihár the falls averaged 0·50 inch, or slightly in excess of the normal amount. In all other divisions the falls have been in defect. East Bengal has received an average amount of 0·71 inch, or about a third less than usual. North Bengal has received 0·38 inch, also a third less than usual. South-West Bengal has only averaged 0·27 inch, or about a fourth of the normal fall, and Orissa only 0·24 inch, which is also about a quarter of the usual amount. Over a large part of the Province, therefore, the rainfall of February has again been very deficient.

In the case of the districts, the heaviest fall has been reported from Darjeeling with 2·10 inches; Shahabad, Singbhum, Hazáribágh, Lohardaga, and Chittagong Hill Tracts have received falls between one and one and a half inches; Manbhum, Sonthal Parganas, Mymensingh, Tippera, Dacca, Faridpur, and Noakhali falls between three-quarters and one inch; Gaya, Saran, Darbhanga, Muzaffarpur, Rajshahi, Murshidabad, West Burdwan and Birbhum between half and three-quarters of an inch; South Bhágalpur and Monghyr, Jalpaiguri, Rangpur, Dinajpur, Malda, Pabna, Bogra, Bankura and Cuttack between a quarter and half an inch, and all other districts falls of less than a quarter of an inch, except in the case of South-West Midnapore and South 24-Parganas districts, which have received no rain at all.

In Assam during the month Sibsagar has received 4·08 inches of rain, Silchar 3·13 inches of rain, and Dhubri only 0·64 inch of rain.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·1° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* Mean for 6 days. | † Means for 5 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The variations are negative when the mean of the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percent., saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head district observations of rainfall the normal means are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district deduced from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the ten years. The means of the district are the numerical average of the rainfall return received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district, adding up returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

Explanation.—......indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 8*th March* 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 5TH OF MARCH 1892.

AT the close of the previous week a rather feeble form of barometric depression had appeared over Bengal and had given a rapid fall of pressure and increase of temperature. It, however, apparently quickly passed away in an easterly direction, and on Sunday, the 28th, or the first day of the present week, there was a moderate increase of pressure, while winds became more northerly and westerly than they had been. The depression had, however, caused conditions to be distinctly disturbed in Bengal, and on the morning of the 28th a good many stations in East Bengal reported light rain showers. With the disappearance of the feeble depression from Bengal, temperature began to fall rapidly, and from the 28th to the 29th there was a general fall of from 3° to 7°. The other changes on the 29th were of little importance. On March the 1st, there was a rapid increase of pressure over Bengal, together with a further reduction of temperature, and it became largely below the normal; the defect was quite exceptional in the night or minimum temperatures, and at such stations as Jessore, Saugor Island, Calcutta and Burdwan the night temperatures were from 12° to 15° lower than the normal. On the 1st of March, however, rather important meteorological changes were taking place in North-Western India, and a barometric depression appeared over the Indus valley with a centre near Jacobabad. On the 2nd this depression had advanced towards Neemuch; but at the same time a second and much more severe storm had appeared over the north-west of the Panjab and in the hills, which gave snow at some of the hill stations. In Bengal on this day pressure began to fall moderately, while temperature and humidity rose rapidly, and southerly winds began to set in at many stations. On the 3rd the feeble depression had advanced from Neemuch to between Raipur and Allahabad, while the storm in the hills and in the north-west of the Panjab had moved slowly in an easterly direction, and had commenced to fill up, though it had given rather heavy weather generally in the Panjab. In front of the smaller advancing depression, pressure had fallen moderately to rapidly in Bengal, and there had again been a rapid increase in temperature generally, and a moderate increase in humidity at the eastern stations. Cloud proportion also began to increase considerably on this day, though no rain fell. On the 4th the depression near the hills had broken up and disappeared, while that near Allahabad had advanced over Bengal, and its centre was in North Bengal, not far from Rampur Boalia. The depression was, however, extremely feeble, the deficiency of pressure from the normal only equalling about a tenth of an inch; but it was still accompanied by a fairly complete cyclonic circulation of winds, and southerly winds were therefore reported over a large part of Bengal. With these conditions while pressure was falling at the eastern and rising at the western stations, temperature and particularly humidity became extremely high. The depression was not sufficiently influential to give general rain, but it gave showers to a large number of stations in East Bengal, which were reported on the morning of the 5th, on which day the depression had again advanced in an easterly direction, and was over Assam and Burma. Pressure hence rose rapidly in Bengal on the 5th, except in and near the hills, the increase at some stations equalling more than a tenth of an inch, though pressure still remained below the normal generally. Winds also became westerly and north-westerly, and an extremely rapid fall of humidity occurred, the fall at some stations exceeding 50 per cent. Temperature on this day, however, only fell slowly, though the mean temperature was generally one or two degrees in defect of the normal.

The meteorology of the week has been therefore chiefly noticeable for the existence and movement of the two barometric depressions; and the more severe one of which having apparently given a heavy fall of snow in the hills, its influence will be felt for some days in giving a cool dry wave of air over Northern India generally. Over the greater part of the province, however, the week has again been one in which there has been no rainfall, the only practical exception being in East Bengal, where most stations have received light rain.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has again been considerably in defect of the normal, the usual defect equalling from 0·03″ to 0·05″, though it has apparently been larger than this in the higher layers of the atmosphere, for at Darjeeling a defect of more than a tenth of an inch has been recorded.

Temperature has shown very considerable oscillations during the week, but the mean has been very considerably below the normal. The mean defect of the whole province for the week has equalled 2·8°, while in such divisions as Chota Nagpur and in East and North Bengal the defect has ranged from 3° to 3·5°.

The variation of temperature for the week is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. It will be seen from these figures that the day or maximum temperatures have only been slightly below the normal, but that, on the other hand, the night or minimum temperatures have been largely in defect, the average defects at Calcutta, Dacca and Purnea for the week exceeding 5°.

Rainfall has practically only occurred in East Bengal, where an average fall of 0·33 inch is recorded, but even in this division the districts of Chittagong, Chittagong Hill Tracts and the greater part of Mymensing have received no rain, while on the other hand Tippera has received an average fall of no less than 0·76 inch, Faridpur one of 0·37 inch, and Noakhali one of 0·20 inch.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

* Review of the Monthly Statistics of Deaths registered in the forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of December 1891.

Mortality.—The total number of deaths (exclusive of still-births) registered in the forty-five districts of Bengal during the month of December 1891 was 238,921, against 216,770 in the preceding month, showing an annual ratio of 43·44 against 39·48 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those districts which is 65,859,534. The monthly total exceeds all the corresponding figures of the past five years, and also surpasses the quinquennial mean by 61,863. It is also considerably higher than the mortality of any of the previous months of the same year, as the following table shows :—

There were 20,349 deaths from cholera in December 1891, against 13,652 in the preceding month. The figure exceeds all the corresponding numbers of the past five years except 1886 and 1890, and also exceeds the average of the corresponding period of the past five years, 1886—90, by 4,876. One thousand four hundred and ten deaths from small-pox occurred in the month under notice, against 714 in the previous month. The total supersedes all the corresponding figures of past five years, and also exceeds the average of the corresponding month of the previous five years. 1886—90, by 998. The deaths from fever amounted to 183,260, against 171,864 in the preceding month. The figure exceeds any of the corresponding numbers of the past five years, and is beyond the quinquennial mean of the corresponding month of the previous five years, 1886—90, by 53,046. From dysentery and diarrhœa there were 4,532 deaths, against 4,011 in the preceding month. There were 1,157 deaths from injury, against 1,908 in the previous month. The mortality from all other causes amounted to 28,213, against 24,621 in the previous month.

Comparative mortality from the several specific death-causes.—The proportions in which the different death-causes contributed to the total mortality during December 1891, compared with past periods, are as follows:—

Prevalence and fatality of cholera and fever.—The highest rate from cholera was returned from Nadia (26·40), Rajshahi suffered next severely (11·64), then 24-Parganas (11·52), Jessore (11·04), Murshidabad (11·04), Howrah (10·32), Balasore (9·84), Khulna (7·80), Malda (7·32), Dacca (6·48), Cuttack (5·64), Mymensingh (5·52), Pabna (4·80), and Backergunge (4·20). The mortality from fever was highest in Malda (88·44 per mille), Nadia and Jessore come next with 81·72 and 84 48 respectively, followed by Rajshahi (74·64), Faridpur (51·60), Murshidabad (50·40), Purnea (49·20), Rangpur (48·60), Jalpaiguri (46·80), Dinajpur (45·96), Pabna (41·16), Khulna (37·80), Hooghly (37·44), Serampore (36·84), Champaran (36·72), Birbhum (35·28), Dacca (33·60), Noakhali (33·12), Burdwan (32·28), 24-Parganas (32·28), Bogra (31·20), and Backergunge (30·24).

Mortality according to sex and class.—Divided into sex and class the registered results of December 1891 were as follows:—

	SEX.			CLASS.
	Male.	Female.	Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population.	Christians.	Hindus.	Muhammadans.	Buddhists.	Other classes.
Number of deaths	124,416	114,505	...	340	135,170	99,963	212	8,236
Ratio per mille per annum ..	45·60	41·28	110	42·00	37·92	56·28	31·92	23·28

It will be seen that the registered results according to sexes relating to each other, were greater among the male than among the female population; thus 110 males died for every 100 females, calculated on the proportion the mortality bears to the total male and female population of the province; but taking the districts individually, in only six districts, viz., Khulna, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Noakhali, Purnea, and Puri, the death-rate among females is greater than that among males. The greatest mortality according to class or nationality, in proportion to population, occurred among Muhammadans and least among other classes.

Mortality according to age.—According to age, the death-rate, as usual, was highest among infants under one year of age, the ratio per mille being 314·64. The increase in December 1891 is no doubt due, in some measure, to better registration, but that does not altogether account for the large excess which is due to causes of local insanitation and the prevailing social condition of the people. The mortality among children over one year and under five years of age is (63·24) also much higher than it ought to be, and the large number of deaths in that period of life is no doubt due to the same cause as the high rate of infant mortality. The age period of greatest immunity during the month under notice was, as is generally the case, between the ages of 10 and 15, the rate being 19·68 per mille. The mortality among persons 60 years of age and upwards was at the rate of 104·52 per mille.

Detailed information under all heads will be found in the statement appended.

Temporary mine field south-west of Blakang Mati island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 21 of 1892) that from 1st December 1891 to 1st March 1892, an area lying south-west of Blakang Mati island would be appropriated for practice with submarine mines. The limits of this mine field are defined as follows :— On the north-west by an imaginary line joining Rimau point and spherical red buoy moored with that point bearing N.-E. distant 5 cables; on the south-west by a line joining this buoy and another spherical red buoy moored with Rimau point bearing north, distant one mile; on the south-east by a line drawn from the last mentioned buoy in a N.E. direction to Blakang Mati island; and on the north-east by the coast of that island.

Mariners are cautioned not to anchor or pass within the above mentioned limits.

Shoals lying in the approach to this port from the westward.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No 22 of 1892) of the existence of two shoals (Lorna shoals) lying in the approach to port Darwin from the westward:—

Lorna shoals consist of two small patches, 9 cables apart, in a north-east and south-west direction, with 24 feet water on each over sand and shells. There are depths of 6 to 9 fathoms between the patches, and 11 to 12 fathoms around. The sea does not break on the shoals except during strong winds.

The north-east shoal is situated in lat. 12° 20′ 55″ S., long. 130° 19′ 20″ E.

The depths given are at low water spring tides.

MOLUCCA PASSAGE.

Non-existence of Bahia reef.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 23 of 1892) of an unsuccessful search having been made in that vessel for Bahia reef, reported as lying in about lat. 1° 10′ S., long. 126° 50′ E. A sounding of 2.530 fathoms over dark green mud was obtained precisely in the above mentioned position, and similar depths were found in the vicinity.

This, in conjunction with the unsuccessful search for the danger made by H. M. Surveying vessel Flying Fish in 1885, and the very doubtful origin of the report, may be taken as disproving its existence. Bahia reef has therefore been expunged from the Admiralty Charts.

Sunken rocks in the approach to Chemulpho anchorage.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 27 of 1892) of the existence of the two undermentioned sunken rocks lying in the approach to Chemulpho anchorage from the southward:—

1. A rock, with 7 feet on it at low water, lies on the east side of Flyng Fish channel, with the east extreme of Pirie island bearing about N. ⅝ E., and Simpson island summit (524 feet) about E. by N., distant 1$\frac{9}{10}$ miles.

Approximate position: lat. 37° 10½′ N., long. 126° 11½′ E.

2. A rock, with 12 feet on it at low water, lies north-west of Pender rock, with North Watcher bearing about N.E. ¼ N., distant $1\frac{8}{10}$ miles, and Yung Hung Do summit about S. ⅝ E.

Approximate position: lat. 37° 18¼′ N., long. 126° 27′ E.

Decreased depths reported within a certain area—Gulf of Martaban.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 31 of 1892), issued by the British Admiralty, is republished:—

Information has been received through Commander R. F. Hoskyn, R N., in charge of India Marine Survey, that within the area comprised (approximately) between lat. 15° and 15° 30′ N., long 96° and 97° E., the soundings are reported to be considerably less than heretofore shown on the Admiralty charts. Depths therefore cannot be taken as a guide for position.

Shoals in Lawada approach.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 32 of 1892) of the existence of two shoals lying in the approach to Lawada (Lehadu) from the north-eastward. These shoals, apparently composed of sand and coral, circular in shape and about 5 cables in diameter, with 2 fathoms the least water found on them, and 11 fathoms between them, lie about 5 cables apart in a north-west and south east direction.

The north-west shoal lies with Conical hill bearing approximately S. 9° W., and Coast hill S 50° W., distant 10½ miles, or in about lat. 11° 32¼′ N., long. 43° 19¾′ E.

NOTE—It is stated that the soundings in the vicinity of the above-mentioned shoals are incorrect, there being in many places 8 fathoms less water than shown on the Admiralty charts.

AUSTRALIA, NORTH-WEST COAST—EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO.

NOTICE to Mariners No. 18 of 1892, issued by the British Admiralty, is republished below.

The following information has been received from Commander W. U. Moore, H.M. Surveying Vessel Penguin, dated November 1891,—the result of recent examination of the several localities off the north-west coast of Australia:—

1. Parry shoal, composed of coral, extends within the 10 fathoms line 4 miles in an E. by N. and W. by S. direction, with a breadth of half a mile. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water over it, lies one mile from its western end, in lat. 11° 9¼′ S., long. 129° 39¼′ E.
2. Flinders shoal is circular in shape, and 1½ miles in diameter, with a general depth of 6 to 8 fathoms over coral. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water on it, is situated in lat. 9° 52¼′ S., long. 129° 17′ E.

3. Franklin shoal is circular in shape, and one mile in diameter, with a general depth of 6 to 8 fathoms over coral. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water on it, is situated in lat. 9° 52½′ S., long. 129° 19′ E.
4. Blackwood shoal is about 6 cables in diameter, with a general depth of 8 to 14 fathoms, coral bottom. The shoalest spot, with 7 fathoms water over it, lies in lat. 9° 53′ S., long. 129° 25′ E.
5. Evans shoal extends 4¾ miles in a N.N.W. and S.S.E. direction, with a breadth of 3 miles, and has a general depth of 8 to 16 fathoms. The shoalest spot, with 5 fathoms water on it over coral, lies 4 cables from the north extreme, in lat. 9° 53 S., long. 129° 32¾′ E.

There are quantities of snakes and sea perch on these banks.

CAUTION.—It is probable that many other shoals exist on or near the same parallel of latitude, both eastward of Evans shoal and westward of Flinders shoal. The four shoals above mentioned are probably part of a submerged barrier, lying along the edge of the bank. Northward of them the character of the bottom changes to globigerina ooze.

NOTE.—The hill on the south coast of Bathurst island, eastward of cape Fourcroy, situated in lat. 11° 47′ 50″ S., long. 130° 8′ E., is conical and conspicuous, 420 feet in height, and forms a good landmark in approaching the coast.

EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO.

NOTE.—The existing plan of Kulewatte harbour, Damma island, on sheet of harbours and anchorages between Bali and Timor, No. 935, is misleading, the anchorage being much smaller than represented. The anchorage is in 20 fathoms water, fine black sand and coral, with the large hut on the point, close to the ruin of Watch house (now scarcely visible) bearing N.E. by N., distant 1½ cables. The space admits of one vessel (about 1,000 tons burden) lying at single anchor, or two of that size moored.

Harbour improvements.

Among the extensive works executed, a Breakwater has been built, running out from Manora point in a S. by E. direction to a distance of 1,500 feet into 5 fathoms of water. This affords complete shelter to the Entrance Channel during the south-west monsoon ; also a channel has been opened through the entrance with a depth of 21½ feet at low water spring-tides, 500 feet in breadth. The channel is marked by buoys, black on starboard hand, red on port.

The Merewether pier, 312 feet in length, has 26 feet at low water alongside.

The Erskine wharf, 2,008 feet in length, has accommodation for 5 vessels of the largest class.

An improved Red Light of the all-round-anchor pattern of ship's light is exhibited at the extreme end of the Breakwater, brightly visible in clear weather 5 nautical miles, and at least half that distance during the south-west monsoon.

The height of this light is 54½ feet above mean sea-level, and it is maintained throughout the year.

Caution—An Electric Light is used for working steamers alongside the "Merewether" pier and "Erskine" wharf. The height above mean sea-level is 67½ feet, and would be visible from the westward about 15 miles. The position of this light being north 1¼ miles from the lighthouse on Manora, Commanders of vessels are warned not to mistake it for the Fixed light.

Note.—Mail Steamers arriving off the Port at night should burn two blue lights in quick succession; other vessels one, or two at intervals of two minutes. During the fair season, Pilots will board, but during the monsoon they must keep off the Port until daylight.

REVISED WATER-RATE RULES FOR THE MIDNAPORE CANAL.

Notification No. 62, dated the 16th February 1892.

In exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 99 and 78 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make the following rules and to fix the undermentioned rates to be charged for water supplied from the Midnapore Canal. These rules and rates will supersede those now in force.

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

1. The officers of the Public Works Department, who have charge of the canal, are solely responsible for maintaining it in an efficient state of repair, for providing drainage channels where necessary, and generally for all engineering work involved in its management, as well as for the distribution of water to lessees. The word "canal" is here used as defined in section 3 of the Act.

2. The Deputy Revenue Superintendent, under the supervision of the Collector of the district as Revenue Superintendent, is responsible for the collection of water-rates and miscellaneous revenue accruing to Government from the canal.

3. Water shall not be distributed otherwise than on the application of a lessee, or of a ryot in whose favour a provisional requisition has been issued, as provided for in Rule 21 below. Such application may be made verbally or in writing to any Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which water is required.

4. If any lessee apply for water to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, or one of his subordinates verbally, he should be told to address himself to the officers of the Public Works Department. If he makes such an application in writing, his petition shall be forwarded direct by the canal revenue officer, to whom it is addressed, to the Public Works Department officer in charge of that part of the canal from which the petitioner's village is supplied.

5. The canal officers of the Public Works Department, in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, shall map out the irrigable area into blocks in accordance with the natural features of the ground, and so determined that the whole block shall be irrigable from one outlet, or from one set of outlets. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines.

6. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its irrigable area in registers to be maintained by the Public Works officers and by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officers.

7. Leases for not more than five years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block, or, subject to the provisions of Rule 14, for definite parts of a block, under the following conditions:—

I.—The lease may be for the lands of one or more villages, but ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village, so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease.

II.—All leases within one block shall be granted so that they shall expire on the same date.

III.—In order to equalise the areas to be dealt with in each year, the date of expiry of the leases in each block shall be determined by the Public Works officers in consultation with the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, so that one-fifth of the total area usually irrigated may fall out of lease in each year.

Explanation.

A blocks commence	1892	...	...	... Expire	1897.
B ,, ,,	1893	...	...	... ,,	1898.
C ,, ,,	1894	...	...	... ,,	1899.
D ,, ,,	1895	...	...	... ,,	1900.
E ,, ,,	1896	...	...	... ,,	1901.

Then, should a lease in a B block expire in 1892, a lease for one year must be given. Similarly, a lease in a B block expiring in 1894 must be renewed for four years only. It may, however, be possible in cases like the latter to arrange by mutual consent to cancel the existing and unexpired leases in B blocks in 1893, and then to renew for the full term of five years.

8. The rates to be charged for water supplied between June and November, whether by flow or lift, to lessees on application shall be—

For a term of five years—Rs. 1-8 per acre for each season.

Provided that the leases, whether new or renewals, required for shorter terms in order to develop the system of blocks as explained above shall, on the first occasion, be offered at the above rate.

Subject to the above provision, the rates shall be—

			Rs.	A.	P.
For a term of four years	...	...	1	12	0	per acre per season.
,, ,, of three ,,	...	...	2	0	0	,, ,,
,, ,, of two ,,	...	...	2	4	0	,, ,,
For one season	...	...	2	8	0	,, ,,

Explanation.

An existing lease in a D block expires in 1892. The lessees will be offered a renewal for three years at Rs. 1-8 per acre per season. They decline this, and do not renew till 1893. They can then only get a lease for two years at Rs. 2-4 per acre per season. Similarly, an application for a new lease in a C block is received in 1892. A lease for two years at Rs. 1-8 per acre may be given; but should an application for a new lease in a C block be received in 1895, a lease for four years at Rs. 1-12 per acre will be granted.

9. For the supply of water, when available, for winter crops, a rate of Rs. 1-8 per acre per season shall be charged.

10. For the unauthorized use of canal water a rate of Rs. 5 per acre, or such less rate as may be fixed by the Collector, shall be charged.

11. Applications for water-leases under section 74 of the Act should be presented to the zilladar of the division in which the applicant's land lies, and, subject to Rules 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 below, zilladars are authorized to grant such leases.

12. No village shall be brought under lease for the first time, and no lease shall be renewed for a period exceeding one year, without the consent in writing of the Executive Engineer. Such consent in writing may be taken specially for a single village, or generally for specified tracts including several villages.

13. Every application for a water-lease shall contain the following particulars:—

1.—Name and residence of applicant.

2.—Name of pergunnah, mehal, and village in which the land to be irrigated is situated.

3.—Total area for the irrigation of which the application is made and its boundaries, and if the lands to be irrigated lie in separate chaks, the name of each chak.

4.—Names of the ryots whose lands are to be irrigated, and the quantity of land held by each.

5.—Name of the canal and number of distributary from which water is required.

6.—Signatures of the applicants.

14. No application for a water-lease shall be entertained when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a village-channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Executive Engineer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

15. Without the permission of the Collector, no application shall include lands belonging to more than one village, but tehsilalaida or other lands lying within the village boundary at the time of survey may be included.

16. Without special orders in writing from the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, no application for a water-lease shall be received unless it includes all the irrigable lands in a village.

17. When a water-lease is granted, a kabuliyat shall be taken in a form approved by Government, and a "permit" shall be given to the lessee or lessees in a form similar to that prescribed in Schedule C of the Act.

18. On the issue of a "permit" as above, of which the zilladar shall keep a duplicate, he shall forward a copy of the kabuliyat to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent for recordr and at the same time he shall forward to the Executive Engineer or Sub-divisional Officer direct a requisition requesting him to supply water to the lessee on application. This requisition shall be kept by the officers of the Public Works Department till January 1st next following, and shall then be returned to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent. On the back should be noted the several dates on which the village was supplied with water. A fresh requisition should be issued on or before June 1st, and returned on or before January 1st, each year, till the lease expires.

19. When application for a lease is received from a village not previously leased, the zilladar, before granting a lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with the survey records, as well as by local enquiry, that the particulars given in the application are correct. For the purpose of comparison with the survey record, the application should be sent through the Deputy Superintendent to the Collector. The zilladar should also satisfy himself that the Executive Engineer's consent, as required by Rule 12, has been obtained.

20. When application is made for the renewal of an expired lease, the zilladar, before granting a new lease, shall satisfy himself by comparison with his register of kabuliyats that the particulars given in the application are correct.

21. Pending the result of the enquiries provided for in the last rules, the zilladar may, at his discretion, issue a provisional requisition for the supply of water to the area covered by the application.

22. When it comes to the knowledge of the Public Works Department officers in charge of the canal that canal water has been taken without authority, notice shall be sent to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, accompanied by the following particulars:—

1.—Name of village and pergunnah.

2.—Number of distributary from which water has been illicitly obtained.

3.—Manner in which water has been taken.

4.—Abstract of evidence that water has been taken.

A separate notice should be sent for each village irrigated without authority.

23. On receipt of such a notice, the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, after such enquiry as may be necessary, and after hearing any objection which may be raised, shall proceed to assess, at the rate provided in Rule 10, the land irrigated without authority. If in any case he thinks that this rate should not be imposed, he shall report the matter to the Collector for orders.

24. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted, or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, on the application of the Executive Engineer, and with the approval of the Collector, to cancel the lease.

25. The rates for water supplied from June to November shall, in each season, fall due on the 1st February following. The rates for water supplied for winter crops shall fall due on the 1st April following.

26. Water-rates imposed under Rule 10, on account of lands irrigated without authority, fall due as soon as the assessment is made, and shall be realized at once.

27. Remission of water-rates, either in whole or part, as the case may require, shall be granted by the Collector for—

1.—Injury to the crop on a leased area caused by deficient supply of water.

2.—Errors in the assessment of rates.

28. The Collector may grant remissions of water-rates, either in whole or part, for injury to the crops on leased areas caused by excess of water due to deficient drainage.

29. The Collector may commute rates charged under Rule 10 to those chargeable for water supplied on application, provided that a lease either for a term of years or for the season has been subsequently executed for the lands in question.

30. Remissions on other grounds than the above require the sanction of Government.

31. In cases where sums due on account of water-rates cannot be collected owing to the death, bankruptcy, or absconding of the defaulter, the amount which is non-realizable may be written off as irrecoverable on the authority of the Collector.

32. Before awarding compensation under section 16 of the Act, or making a reference under section 17 of the Act, the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Executive Engineer in charge of the canal, and his written opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

33. The Collector may distribute amongst village mookhyas, who agree in writing to assist the Deputy Superintendent in collecting water-rates, and generally in his operations under Act III (B.C.) of 1876, a commission calculated in such manner as he may think fit, provided the total amount paid shall not exceed 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates collected during the year. If the payments thus made to mookhyas do not amount to 6 pies in the rupee on the total water-rates of any year, the Collector may expend the balance in paying extra collecting establishment.

34. Registers shall be kept in the Deputy Superintendent's and zilladar's offices in forms sanctioned by Government.

35. A copy of the Collector's decision in all cases of remission, and of the Magistrate's decision in all cases of proceedings under section 93 or 94 of the Act, shall be forwarded to the Executive Engineer for information and record in his office.

No. 97.—Notification.—It is hereby notified that the revised Declaration No. 35, dated 26th January 1892, which was published at page 104, Part 1 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th idem, for the acquisition of land for the Tickursurna retired line of embankment on the left bank of the Bhargovi river in the district of Puri, is cancelled. The original Declaration No. 456, dated 22nd December 1891, published at page 1086, Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 23rd December 1891, which was superseded by the revised declaration quoted above, holds good.

No. 98.—Notification.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 99 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, notice is hereby given that the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal proposes to pass the following rules for the Orissa Canals:—

41. The rule passed in notification No. 442, dated the 9th December 1889, is hereby cancelled, and the following rule substituted:—

> Beali lands included in a long or five-year lease are not exempted from assessment, but no charge will be made for water supplied to them in the rabi season, or for lift irrigation to high lands excluded from assessment, whether in the kharif or rabi season. No special arrangements to supply water will, however, be made.

42. The rule passed in notification No. 330, dated the 15th September 1890, is hereby cancelled, and the following rule substituted:—

Low lying lands forming part of the rice cultivated area of a village which cannot ordinarily benefit by a canal water, though requiring irrigation in years of drought, will be charged each year at one-third of the usual rate, i.e., eight annas an acre. Lands which never, under any circumstances, require water will be altogether excluded from the lease.

43. Existing long leases may, with the written consent of the Divisional Canal Officer, be extended for not more than three years without further detailed measurement or enquiry, subject to the provisions of rules 41 and 42 immediately preceding.

NOTE.—When a village is divided by drainage channels into distinct blocks, each block shall be recognized as a separate village for the purpose of these and all other rules under the Irrigation Act.

44. Applications for leases in the kharif season will be received up to the 1st of September. After that date the following conditions will be imposed:—

I.—The application must be for a block of land which can be irrigated without unleased lands necessarily being irrigated.

II.—The application shall state the areas in the occupation of each cultivator, and the water-rates payable, and shall be signed by all the cultivators whose names are mentioned in the application. The signatories shall bind themselves to be jointly liable for the water-rates payable, including those due on lands included in the block, the occupiers of which have not for any reason signed the application.

III.—The Sub-divisional Canal Officer, after ascertaining that the area noted in the application reasonably represents that included in the block specified, and that it is possible to supply water within a limited time without irrigating unleased areas, may authorize the issue of a permit for the area specified in the application.

VI.—The rate chargeable shall be Rs. 2 per acre on the area specified in the application. No actual measurement shall be made for the purpose of assessment.

V.—The Sub-divisional Canal Officer, as a condition of authorizing the issue of a permit under this rule, may require that application for a long lease in the form given in appendix A shall be presented for a lease commencing from the 15th of June of the year next following.

VI.—In the case of low lying lands for which water is seldom required, or lands for which a long lease application could not for any reason be accepted, the rate chargeable will be Rs. 1-8 instead of Rs. 2 per acre as mentioned in clause IV.

Provided that every such suit shall be instituted within not more than three months from the date of the Collector's award if the person interested instituting it received a notice from the Collector under the third paragraph of section 9, or within not more than six months from the date of the Collector's award if the person or persons instituting it, or any of them, did not receive a notice from the Collector under the third paragraph of section 9.

"The provisions of section 424 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall not apply to any such suit.

XIV of 1882.

"19. (1) If such suit is either solely or partly to enhance the compensation awarded by the Collector, the Collector shall be cited as the defendant or as one of the defendants.

When Collector may be cited.

(2) If such suit is solely to alter the apportionment, made by the Collector, of the compensation among the persons interested, the Collector shall not be cited as a defendant, but the Court shall nevertheless at once send him notice of the institution of the suit.

"20. (1) On receipt of a summons under section 64 of the Code of Civil Procedure to appear as a defendant or of a notice of the institution of a suit under section 19 (2), the Collector shall, within fourteen days, deposit in the Court the compensation awarded by him together with a further sum amounting to fifteen per centum on the market-value mentioned in section 24 or so much of the said sums as shall not already have been paid to persons interested under Part V.

Deposit by Collector and disposal of amount of compensation.

XIV of 1882.

(2) If the suit is solely to enhance the compensation awarded by the Collector, the Court which tries the suit may deal with the sums so deposited under the provisions of section 377 (but not of sections 378 and 379) of the Code of Civil Procedure; but

(3) If the suit is also, or solely, to alter the apportionment, made by the Collector, of the compensation among the persons interested, the Court shall retain the sums so deposited pending the decision of the suit, and shall then pay them to the parties in such proportions as may be ordered by the decree; and for this purpose may transfer them to the Court which tries the suit:

Provided that, if the Court which tries the suit shall decide that the compensation awarded by the Collector was in excess of the compensation which should properly have been awarded for the land, the said Court shall in its decree order that the plaintiff shall refund to the Collector any sum which, either under Part V or under section 377 of the Code of Civil Procedure, he may have been paid in excess of the sum which the said Court shall decide to be the compensation which should properly have been awarded for the land; and such excess so paid shall be recoverable by the Collector as costs in the suit.

Suit by Government to alter the Collector's award or for refund of compensation.

21. If the Local Government shall be of opinion that the compensation awarded by the Collector is excessive, it may institute a suit in the Court against the persons interested, or any one or more of them, either to alter the award of the Collector by the reduction of the compensation awarded by him, if the amount so awarded (including the additional sum of fifteen per centum directed to be paid by section 41), or so much thereof as is not in excess of the sum which the Local Government admits to be the proper compensation for the land (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum) has not been paid to persons interested; or, if the amount of the award (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum), or any portion thereof in excess of the sum which the Local Government admits to be the proper compensation for the land (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum) has been paid to persons interested, to recover the excess of such amount, or portion thereof, as the case may be, over the total of the sum which the Local Government admits to be the proper compensation for the land (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum) from the persons to whom such excess has been paid:

Provided that every such suit shall be instituted within not more than three months from the date of the Collector's award.

Valuation of suits and determination of jurisdiction.

22. (1) For the purposes of the Court-fees Act, 1870, the value of a suit to alter the award of the Collector by the enhancement or reduction of the compensation awarded by him shall be taken to be the sum by which it is sought to enhance or reduce such compensation, as the case may be; and the value of a suit to alter the apportionment, made by the Collector, of the compensation among the persons interested shall be taken to be the total amount of the compensation.

(2) For the purpose of determining the jurisdiction of Courts with respect thereto, the value of a suit instituted under this Part shall be taken to be the total amount of the compensation awarded by the Collector.

Transfer of suits.

"23. The Court may transfer for trial any suit instituted under this Part to any Court subordinate to itself, and competent to try the same in respect of its nature, and of the amount or value of its subject-matter:

Provided that, except under the written permission of the Local Government, no such suit shall be transferred for trial to any Court which is not stationed at the head-quarter station of the land-revenue district in which the land is situated.

"Such written permission may be either general or special, and may at any time be annulled by the Local Government.

Matters to be considered in determining compensation.

"24. In a suit to alter the amount of compensation awarded by the Collector, the Court which tries the suit shall take into consideration—

First, the market-value of the land at the date of the publication of the declaration relating thereto under section 6;

Secondly, the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested, at the time of the Collector's taking possession of the land, by reason of severing such land from his other land;

Thirdly, the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested, at the time of the Collector's taking possession of the land, by reason of the acquisition injuriously affecting his other property, whether moveable or immoveable, in any other manner, or his earnings; and Fourthly, if, in consequence of the acquisition of the land by the Collector, the person interested is compelled to change his residence or place of business, the reasonable expenses (if any) incidental to such change.

Explanation.—By 'market-value' is meant the sum for which the land might reasonably have been expected to have been sold, if put up to auction on the spot, without undue haste and under ordinary circumstances, immediately before the publication of the declaration relating thereto under section 6.

Matters to be neglected in determining compensation.

"25. But in such a suit the Court which tries the suit shall not take into consideration—

First, the degree of urgency which has led to the acquisition;

Secondly, any disinclination of the person interested to part with the land acquired;

Thirdly, any damage sustained by him which, if caused by a private person, would not render such person liable to a suit;

Fourthly, any damage which, after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6, is likely to be caused to the land by or in consequence of the use to which the land acquired will be put;

Fifthly, any increase to the value of the land acquired likely to accrue from the use to which it will be put when acquired;

Sixthly, any increase to the value of the other land of the person interested likely to accrue from the use to which the land acquired will be put; or

Seventhly, any outlay or improvements on the land acquired commenced, made or effected after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6.

"26. The decree in a suit to alter the amount of compensation awarded by the Collector shall state—

Matters to be stated in decree.

First, the sum which, in the opinion of the Court which tries the suit, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation; and

Secondly, the sum or sums which, after the addition to the said sum of fifteen per centum on the market-value of the land mentioned in section 24, shall be paid by, or to, the plaintiff or plaintiffs, or any of them, to, or by, the defendant or defendants, or any of them.

"27. (1) If the sum which, in the opinion of the Court which tries the suit, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation, is in excess of the sum which the Collector did award as compensation, the decree may direct that the Collector shall pay interest on such excess at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date on which he took possession of the land to the date of payment of such excess into Court.

Collector may be directed to pay interest on excess compensation.

(2) The decree shall not otherwise direct that the Collector shall pay interest, save under section 222 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

XIV of 1882.

28. Save in so far as inconsistent with anything contained in this Act, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply to suits instituted under ths Part.

Code of Civil Procedure to apply.

XIV of 1882.

"29. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from the decree, or from any part of the decree, in any suit instituted under this Part, of a judicial officer appointed by the Local Government under section 3, either specially for any case, or generally within any special local limits, to perform the functions of a Judge under this Act, against whose decisions no appeal lies under any law for the time being in force relating to his exercise of his ordinary jurisdiction."

Appeals in certain cases.

11 Part IV of the said Act is hereby repealed.

Repeal of Part IV of said Act.

12. For Part V of the said Act, the following shall be substituted:—

Substitution of new Part for Part V of said Act.

"PART V.

"PAYMENT.

"40. On making an award under section 11, the Collector shall tender payment of the compensation awarded by him to the persons interested entitled thereto according to the award, and shall pay it to them if they shall consent to receive it:

Payment of compensation to whom to be made.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any person, who may receive the whole or any part of any compensation awarded under this Act, to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto.

"41. (1) In addition to the amount of any compensation awarded under Part II, the Collector shall, in consideration of the compulsory nature of the acquisition, pay fifteen per centum on the market-value mentioned in section 24.

Percentage on market-value.

(2) When the amount of such compensation is not paid or payment thereof tendered on or before taking possession of the land, the Collector shall pay the amount awarded and the said percentage with interest on such amount and percentage at the rate of six per centum per annum from the time of so taking possession."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

FOR several years past the amendment of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, has been under consideration by the Government of India in communication with Local Governments.

2. Before the passing of that Act, the valuation of the lands, which it was found necessary to take up for the execution of public works, was entirely in the hands of Arbitrators, from whose decision there was no appeal. This system led to a lamentable waste of the public money, both because the Arbitrators were incompetent, and sometimes, it is to be feared, corrupt, and also because the law, as it then stood, laid down no instructions for their guidance in the performance of their duties. This latter defect among others, was remedied by the Act of 1870, which it is now proposed to amend, and which contains detailed instructions as to the matters which are to be considered, and which are to be neglected, in awards of compensation for lands acquired under its provisions The Act of 1870 also provided for the abolition of the system under which uncontrolled discretion was entrusted to Arbitrators; and, in lieu thereof, required the Collector, when unable to come to terms with the persons interested in land which it was desired to take up, to refer the difference for the decision of a Civil Court, usually that of the District Judge In the disposal of such references, the Court is aided by Assessors, and its finding is final if the Judge and one or more of the Assessors agree. If, however, the Judge and the Assessors disagree an appeal is allowed, which usually lies to the High Court.

3. The Act of 1870 has not, in practice, been found entirely effective for the protection either of the persons interested in lands taken up or of the public purse. The requirement that the Collector shall refer for the decision of the Court every petty difference of opinion as to value, and every case in which any one of perhaps a large number of persons fails to attend before him, has involved in litigation, with all its trouble and delay and expense, a great number of persons whose interest in the land was extremely insignificant. It has, in fact, frequently been the case that the owners of small pieces of land have had to pay Court costs to an amount far exceeding the value of the land itself.

4. On the other hand, the provisions of the Act as to the incidence of costs, the whole of which fall on the Collector if the final award is ever so little in excess of the amount of his tender, are such as to encourage extravagant and speculative claims. The chance of altogether escaping the payment of costs is so great, that claimants are in the position of risking very little in order to gain very much, and have, therefore, every motive to refuse even liberal offers made by the Collector, and to try their luck by compelling a reference to the Court. Much the same may be said as to the provisions of the existing law regarding the payment of interest. No matter how fair the original offer of the Collector and how groundless the refusal to accept the compensation he has tendered, interest is payable on the amount of the award finally arrived at from the date of the Collector's taking possession of the land. This may be for a period of two or three years, and, as interest continues to run until the litigation is finally completed, it is to the advantage of the landowner to protract the proceedings to the utmost. All this casts a very heavy and undeserved burden on the public purse.

5. It is proposed, therefore, to amend the law by making the Collector's award final, unless altered by the decree in a regular suit. Persons interested in land taken up for public works will thus still have the opportunity, if they desire it, of preferring to an authority quite independent of the Collector their claims to more substantial compensation than the Collector has awarded; and will in all cases have a further right of appeal to the regular appellate courts. They will no longer, however, be encouraged to litigate by the feeling that they can hardly lose, but may make a great gain by doing so.

6. This change in the procedure for determining the valuation of lands taken up for public works will also render it possible to dispense with the services of the Assessors, who are now supposed to assist the Court. Considering the difficulty, almost throughout the country, of obtaining the services of such Assessors as are really qualified to form a sound opinion on the subject of the valuation of land, it is believed that the proposal to dispense with them, and to leave the matter to the sole arbitrament, first of the Collector, and then of the Judge, will in no way diminish the efficiency of the Courts in enquiries in which the value of lands is in issue. It will certainly tend to shorten litigation and to diminish its expense.

7. Several minor amendments in the law, which experience has shown to be desirable, are included in the Bill.

8. A copy of the Act of 1870, as it will stand if amended as proposed by the Bill, is annexed.

When Collector may be cited.

XIV of 1882.

Deposit by Collector and disposal of amount of compensation.

20. (1) On receipt of a summons under section 64 of the Code of Civil Procedure to appear as a defendant or of a notice of the institution of a suit under section 19 (2), the Collector shall, within fourteen days, deposit in the Court the compensation awarded by him together with a further sum amounting to 15 per centum on the market-value mentioned in section 24, or so much of the said sums as shall not already have been paid to persons interested under Part V.

(2) If the suit is solely to enhance the compensation awarded by the Collector, the Court which tries the suit may deal with the sums so deposited under the provisions of section 377 (but not of sections 378 and 379) of the Code of Civil Procedure; but

(3) If the suit is also, or solely, to alter the apportionment, made by the Collector, of the compensation among the persons interested, the Court shall retain the sums so deposited pending the decision of the suit, and shall then pay them to the parties in such proportions as may be ordered by the decree; and for this purpose may transfer them to the Court which tries the suit

Provided that, if the Court which tries the suit shall decide that the compensation awarded by the Collector was in excess of the compensation which should properly have been awarded for the land, the said Court shall in its decree order that the plaintiff shall refund to the Collector any sum which, either under Part V or under section 377 of the Code of Civil Procedure, he may have been paid in excess of the sum which the said Court shall decide to be the compensation which should properly have been awarded for the land; and such excess so paid shall be recoverable by the Collector as costs in the suit.

Suit by Government to alter the Collector's award or for refund of compensation.

21. If the Local Government shall be of opinion that the compensation awarded by the Collector is excessive, it may institute a suit in the Court against the persons interested, on any one or more of them, either to alter the award of the Collector by the reduction of the compensation awarded by him, if the amount so awarded (including the additional sum of fifteen per centum directed to be paid by section 41), or so much thereof as is not in excess of the sum which the Local Government admits to be the proper compensation for the land (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum) has not been paid to the persons interested; or,

If the amount of the award (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum), or any portion thereof in excess of the sum which the Local Government admits to be the proper compensation for the land (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum) has been paid to persons interested, to recover the excess of such amount, or portion thereof, as the case may be, over the total of the sum which the Local Government admits to be the proper compensation for the land (including the said additional sum of fifteen per centum) from the persons to whom such excess has been paid:

Provided that every such suit shall be instituted within not more than three months from the date of the Collector's award.

Valuation of suits and determination of jurisdiction.

22. (1) For the purposes of the Court-fees Act, 1870, the value of a suit to alter the award of the Collector by the enhancement or reduction of the compensation awarded by him shall be taken to be the sum by which it is sought to enhance or reduce such compensation, as the case may be; and the value of a suit to alter the apportionment, made by the Collector, of the compensation among the persons interested, shall be taken to be the total amount of the compensation. VII of 1870.

(2) For the purpose of determining the jurisdiction of Courts with respect thereto, the value of a suit instituted under this Part shall be taken to be the total amount of the compensation awarded by the Collector.

Transfer of suits.

23. The Court may transfer for trial any suit instituted under this Part to any Court subordinate to itself, and competent to try the same in respect of its nature, and of the amount or value of its subject-matter:

Provided that, except under the written permission of the Local Government, no such suit shall be transferred for trial to any Court which is not stationed at the head-quarter station of the land-revenue district in which the land is situated.

Such written permission may be either general or special and may at any time be annulled by the Local Government.

Matters to be considered in determining compensation.

24. In a suit to alter the amount of compensation awarded by the Collector, the Court which tries the suit shall take into consideration—

First the market-value of the land at the date of the publication of the declaration relating thereto under section 6;

Secondly, the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested, at the time of the Collector's taking possession of the land, by reason of severing such land from his other land;

Thirdly, the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested, at the time of the Collector's taking possession of the land, by reason of the acquisition injuriously affecting his other property, whether moveable or immoveable, in any other manner, or his earnings; and Fourthly, if, in consequence of the acquisition of the land by the Collector, the person interested is compelled to change his residence or place of business, the reasonable expenses (if any) incidental to such change.

Explanation.—By 'market-value' is meant the sum for which the land might reasonably have been expected to have been sold, if put up to auction on the spot, without undue haste and under ordinary circumstances, immediately before the publication of the declaration relating thereto under section 6.

Matters to be neglected in determining compensation.

25. But in such a suit the Court which tries the suit shall not take into consideration—

First, the degree of urgency which has led to the acquisition;

Secondly, any disinclination of the person interested to part with the land acquired;

Thirdly, any damage sustained by him which, if caused by a private person, would not render such person liable to a suit;

Fourthly, any damage which, after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6, is likely to be caused to the land by or in consequence of the use to which the land acquired will be put;

Fifthly, any increase to the value of the land acquired likely to accrue from the use to which it will be put when acquired;

Sixthly, any increase to the value of the other land of the person interested likely to accrue from the use to which the land acquired will be put; or

Seventhly, any outlay or improvements on the land acquired commenced, made or effected after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6.

Matters to be stated in decree.

26 The decree in a suit to alter the amount of compensation awarded by the Collector shall state—

First, the sum which, in the opinion of the Court which tries the suit, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation; and

Secondly, the sum or sums which, after the addition to the said sum of fifteen per centum on the market-value of the land mentioned in section 24, shall be paid by, or to, the plaintiff or plaintiffs, or any of them, to, or by, the defendant or defendants, or any of them.

Collector may be directed to pay interest on excess compensation

27. (1) If the sum which, in the opinion of the Court which tries the suit, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation, is in excess of the sum which the Collector did award as compensation the decree may direct that the Collector shall pay interest on such excess at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date on which he took possession of the land to the date of payment of such excess into Court.

(2) The decree shall not otherwise direct that the Collector shall pay interest, save under section 222 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

XIV of 1882.

Code of Civil Procedure to apply.

28. Save in so far as inconsistent with anything contained in this Act, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply to suits instituted under this Part.

XIV of 1882.

Appeals in certain cases.

29. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from the decree, or from any part of the decree, in any suit instituted under this Part, of a Judicial Officer appointed by the Local Government under section 3, either specially for any case or generally within any special local limits, to perform the functions of a Judge under this Act, against whose decisions no appeal lies under any law for the time being in force relating to his exercise of his ordinary jurisdiction.

PART V.

Percentage on market-value.

41. (1) In addition to the amount of any compensation awarded under Part II, the Collector shall, in consideration of the compulsory nature of the acquisition, pay fifteen per centum on the market-value mentioned in section 24.

(2) When the amount of such compensation is not paid or payment thereof tendered on or before taking possesssion of the land, the Collector shall pay the amount awarded and the said percentage with interest on such amount and percentage at the rate of six per centum per annum from the time of so taking possession.

PART VI.

TEMPORARY OCCUPATION OF LAND.

Temporary occupation of waste or arable land.

43. Subject to the provisions of Part VII of this Act, whenever it appears to the Local Government that the temporary occupation and use of any waste or arable land are needed for any public purpose, or for a Company, the Local Government may direct the Collector to procure the occupation and use of the same for such term as it shall think fit, not exceeding three years from the commencement of such occupation.

The Collector shall thereupon give notice in writing to the persons interested in such land of the purpose for which the same is needed, and shall, for the occupation and use thereof for such term as aforesaid, and for the materials (if any) to be taken therefrom, pay to them such compensation, either in a gross sum of money, or by monthly or other periodical payments, as shall be agreed upon in writing between him and such persons respectively.

And, on the expiration of the term, the Collector shall make or tender to the persons interested compensation for the damage (if any) done to the land and not provided for by the agreement, and shall restore the land to the persons interested therein:

Provided that, if the land has become permanently unfit to be used for the purpose for which it was used immediately before the commencement of such term, and if the persons interested shall so require, the Local Government shall proceed under this Act to acquire the land as if it was needed permanently for a public purpose or for a Company.

Difference as to condition of land.

45. In case the Collector and persons interested differ as to the condition of the land at the expiration of the term, or as to any matter connected with the said agreement, the Collector shall refer such difference for the final order of the Court.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, MARINE DEPARTMENT.

No. 23Mne., dated Calcutta, the 15th March 1892.

THE following report of the 18th quarterly inspection of the Dock Works at Kidderpore which are being carried out by the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. ODLING,

Joint-Secretary.

QUARTERLY INSPECTION OF KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

Dated Calcutta, the 8th March 1892.

From—LIEUT.-COL. A. D. MCARTHUR, R.E., and J. D. DAVIS, ESQ.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

AGREEABLY to the orders of the Government of Bengal received with the Under-Secretary's letter No. 495M. of the 24th February 1892, we have the honour to report that the inspection of the Kidderpore Dock Works for the quarter ending 31st December 1891 was made by us on the 3rd instant.

Sixty-feet Lock.—The small quantity of work on the jetties at the head of the lock which remained to be done last quarter is practically completed.

Eighty-feet Entrance.—The jetty heads of this work, of which mention was made in the last report, have been finished.

Double Entrance to Dock No. 1.—Complete, as previously reported.

Tidal Basin.—Dredging to full depth between entrances and dock is now complete.

Dock No. 1.—The additional works rendered necessary by the displacement of the walls reported during the quarter ending 30th September 1890, have been completed, and nothing now remains to be carried out except the dredging of the earth berms left at the foot of the walls.

Graving Dock.—The finishing work in connection with the engine-house for this dock has been completed, and the work is now finished in every respect.

Addition to the Hydraulic Engine-house for Electric light Engines.—Buildings finished and erection of electric plant completed and tested with satisfactory results.

Dock Sheds.—The four sheds to the west side which were erected during last quarter have been roofed in, and satisfactory progress made with the two to the east side. It is expected that these will be completed shortly.

Works generally.—Nothing remained to prevent the dock being used except to dredge the base of the dams outside the Chetla lock and sluice and the dredging of the berms against the walls of the dock.

Expenditure.—The total expenditure up to the end of the quarter under review is reported to be Rs. 2,50,57,552-4-5, of which Rs. 2,24,77,092-10-9 represent outlay on works and Rs. 25,80,459-9-8 on account of land.

During the quarter under review the health of the workpeople was fair. The daily average number of workmen employed was 3,914, among whom there were 5·6 per cent. deaths, thus showing a death-rate of 17·93 per mille per annum.

Remarks.—We consider that the progress on the works in hand during the last quarter was satisfactory, and that, so far as we could judge, the quality of the work done was all that could be desired, promising completion at a very early date.

* Means of 5 days. | † Means for 4 days. | ‡ Mean for 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The variations are negative when the mean of the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head district observations of rainfall the normal means are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the ten years. The means of the district are the numerical average of the rainfall return received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the sub-divisional part stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

Explanation.— indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 15*th March* 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 12TH OF MARCH 1892.

On the last day of the previous week a feeble barometric depression had passed away in an entirely direction from Bengal. Dry westerly and north-westerly winds then set in over the province which were accompanied by increasing pressure, falling temperature, and a rapid decrease in the humidity, and the air at many stations had become unusually dry. On the 6th, pressure continued to increase rapidly, and there had been a rapid fall in the temperature, the decrease in the mean temperature at some stations equalling as much as from 7° to 9°. Humidity also continued low, though the air was not so dry as on the 5th, and a steady westerly wind current was reported at almost all stations. On the 7th pressure began to give way slowly, but temperature again fell, and the mean temperature over the whole province became about 6° or 7° below the normal of the day, and the defect in the night temperature in some cases exceeded 10°. The changes on the 8th were unimportant, and pressure was generally falling slowly, while temperature was increasing rather briskly. On the 9th, temperature again rose moderately, and pressure was almost steady over the greater part of the province, but it had become comparatively somewhat low in the north of the province, and hence there was a tendency for southerly winds to set in over the greater part of the province. Almost precisely similar conditions obtained on the 10th, and on the 11th pressure was falling moderately to rather rapidly and had become below the normal, the defect ranging up to more than a tenth of an inch in North Bengal. Temperature had also generally risen and had become above the normal by small amounts, while on the 12th a further moderate fall of pressure occurred, and pressure became in defect by amounts ranging from a tenth up to a sixth of an inch in parts of North Bengal, while a further increase of temperature had occurred, and the mean temperature had become generally from about 2° to 5° above the normal. Winds, however, on this day were strongly westerly over the whole province, and hence humidity continued low at most stations

Throughout the whole week, therefore, weather has again been fine over the entire province and the whole province has been rainless.

Pressure—Has been below the normal in all districts, but the defects have been comparatively small in the south-western districts, where they do not as a rule exceed 0·03″ or 0·04.″ They have, on the other hand, been largest in North Bengal and North Bihár, and at such stations as Bogra and Dinajpur they exceed 0·08″, while in the higher strata of the air, as at Darjeeling, the defect has been reported to be 0·102″.

Temperature—Was unusually low for the season during the first part of the week, but it became again above the normal at its close. For the whole week the mean temperature of the province has been 2° below the normal, but the defects have been largest in South-West and East Bengal, where they have averaged nearly 3°.

The variation of temperature for the week is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. It will be seen that the maximum or day temperatures have been fairly normal, but that the night temperatures have been largely in defect, the deficiency at Calcutta equalling 8·2° and at Cuttack, Dacca, Burdwan, and Purnea exceeding 6°:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Lorna shoals consist of two small patches, 9 cables apart, in a north-east and south-west direction, with 24 feet water on each over sand and shells. There are depths of 6 to 9 fathoms between the patches, and 11 to 12 fathoms around. The sea does not break on the shoals except during strong winds.

MOLUCCA PASSAGE.

Non-existence of Bahia reef.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 23 of 1892) of an unsuccessful search having been made in that vessel for Bahia reef, reported as lying in about lat. 1° 10′ S., long. 126° 50′ E. A sounding of 2,530 fathoms over dark green mud was obtained precisely in the above mentioned position, and similar depths were found in the vicinity.

This, in conjunction with the unsuccessful search for the danger made by H. M. Surveying vessel Flying Fish in 1885, and the very doubtful origin of the report, may be taken as disproving its existence. Bahia reef has therefore been expunged from the Admiralty Charts.

Decreased depths reported within a certain area—Gulf of Martaban.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 31 of 1892), issued by the British Admiralty, is republished:—

Information has been received through Commander R. F. Hoskyn, R.N., in charge of India Marine Survey, that within the area comprised (approximately) between lat. 15° and 15° 30′ N., long 96° and 97° E., the soundings are reported to be considerably less than heretofore shown on the Admiralty charts. Shoals in Lawada approach.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 32 of 1892) of the existence of two shoals lying in the approach to Lawada (Lehadu) from the north-eastward. These shoals, apparently composed of sand and coral, circular in shape and about 5 cables in diameter, with 2 fathoms the least water found on them, and 11 fathoms between them, lie about 5 cables apart in a north-west and south-east direction.

The north-west shoal lies with Conical hill bearing approximately S. 9° W., and Coast hill S. 50° W., distant 10¼ miles, or in about lat. 11° 32¼′ N., long. 43° 19¾′ E.

NOTE.—It is stated that the soundings in the vicinity of the above-mentioned shoals are incorrect, there being in many places 8 fathoms less water than shown on the Admiralty charts.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th March, 1892:—

NO. 7 OF 1892.

A Bill to amend the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, and the Code of Civil Procedure.

XV of 1877. XIV of 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, and the Code of Civil Procedure; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

XV of 1877.

Addition of new section after section 5, Act XV of 1877.

1. After section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, the following section shall be added, namely:—

Limitation for certain appeals or applications for review of judgment.

"5A. Whenever it is shown to the satisfaction of a Court that an appeal or an application for a review of judgment was presented after the expiration of the period of limitation prescribed for such appeal or application owing to the appellant or applicant at the time when he presented such appeal or application having been misled by any then unrepealed order, or then existing practice or judgment not then overruled of the High Court of the Presidency, Province or District, such appeal or application, if otherwise in accordance with law, shall for all purposes be deemed by all Courts to have been presented within the period of limitation prescribed therefor."

XIV of 1882.

Addition of new section to Chapter XXII of Code of Civil Procedure.

2. To Chapter XXII of the Code of Civil Procedure the following section shall be added, namely:—

Applications for execution of decrees not affected.

"375A. Nothing in this Chapter shall apply to any application or other proceeding in any suit subsequent to the decree.

"Explanation.—An application to the Appellate Court pending an appeal is not an application subsequent to the decree within the meaning of this section."

Addition of new section after section 582 of said Code.

3. After section 582 of the said Code the following section shall be added, namely:—

Validation of certain memoranda of appeals or applications for review of judgment.

"582A. If a memorandum of appeal or application for a review of judgment has been presented within the proper period of limitation, but is written upon paper insufficiently stamped and the insufficiency of the stamp was caused by a mistake on the part of the appellant or applicant as to the amount of the requisite stamp, the memorandum of appeal or application shall have the same effect and be as valid as if it had been properly stamped: Provided that such appeal or application shall be rejected unless the appellant or applicant supplies the requisite stamp within a reasonable time after the discovery of the mistake, to be fixed by the Court."

Addition to section 647 of said Code.

4. To section 647 of the said Code the following shall be added, namely:—

"Explanation.—This section does not apply to applications for the execution of decrees, which are proceedings in suits."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the case of Bechi v. Ahsanullah Khan, 12 All. 461, the North-Western Provinces High Court held, in accordance with the practice of the High Court at Madras, that under section 12 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, in computing "the time . . . . requisite for obtaining a copy of the decree" the Court ought not to include time which had passed before the application for a copy was made, even though the decree had not then been in fact drawn up or signed. Up to the date of this decision the practice of the Court, following that of the High Court at Calcutta, had been different, and the effect of the decision was to rule out of time several appeals which were in time according to the then practice of the Court, at the time when they were presented.

The first section of the Bill is designed to prevent the occurrence of a similar hardship in future.

2. Sections 2 and 4 of the Bill are intended to meet a conflict of opinion which has arisen between the High Court of Allahabad on one side and the High Courts of Calcutta and Bombay on the other as to the interpretation of section 647 of the Code of Civil Procedure. The Allahabad High Court have held (I. L. R. 12 All. 392) that that section makes the provisions of Chapter XXII of the Code applicable to proceedings in execution of decree. The contrary view has been taken by the High Court of Bombay (I. L. R. 10 Bom. 62) and by the High Court of Calcutta (I. L. R. 18 Cal. 462, 515). Section 2 of the Bill declares that the provisions in question are not to apply to proceedings after decree, and section 4 limits the operation of section 647 of the Code in accordance with the opinions expressed by the High Courts of Calcutta and Bombay.

3. In the case of Balkaran Rai v. Gobind Nath Tiwari (I. L. R. 12 All. 129) it was held by the High Court of Allahabad that a memorandum of appeal cannot be filed or recorded in, or received by, a Court unless and until the proper court-fee is paid in respect of it, and is of no validity unless and until it is properly stamped. Consequently, if it is not, when tendered, properly stamped, it is not at that time a memorandum of appeal within the meaning of section 541 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the appeal cannot be regarded as having been at that time presented within the meaning of section 4 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, or as valid for any other purpose except in the events specified in section 28 of the Court-fees Act.

The Government of India are of opinion that when the insufficiency of the stamp is caused by a bonâ fide mistake on the part of the appellant as to the value of the court-fee stamp required it ought to be obligatory on the Courts to admit the appeal; provided that, if the deficiency is not made good within a reasonable time after the mistake has been discovered, the appeal should then be rejected.

IMPROVEMENT OF SANSKRIT TOLS IN BENGAL:

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 21*st March* 1892.

RESOLUTION No. 857.

READ the following papers on the subject of Sanskrit tols in Bengal:—

Letter from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 6726, dated the 5th December 1890.

Letter to the Director of Public Instruction, No. 24, dated the 12th January 1891.

Letter from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 9, dated the 17th January 1892, and its enclosure, from Mahamahopádhyáya Mahesa Chandra Nyáyaratna, C.I.E., Principal of the Sanskrit College, Calcutta.

The Principal of the Sanskrit College was deputed, under the orders of this Government, on a tour of inspection of Sanskrit tols in Bengal, the object of the inspection being to ascertain by personal enquiry which of the tols in the districts visited by him have the highest reputation, to report all necessary details regarding those tols, and, on the completion of his investigation, to submit recommendations for the encouragement of teachers and pupils at these institutions.

2. The report since received contains many interesting details regarding the constitution of the tols, the course of studies pursued in them, and the special characteristics which distinguish those of Bengal, Bihár, and Orissa. In the Province of Bihár, which Pandit Mahesa Chandra Nyáyaratna first visited, Sanskrit studies are, it is reported, at a low level. There is greater irregularity in the working of the tols in this particular portion of the Province than in other parts, owing to the greater poverty of the Bihár pandits, which compels them to go about visiting wealthy people and receiving gifts from them, to the necessary interruption of their work of teaching. It is not that gifts are not made to pandits in Bihár by noblemen and other wealthy people, but that such gifts, not being so systematic as they are in Bengal, afford the Bihár pandits less help than the Bengal pandits receive. Most of the Rajas of Bihár maintain, however, certain tols in their own towns, paying regular salaries to the pandits, and in some cases allowing free board also to the students. The Maharaja of Darbhanga already spends annually a large sum on the support of Sanskrit studies, and on the occasion of the visit of Pandit Mahesa Chandra Nyáyaratna he further signified his desire to establish a Sanskrit College at Darbhanga, and to make it a centre for the Title Examination. Associations have also been established in several places in Bihár with a view to promoting Sanskrit studies.

3. Of the three districts of the Orissa Division, Balasore has no tols. There are several in the Puri district and a few in Cuttack. The Jajpur subdivision of the latter differs greatly from the rest of the province in the matter of Sanskrit learning. It has long been noted as a Sanskrit centre. Vedic ceremonies have obtained here for many ages, there being even now two "Agnihotri" Brahmans who observe the "Agnihotra" ceremony, i.e., keep the fire which was lighted at their birth perpetually burning, and perform the Homa ceremony with this fire morning and evening. This will continue till the death of each, when his cremation pile will be lighted from the fire so maintained. The Principal reports that in Orissa Sanskrit learning is at a lower level even than in Bihár, but that the institution of the Title Examination has given some impetus to the study of Sanskrit literature; that those who obtain titles on the result of this examination are held in honour in the province; and that the possession of a title is a passport also to employment in Government and private schools. The Puri and Dhenkanal Sanskrit Pathsalas alone send up candidates to the Title Examination. The rules in connection with the Title Examination are little known in the Province, except at Puri and Dhenkanal, and this, together with the absence of any local systems of examination, such as exist in Bengal and Bihár, operates prejudicially in the Province. The present low ebb of Sanskrit teaching in Orissa is the more to be regretted, as it appears that in old times pandits were very liberally patronised by the Rajas, so much so that they received numerous rent-free grants of villages, certain parts of which were marked out for the exclusive residence of Brahman families devoted to the practice of religious rites or to the cultivation of Sanskrit learning.

At Puri, besides the Sanskrit pathsala, there are maths and tols, where Sanskrit teaching is carried on. A "math" is properly a convent of monks presided over by a Swámi or Mahant, the Swámi being absolute ruler of the math and owner of its property; but in the course of time the maths in Orissa have become places of instruction for students of Sanskrit.

The report notices as a peculiar feature of a few of the tols in the Puri district that, contrary to the inherent principle of a tol, the pandits, so far from teaching, lodging and boarding their pupils free, receive trifling fees of one, two or even three annas a month from each of the students.

4. In the Province of Bengal, which has always been especially celebrated for the study of the Nyáya philosophy, the renowned seats of Sanskrit learning are Nadia, Bikrampur, Bakla Chandradwip, Tribeni, Bhatpara, and Khanakul-Krishnagar. In Bengal, as a rule, pandits lodge and feed their pupils, the practice of old being for zamindars to make grants in perpetuity of rent-free land to pandits noted for their learning. It was mainly rent-free land that enabled pandits to support their families and bear, besides, the expense of free lodging and boarding for their pupils. Grants of rent-free lands have now to a great extent gone out of fashion, and have almost entirely ceased. Money contributions or gifts of rice to tol pandits continue to be regularly made by some patrons of Sanskrit learning, though such instances also are said to be at the present time few in number. The resources of pandits consist now chiefly of gifts called viddya, received from wealthy people of good caste, at sráddhas, marriages, the consecration of temples and tanks, return from pilgrimages, &c. Of late also certain patrons of Sanskrit learning have established institutions for the prosecution of Sanskrit studies, in which the teachers receive fixed salaries and the pupils receive stipends. The tols of Nadia, originally brought into being by royal initiative and long maintained by royal patronage, came to be maintained by Hindu zamindars after the Musalman conquest of the land. Owing, however, to the steady decline in Nadia, as elsewhere in Bengal, of grants of rent-free land and money gifts by Hindu zamindars and other wealthy Hindus, the numbers both of tols and pupils in that place have been gradually diminishing.

5. Besides the tols, there are institutions, religious and secular, managed either by local associations or by individual patrons, that have been engaged in promoting the study of Sanskrit. Twenty such institutions exist already in Bihár, five in Bengal, and one in Orissa. Of these five are examining Associations, namely (1) the Dacca Sárasvat Samaj; (2) the Bihár Sanskrit Sanjivan; (3) the Boaliya Dharma Sabha; (4) the Nadia College of Pandits; and (5) the Bhatpara Pariksha Samaj. All these Associations are said to have promised co-operation in any measures that may be taken by Government for the improvement of tols and the encouragement of Sanskrit learning; and in the following scheme it is proposed to make use of some or all of these associations, as well as of others that may hereafter be established with an approved organization, in holding examinations and in distributing rewards in accordance with the results

6. With a view to the revival of Sanskrit study in these indigenous tols, specific proposals have been made by Mahamahopádhyáya Mahesa Chandra Nyáyaratna and approved by the Director of Public Instruction, which may be classified as follows:—

First—A provision for large salaries or stipends (non-pensionable) to the teachers of a few selected tols or other institutions for the study of Sanskrit; and

Second—A system of rewards in the form of small stipends to be awarded annually to teachers and pupils on the results of periodical examinations; the stipends to teachers being tenable for one year, and those to pupils for two years, a term which may be extended to three years in the case of Nyáya students.

7. The details of the proposals under the first and second heads are as follows:—

First head.	Total per annum. Rs.
Three stipends to Nadia tols, at Rs. 100, Rs. 60, and Rs. 50 a month	2,520
One stipend at Revilganj at Rs. 40	480
Ditto at Puri, Rs. 30	360
	3,360

Second head. (a) Rewards to teachers.	Rs.
Stipends to 20 teachers on the results of the first examination, at Rs. 6 a month each, and 20 teachers at Rs. 8 a month each ...	3,360
Stipends to 15 teachers on the results of the second examination, at Rs. 10 each a month, and 15 teachers at Rs. 12 each a month	3,960
Total ...	7,320

(b) Rewards to pupils.	Annual cost. Rs.
On the results of the first examination, stipends to 100 pupils at Rs. 2 a month each	2,400
On the results of the second examination, stipends to 30 pupils at Rs. 3 a month each, and 30 pupils at Rs. 4 a month each...	2,520
	4,920

Of the grants included under the first head, it is suggested that the first and third of the Nadia stipends, as well as the stipends proposed for Revilganj and Puri, should be allotted to tols which devote themselves especially to the study of Nyáya, while the second of the Nadia stipends (Rs. 60) is intended for a tol in which Smriti (Hindu law) is the main study.

8. The present sanctioned expenditure amounts to Rs. 3,400, thus made up—

	Rs.
Allowance to tol students at Nadia, at Rs. 200 a month ...	2,400
Grant to Dacca Sarasvat Samaj	500
Grant to Bihár Sanskrit Sanjivan	500

Of this amount it is asked that the first item may be continued, on the understanding that payments are in future made only to students of Nyáya and Smriti not resident in the town of Navadwip or its neighbourhood; but it is agreed that the second and third items may cease on sanction being accorded to the proposals formulated in the preceding paragraph. The total expenditure will therefore amount to Rs. 18,000 a year (Rs. 3,360 + Rs. 7,320 + Rs. 4,920 + Rs. 2,400), or Rs. 14,600 in excess of the present expenditure.

9. The Lieutenant-Governor has read with much interest the report of Pandit Mahesa Chandra Nyáyaratna and of the Director of Public Instruction on the subject of Sanskrit tols in Lower Bengal, and desires that the thanks of Government may be conveyed to the Pandit. As regards financial provision for carrying out the proposals, the Lieutenant-Governor directs that in addition to the allowance of Rs. 200 a month now paid to tol students at Nadia, the following arrangements shall be made:—

(a) Five stipends to tols, costing Rs. 3,360, will be awarded during the year 1892-93, the cost being met from savings in the Education Budget for that year.

(b) During the year 1892-93, on the result of examinations conducted by the recognised Associations, the whole of the rewards to teachers and one-half of the rewards to pupils will be awarded, i.e. Rs. 7,320 plus half of Rs. 4,920, or Rs. 9,780. This sum will have to be paid in the year 1893-94, so that in that year there will be required Rs. 3,360 plus Rs. 9,780, or Rs. 13,140.

(c) In 1893-94, examinations will again be held by the Associations for rewards to teachers and the remaining half of the rewards to pupils, and in 1894-95—

	Rs.
A provision will have to be made for	13,140
And the rest of the rewards to pupils	2,460
	15,600

(d) Provision should be made in due course in the Education Budgets of the years 1893-94 and 1894-95 for the additional sums of Rs. 13,140 and Rs. 15,600, that is, for a total expenditure of Rs. 18,000 in the latter year.

10. The Director of Public Instruction will be desired to submit hereafter for the orders of Government a scheme for the distribution of the rewards for teachers and pupils among the different Associations of the province, to be by them awarded, for 1893-94 and subsequent years, on the results of the examinations held by them. The Director will also be requested to settle, in communication with the Principal of the Sanskrit College and the local Associations, the subjects and standards of the different examinations, and the centres at which they are to be held.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor desires also to invite the co-operation and support of the wealthy nobility and gentry in Bengal in the furtherance of the study of Sanskrit, which the Government is anxious to encourage by the means above described.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information and guidance, and for communication to Pandit Mahesa Chandra Nyáyaratna, and also to the Financial Department of this Office.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 9, dated Calcutta, the 17th January 1892.

From—SIR ALFRED CROFT, K.C.I.E., Director of Public Instruction, Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

IN continuation of my No. 6745, dated the 3rd December 1891, I have the honour to submit the accompanying report by Mahámahopádhyáya Mahes Chandra Nyáyaratna, C.I.E., Principal of the Sanskrit College, Calcutta, communicating the results of the inspection of Sanskrit tols throughout Bengal, which he was instructed to undertake in Mr. Maude's letter No. 24, dated the 12th January 1891. The supplementary instructions which I issued to the Pandit in accordance with those orders were submitted to Government with my letter No. 434, dated the 22nd January 1891.

2. The report contains many interesting details, hitherto unpublished, regarding the constitution of the tols, the course of studies pursued in them, and the special characteristics which distinguish the tols of Bengal, of Bihar, and of Orissa. A full account is given of the various associations, religious or secular, which have been established in recent years for the promotion of Sanskrit study; of the Sanskrit schools maintained by these associations as well as by individual patrons of learning; of the examinations conducted by them, either independently of or in subordination to the Sanskrit Title examination held annually in Calcutta and other centres; and of the effect of such examinations in maintaining and stimulating the systematic study of Sanskrit. The newly-formed association known as the "Nadiya College of Pandits," the declared object of which is to combine the schools and studies of Nadiya into an organised institution, comes in for some candid criticism. The causes which have led to the decline of the tols and of the indigenous study of Sanskrit in recent years are discussed; and the report concludes with some general recommendations for reviving Sanskrit studies in the future, by a system of stipends to be awarded to a few selected teachers, and of rewards after examination to be paid to teachers and pupils alike.

3. Before considering the specific proposals which the Mahámahopádhyáya has made for the expenditure of Government money on the tols of Bengal, it is necessary to enquire whether there is reason to believe that such expenditure would have the desired effect, namely, a revival of Sanskrit study in these indigenous institutions. In the following extract from paragraph 81 of the report, Pandit Mahes Chandra Nyáyaratna, while clearly explaining the causes of the present decay, declares that it can only be arrested by very liberal help from outside:—

> "The old custom of sons pursuing the calling of the father, which made pandits' sons grow up to be pandits unless they happened to lack the mental power to do so, is losing its hold upon the country, and pandits' sons are accordingly being trained up for secular callings that promise better prospects from a worldly point of view than the calling of a pandit. Thus it is that families of pandits in Bengal have all been tending to assimilate themselves to the other Brahman families of the province, i e., have all been tending towards secular callings that hold out prospects of pecuniary gain. Most of the best pandits of Bengal, all the Mahámahopádhyáyas without exception, have trained up or are training up their sons or grandsons for other callings than their own—have given them or are giving them, in fact, an English education. It is but natural that men should prepare their sons for such walks of life as they think would be most advantageous to them, and this is what the pandits of Bengal have been doing. Non-pandit Brahman families hardly ever think of training up any juvenile member at a tol for the career of a pandit. Our tols are thus being threatened with a stoppage of supply of boys. An utter stoppage of supply is not likely to occur in the near future, but matters appear to be clearly tending to this. The aggregate intellectual capacity of the present generation of tol students is lower than that of the past generation as unquestionably, I think, as the number is lower; and this deterioration in quality and decrease in number, judging from present circumstances, tend to be progressive. To arrest this decline very liberal help from individuals and from the State would be needed."

The writer himself supplies a significant illustration of the tendency of the younger generation of pandits to forsake the calling of their ancestors. Himself the descendant of a long line of pandits, he is the last of his race, and his three sons are distinguished students of the Calcutta University. The question of chief importance is whether any aid that Government or that private individuals or associations would be likely to afford, could have any sensible effect in arresting this tendency. It may readily be admitted that in the case of men like Pandit Mahes Chandra Nyáyaratna, who have achieved distinction in paths that lead away from the simple surroundings of a tol, and whose lives are more largely affected by the influences and the interests of modern civilisation, it would have no such effect. But for the others—for the young Brahmans, sons of pandits of the old stamp, who have formed, and must always form, the backbone of the tol system—what effect would a fairly liberal system of aid have upon them? Our educational returns show some 16,000 or 17,000 students of tols, but only a small proportion of these intend to devote their lives to Sanskrit; the rest merely spend a year or two in a tol in order to acquire a rudimentary knowledge of the language before proceeding elsewhere for the studies that pay. We have to consider the probable effect of the proposals upon the pandit class—upon those who by the tradition of generations have become the repositories of indigenous Sanskrit learning. It is not enough, however, to show that the immediate result of instituting a system of stipends would be to attract to the tols a number of pupils of this class who now, owing to the difficulty of securing a maintenance during a further period of study, have to betake themselves to other callings. It is necessary to show further that, after the period of pupilage is past, such men, or a sufficient number of them, will continue to pursue the same path, no longer as students but as teachers. But these two questions are in reality one. The tols, it is urged, are falling away for want of pupils and of the funds for their maintenance. Provide a widespread system of stipends, and pupils will be attracted by the hope of gaining them. Provide qualified pupils and a provision for their maintenance, and there will be no lack of teachers.

4. I now turn to the specific proposals which the Pandit has made for giving effect to those principles. They are not fully contained in his report, but have been elaborated in subsequent conferences that I have had with him on the subject. They consist of two portions; the first, a provision for large salaries or stipends (non-pensionable) to the teachers of a few selected tols or other institutions for the study of Sanskrit; the second a system of small stipends to be awarded annually or for short terms to teachers and pupils on the results of periodical examinations.

5. The first set of proposals is contained in paragraphs 82 to 85 of the report. They include the award of three stipends of Rs. 100, Rs. 60, and Rs 60 a month, respectively, the first two to the two Nyaya pandits, and the third to the Smriti pandit, who may from time to time be adjudged by Government to be the most distinguished and deserving among the pandits of Nadiya, the historical seat of Nyaya and Smriti learning. In general they would be awarded for the pandit's lifetime, or for so long as he maintained his tol; but there would be nothing to prevent the Government from transferring any stipend from its present possessor to a worthier claimant. A further proposal is that an allowance of Rs. 40 a month should be made to the Thompson Gautama Pathsala at Revilganj for the maintenance of a teacher of Nyaya, and an allowance of Rs. 30 a month for the same purpose to the Sanskrit pathsala at Puri, which is maintained by an endowment of Rs. 5,500 made by the late Maharaja of Balarampur, and by a subscription of Rs. 1,300 a year continued by his widow. The last proposal is that a grant of Rs. 25 a month should be made to the Sanskrit College of Calcutta for the maintenance of five Vedic pupils, when the projected class for teaching the Vedas is opened in that institution. Since the submission of the report, however, the Mahanta of Tarakesur has not only endowed the Vedic class in perpetuity by an investment of Rs. 9,000, yielding Rs. 360 a year, but has also made provision for the maintenance of students attending the class by a further investment of Rs. 3,000. Both these generous gifts have been accepted by Government.* in addition to the earlier gift of Rs. 5,000 made for the establishment of a Vedic class by Babu Dwarkanath Pal of Bansbarai. In view of these endowments, Pandit Mahes Chandra has now withdrawn his proposal for the grant of Rs. 25 a month for scholarships to Vedic pupils in the Sanskrit College. He has also accepted a suggestion to reduce the second of the two Nyaya stipends mentioned above from Rs. 60 to Rs. 50. These amended proposals involve a monthly expenditure of Rs. 280 for five stipends, three in Nadiya, one at Revilganj, and one at Puri.

* General Department, No. 570, dated 11th December 1891, to the Director of Public Instruction.

In this connexion it will be noticed that the Pandit also urges (paragraph 83) the continuance of the grant of Rs. 200 a month which is made by Government to the pupils of the Nadiya tols as a subsistence allowance. This allowance dates from before 1829. He proposes the following modifications in the conditions under which the grant is now made; that it should be confined, as in former days, to students of Nyaya and Smriti, local residents being excluded; and that the ordinary allowance to a student should be Rs. 4 a month, subject to reduction to Rs. 2 in the case of certain students who already receive daily allowances from existing private foundations attached to two tols known as the páká and the kánchá tols.

6. The reasons which may be urged for giving exceptional encouragement to the study of Nyaya at Nadiya are the following. Nadiya is recognised throughout India as the head-quarters of the Nyáya philosophy, and students resort thither from all parts of the continent in order to study it. It would be regarded as a great loss to Sanskrit studies, if Nyáya were to decline and fall into neglect in its chosen home; and without special support there may be some danger of this result. The offer by Government of two valuable stipends to those who might be selected from time to time as the foremost professors of that subject would unquestionably supply an incentive and encouragement to the whole body of teachers of Nyáya, both present and future. The proposed stipends have been fixed at such a rate as will relieve their holders from the necessity of roving about the country in quest of presents for the support of their tols; the annual income from all sources of a pandit of the highest class at Nadiya being estimated at something like Rs. 1,200. One of the chief drawbacks to the present system is the serious interruption of studies which is caused by the frequent absences of the teacher on this account; and it is alleged that studies which now occupy ten or twelve years could be got through in half the time if they were fairly continuous. One of the conditions attached to the stipend should therefore be the definite restriction of the period within which the teacher might absent himself from his tol. Similar observations apply in a nearly equal degree to the proposed Smriti stipend.

7. The reasons for making special provision for the teaching of Nyáya at the Revilganj Gautama Pathsala and at the Sanskrit pathsala at Puri are given in paragraphs 11, 33, and 85 of the report.

8. The second section of the Pandit's proposals relates to the award of stipends to teachers and pupils on the results of examination. This will probably be at once accepted as an eminently suitable method of encouraging Sanskrit studies over a wide area. In order to carry out this scheme, which is only touched upon, without details, in paragraph 86 of the report, it is now proposed that the Bihar system (see paragraph 14) of the subsidiary examinations leading up to the Sanskrit Title examination should be extended to the whole province. It is also proposed that these examinations should be carried out by the five local associations referred to in paragraphs 70—80 of the report, and by any others, that may hereafter be established with similar objects, and should be held annually. A certain proportion of the stipends, to be fixed from time to time in reference to the importance of each, should be allowed to the different Associations, and be by them awarded, under rules to be hereafter prescribed, to the most deserving teachers and pupils at the first and at the second examination. The stipends awarded on the results of the first examination should be tenable for two years, subject to an examination at the end of the first year for retention of the stipend. Those awarded on the results of the second examination should be tenable for three years in the case of Nyaya students, and for two years in other cases, subject again to the condition of examination for retention of stipend. The following scale of rewards is proposed:—

Stipends to pupils.

	Rs.
On the result of the first examination, 100 pupils at Rs. 2 a month each	2,400
On the results of the second examination, 30 pupils at Rs. 3 a month each, and 30 pupils at Rs. 4 a month each ...	2,520
	4,920

Rewards to teachers.	Rs.
On the results of the first examination, 20 teachers at Rs. 6 a month each, and 20 teachers at Rs. 8 a month each ...	3,360
On the results of the second examination, 15 teachers at Rs. 10 a month, and 15 teachers at Rs. 12 a month	3,960
	7,320

I may observe that no additional rewards are required for candidates at the Sanskrit Title examination, to which many prizes and rewards have been attached by private benefactors.

9. It will be observed that the stipends for pupils have been fixed at the rates of Rs. 2, Rs. 3, and Rs. 4 a month each. Pandit Mahes Chandra Nyáyaratna estimates the monthly expenses of a tol student at Nadiya, which is not an exceptionally cheap place, as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
1. Rice, 20 seers	1	12	0
2. Dâl, 60 chittacks	0	5	3
3. Vegetables and fish	1	8	0
4. Mustard oil (for cooking and rubbing the body)	0	7	6
5. Salt, spices, earthen cooking vessels, &c.	0	4	0
6. Firewood	0	12	0
7. Gram and raw sugar for lunch ...	0	3	0
8. Kerosine oil for lighting	0	4	0
9. Washerman	0	2	0
10. Barber	0	1	0
	5	10	9

Some of these items seem to be susceptible of reduction; and it appears that the allowance made to the students of the páká tol at Nadiya, consisting of rice, dâl, and two pice daily, comes to about Rs. 3 a month. The Pandit, however, states that this allowance is found to be insufficient, and that the students of the páká tol have to beg in order to supply the deficiency. It is also alleged that whenever a subsistence allowance is made to tol students by associations or by individual patrons of Sanskrit learning, it is nowhere less than Rs. 4 a month. This is the rate allowed at the Mulajor tol, maintained by Maharaja Sir Jotindra Mohan Tagore Bahadur, at the Biswanath tol, maintained at Chinsurah by Babu Bhudeb Mukherji, C.I.E., at the Burdwan Maharaja's tol, and at the Jubilee tol at Berhampore.

10. The foregoing proposals regarding new expenditure may now be summarised:—

	Rs.
Three stipends to Nadiya tols, at Rs. 100, Rs. 60, and Rs. 50 ...	2,520
One stipend at Revilganj, at Rs. 40	480
Ditto at Puri, at Rs. 30	360
	3,360
Rewards to teachers	7,320
Stipends to pupils	4,920
	15,600

	Rs.
Allowance to tol students at Nadiya at Rs. 200 a month ...	2,400
Grant to Dacca Sarasvat Samaj	500
„ to Bihar Sanskrit Sanjivan	500
	3,400

It has already been proposed (paragraph 5) that the allowance of Rs. 200 a month to the Nadiya students should be continued. The grants of Rs. 500 each made to the two local associations should, however, cease, as they will be merged in the grants to be made, if these proposals are accepted, for stipends and rewards to pupils and teachers. Hence the total expenditure would amount to Rs. 18,000 a year, or Rs. 14,600 in excess of the present expenditure. This is somewhat in excess of the amount contemplated by Government; but it may be pointed out that if only those tols, to the number of 761, which have been reported on by Pandit Mahes Chandra, be considered, the proposed scale provides only one stipend for a pupil to about every ten tols (the stipend being generally tenable for two years) and one reward for a teacher to about every twenty tols. This will hardly be thought an extravagant provision. I would call attention to the suggestion made in paragraph 88 of the report, that Municipalities and District Boards should be encouraged to contribute to the support of tols. If, as is not unlikely, a ready response should be made to that call, and if, under the stimulus of Government encouragement, private munificence should be elicited in support of the tols, as it was conspicuously elicited when the Sanskrit Title examination was established, it may be possible before very long to reduce the amount of any contribution that Government may now sanction. It might be sanctioned in the first instance for three years.

11. I beg, therefore, to recommend these proposals to the liberal consideration of Government. The importance of the pandit class, and the influence which it has and will probably continue to have in the control of Hindu society, seem to make it a matter of high political moment that interests so large should be entrusted to capable hands. If by any small subsidy, such as that now proposed, the threatened decadence of the class of pandits can be in any way arrested, if stronger intellects can be attracted to the tols, and if the former vigour of these ancient institutions can be restored, it can hardly be contested that the money will be well spent.

No. 84, dated Calcutta, the 7th September 1891.

From—MAHAMAHOPADHYAYA MAHESA CHANDRA NYAYARATNA, C.I.E., Principal, Sanskrit College, Calcutta,

To—The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

IN reference to your letter No. 326, dated the 16th January 1891, forwarding copy of Government letter No. 24, dated the 12th idem, on the subject of inspection of tols in Bengal, and containing instructions supplementary to those contained in the Government letter as to the object of the proposed inspection, I have the honour to submit the accompanying report of my inspection, which was completed by the end of May 1891, together with descriptive statements of tols, of Sanskrit institutions, and of examining bodies, *marked A, B, and C, respectively.

REPORT ON THE TOLS OF BENGAL, BIHAR, AND ORISSA.

1. By way of preface it seems needful that I should give a general description of tols and the tol system of instruction. The word tol is a word of non Sanskrit origin, and is in use only in Bengal, where tols are also called chaupádí or chaubádí, from Sanskrit chatuspáthí, a place for teaching the four [Vedas]. Chaupádí is a name current likewise in North-Eastern Bihar (Mithila) and in parts of Orissa.

2. The tol is an institution of a peculiar character. It is a school of learning where pupils are not only taught free of charge, but are likewise lodged and boarded free.

As the name tol is confined to Bengal, so is the practice of lodging and boarding pupils, as a rule, confined to this province. The only departure in Bengal from this practice is to be found in the tols of Nadiya (Nuddea), where pupils till lately were almost universally not fed by their teachers. Certain teachers there do now feed some of their pupils, or contribute small sums towards their maintenance. It may be that the existence of a grant, formerly by the Nadiya Rajas and now by Government, for the benefit of tol students at Nadiya, has caused a departure from the general Bengal practice of uniting free lodging and feeding with free teaching. The practice rests on Sastric injunctions. The Sástras pronounce this a duty, and make it a sin to accept remuneration for imparting instruction. Great are the sacrifices that many Pandits endure to act up to the ideal of a teacher's duties as laid down in the Sástras.

3. In Bihar and Orissa, generally speaking, teachers do not concern themselves with the feeding of their pupils, the only notable exception being a corner of Bihar, viz. Darbhanga, which, like the rest of Mithila, is in so many matters like Bengal. The general practice in Bihar and Orissa is for pupils to come for instruction as day-scholars to the teacher, who teaches them either in his own house, or in a temple, or in some neighbour's house, which may be more suitable for the purpose of teaching than his own.

4. Schools for instruction in Sanskrit are called vidyálayas or páthsálás in Bihar and Orissa, North-Eastern Bihar and Jajpur in Orissa, however, using the Bengal name chaupádi. In the Puri district of Orissa tols are called chális. The word chálí means a small shed. Tol in Bengali is a name also for the temporary habitations of Bediás (Gypsies). Taking the two words chálí and tol together, it appears that tol primarily meant a shed serving as a temporary habitation. A tol is generally located outside the limits of inhabited places, villages or towns. It consists of one or more long huts with mud or wicker walls and thatched roofs. Each hut is divided into compartments, the partitions, however, not reaching to the roof. These compartments, in which the students are quartered, are of small dimensions, generally about seven feet square, and raised banks of earth (vedi) within very often serve for bedsteads. The part of the compartment that is not occupied by the vedi is reserved for cooking and other purposes. All the pupils in a tol, however, do not cook for themselves. Some get their meals free at the house of the teacher. The pupils who cook their food receive free gifts of rice and other eatables from their teacher. Pupils not belonging to the same class of Brahmans as the teacher always cook for themselves. All the pupils in a tol are not free boarders. Some of the pupils may be local residents who attend the tol as day-scholars. Some pupils, again, who are not local residents, may be freely boarded by local residents. Beginners or grammar pupils generally are the pupils who are so boarded.

5. In addition to the huts that furnish quarters to the students, there is a hut called sarasvatí-mandap, open on one side and sheltered on the other three. It measures about 20 feet × 10 feet, and is the place where the teacher teaches his pupils. The teacher takes his seat here on a mat, and the pupils take theirs on separate mats before him, some on his right, some on his left, and some also facing him, if there is no more room on the right and the left.

6. The work begins at about 7 o'clock in the morning, and continues to about noon. All the pupils being assembled together, the teacher begins with the least advanced, and gradually passes on to the most advanced. The object of this arrangement is that the more advanced pupils may have the benefit of a revision by means of the lessons of the less advanced. Pupils are dismissed as they finish their lessons. If their day's work is not finished in the morning, the teacher and the pupils resume work at about 4 in the afternoon, and continue it till dusk. In the evening, again, pupils are allowed to bring their doubts and difficulties before the teacher for solution, and at this time the teacher also questions the beginners. There is very little of classification of students in a tol, each pupil, generally speaking, having his own lesson. Only in occasional instances have some two or three pupils the same lesson. Not more than one book is read by a pupil at a time, and the quantity of work done each day is but moderate. This makes it possible for a single teacher to teach each day a number of pupils, each with his separate lesson. The work done, though moderate in quantity, is done in a thorough style. Verbal discussions are frequent among the pupils, and difficult points are referred to the teacher as occasion arises. Junior students again often ask senior students to carry them through the lessons they have already gone through with the teacher either that or the previous day. This is called "seeking lesson" (পাঠ চাওয়া). The help sought is readily given. Exercises in writing are unknown in a tol. The system of instruction and in some measure the subjects taught are the same throughout the provinces. The Bengal standard of Sanskrit learning is, however, considerably higher than that in Bihar (Mithilá excepted) and in Orissa. In Bengal no boy begins Sanskrit without having received elementary vernacular education in some páthsálá. In Bihar, however, boys often begin their Sanskrit grammar or jyotish (astrology), and in Orissa their grammar or lexicon, with no other knowledge than that of the alphabet, and they go on learning for some time by rote alone. At the initial stage learning grammar by rote is the universal practice. The ages of pupils in Bengal range approximately from 9 to 30, in Behar from 7 to 20. and in Orissa from 6 to 18. Bihari and Uriya students who continue their studies beyond the above limits of age repair for their instruction beyond the limits of their respective provinces.

7. Teacher sand pupils in tols are almost all Brahmans, only a few being of the Vaidya caste. The few Vaidya teachers in the provinces teach only grammar, belles-lettres and rhetoric to non-medical students, and Vaidya students study none but the above subjects previous to taking up their medical studies. Tol students everywhere are most obedient to their teachers and respectful to their seniors. They almost worship their teachers, doing for them, if need be, menial services with the utmost alacrity. The teachers on their part love their pupils with fatherly affection.

8. In tols holidays are not less plentiful than in colleges in Bengal. For four days in a month, i.e., on the pratipada (first) and ashtami (eighth) day of the waxing and the waning moon, all studies are prohibited. Should the pratipada or the ashtami extend to even so small a portion of the succeeding solar day, this day would be an additional day during which study is prohibited. In four other days, viz. the two chaturdasis, púrnimá, and amávasyá, i.e., the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the waxing and the waning moon, new lessons are forbidden, though revision of the old is not. For students of the Nyáya Philosophy and Vyákaraná (Grammar), there are two additional days, the trayodasis (i.e., the 13th day of the waxing and also of the waning moon), during which new lessons are prohibited. For six days in a month, the two chaturthis, the two saptamis, and the two trayodasis (i.e., the fourth, seventh, and thirteenth days of the waxing and the waning moon), all study at night is prohibited. Besides the above prohibited days of study, the ordinary Hindu holidays are observed as days of "no study" (অনধ্যায়). In addition to the above holidays the practice used to be to close Nyáya tols for over four months from Ratha-yátrá to Rási-Púrnimá, i.e., from about the third week of June to about the middle of November, and Smriti tols for about two months from Sakrotthána to Rási-Púrnimá, i.e., from about the middle of September to about the middle of November. This practice, however, is not now universally adhered to, the long vacation, having been reduced in many tols. During the period of vacation, students study by themselves what they have previously studied with their instructor.

9. The days of prohibition of study given above are prevalent throughout Bengal. In Orissa the days of "no study" (অনধ্যায়) are the same as in Bengal, with the important exception that the long vacations of Bengal are unknown there. Mithilá (i.e., North-Eastern Bihar) is like Orissa in this, the only difference being that revision work is allowed in the former on the 8th day both of the waxing and of the waning moon. The other districts of Behar do not strictly observe the prohibited days. In regard to the reading of the Kávyas, the prohibited days in Bengal are only the first and eighth days of the moon.

10. I started on my tour of inspection on the 23rd of January 1891, in accordance with the orders of the Director of Public Instruction conveyed in his letter No. 326, dated the 16th January 1891, and visited first the province of Behar. I commenced work there by conferring with the "Behar Sanskrit Sanjívan," whose energetic Secretary, Pándit Amvikádatta Vyás, furnished me with a list of tols that the Sanjívan considered deserving of inspection, and accompanied me, besides, on my tour in the districts of Patna and Saran. The other districts of Bihar that I visited were Gaya, Shahabad, Champaran, Tirhut, Darbhanga, Monghyr and Bhagalpur.

Bihar is ethnically divisible into three sections—the north-eastern section or Mithila, the southern section or Magadha, and the western or Bhojpurí section.

11. Sanskrit studies in Bihar are at a low level. In certain tols in the Darbhanga district alone is a high standard reached. Only an elementary knowledge of either Jyotisha (Astrology and Astronomy) or of Vyákarana (Sanskrit Grammar), with a little of Kávya (belles-lettres) and less of Purána, it is the aim of the majority of Bihar students to acquire. In the Gautama Thompson Páthsálá at Gotna near Revelganj in Saran, opened lately with so much éclat and named after Gotama, the originator of the Nyáya Philosophy, there is no provision whatever for teaching Nyáya. Vyákarana, Kávya and Jyotisha are the only subjects taught.

12. The Kávya standard has risen visibly of late in Bihar, in consequence of the institution of the Sanskrit Title Examination and the examinations of the Sanskrit Sanjívan. A good many pupils aim at learning Astrology alone, with the object of earning their livelihood by casting horoscopes (tippan), indicating auspicious days for marriages, &c., and telling fortunes. Students of Astrology do not, for the most part, possess even an elementary knowledge of Sanskrit Grammar. They simply commit to memory Sanskrit texts with Sanskrit and vernacular interpretations of them. The same is the case to some extent in regard also to the other branches of study, vernacular interpretations of Sanskrit texts being learnt by heart along with the texts.

13. The Sanskrit grammatical text-books usually taught in Bihar are Sárasvata, Chandriká, and Laghukaumudi; a few study Siddhánta-Kaumudi, Manoramá, Paribhásendusekhara, Laghusabdendusekhara, Vyutpattiváda, Mahábháshya, Kaiyat, Kastubha, &c. The usual text-books in literature are Raghuvansa, Kumárasambhava, Meghadúta, and the text-books for the Sanskrit Title Examination.

The Astrology text-books are Laghu, Játaka, Brihat Jatáka, Muhúrta-Chintámani, Jaimini-Sútra, and Dípiká. Some of the pupils study also the well-known mathematical works Líldvati, Vijaganita and Rekhágantia, and the astronomical works, Siddhánta Siromani.

The higher standard for literature students consists of works prescribed for the Sanskrit Title Examination in literature.

There is not much liking in Bihar for any other branches of knowledge besides Grammar and Astrology. The few who want to study Philosophy (Vedánta, Sánkhya, Mímánsa, and Nyáya), and the fewer who want to study Hindu Law, repair generally to Benares for prosecuting their studies, students of Nyáya only resorting to Nadiya.

The Vedas too are learnt, but only after a certain fashion, i.e., by rote and for the purpose simply of recitations on ceremonial occasions.

14. The Sanskrit Title Examination and the subsidiary examinations held by the Bihar Sanskrit Sanjivan, have had a most beneficial effect on the state of Sanskrit education generally in Bihar. They have been steadily raising Sanskrit studies in the province from the very low level to which they had sunk. Much, however, remains yet to be done. At the Title Examination Bihar candidates have come forward indeed for titles in literature, but there have been no Bihar candidates yet for a title in any other subject.

15. Generally speaking, there is greater irregularity in the working of the tols in Bihar than in Bengal. This appears to be in great part owing to the greater poverty of the Bihar Pandits, which compels them to go about visiting wealthy people and receiving gifts from them, to the necessary interruption of their work of teaching. Such interruption usually takes place in the wedding seasons (from the middle of January to the middle of March, and from the middle of April to the middle of June) when the chances of receiving gifts are greater than at other periods of the year. The Bengal practice of inviting Pandits on the occasions of Sráddha (ceremony for the benefit of the departed soul), marriage, &c., and making presents to them on such occasions, is almost unknown in Bihar. It is not that gifts are not made to Pandits in Bihar by noblemen and other wealthy people, but such gifts, being not so systematic as they are in Bengal, afford the Bihar Pandits less help than the Bengal Pandits receive. Comparative smallness of means appears again the reason why the practice of teachers feeding their pupils is very rare in Bihar, while it is the rule in Bengal.

16. It may be mentioned here that all the Maharajas of Bihar and some of the Rajas maintain certain tols in their own city, paying regular salaries to Pandits, and the pupils also of some of the tols receive free boarding. Details about such tols are given in the tables marked A. Of the accuracy of the information given about the Maharaja of Betia's tols I cannot, however, be so certain. At the time of my visit to Betia the Maharaja and the Pandits were all gone to Benares for religious purposes, and the Manager of the estate, Mr. Gibbon, to whom I officially applied for information, declined to give it. I gathered as much information as I could get from local residents, and the information varied as a matter of course. I have tried to make my figures and other matters approximately as correct as possible.

17. Unlike the tols in Bihár, the Sanskrit schools recently set up by the several Bihár associations are very regularly worked. In fact, they approach or come up to the standard of English schools in the Lower Provinces, in respect of regularity of attendance, hours of work, discipline, &c. The Bengal tols certainly do not in these matters approach this class of Sanskrit schools in Bihár.

18. The award of titles is a thing unknown in Bihár. In this it is quite unlike Bengal, where it has been an immemorial custom to award titles to tol students. Titles used to be awarded when students finished their tol education. Lately, however, titles have generally been given to pupils on their entering tols for instruction, the pupils themselves choosing their respective titles. This practice owes its origin to a disinclination on the part of the pupils to call each other by their proper names. Undeserving persons have thus come to be holders of titles, and titles have been indiscriminately given without any reference whatever to the special branch of knowledge to which the student applies himself, a student of Smriti, for instance, receiving the title of Nyáyaratna. These abuses made it a desideratum that Government should initiate an examination for the acquisition of a title. The abuse still continues, however, and I have known of instances in which students plucked at the Title Examination have been awarded titles by their Pandits.

19. The foregoing remarks about Bihár apply to the province generally. Darbhanga with Tirhut, which represents the ancient Mithilá, has long been famous in India as a seat of high intellectual culture. The Nyáya Philosophy was introduced into Nadiya from Mithila, where it was first cultivated with eminent success. The family of His Highness the Maharaja of Darbhanga, who is the head of the entire Maithil community, owed its position to success achieved in the field of intellect. The founder of the family Mahes Thákur, fourteenth ascendant from the present Maharaja, got his estate of Darbhanga as a reward for his learning. Some say that the present was one from the Emperor Akbar himself, others, that it was from Raghunandan Jhá, who is said to have received from the Emperor the title of Pandit Ráj, together with the Darbhanga estate, when it lapsed to the Emperor on its owner, Raja Sida Singh, dying heirless. Raghunandan is said to have made a gift of it to his guru (teacher), Mahes Thákur, as guru-dakshiná (gift to a teacher for instruction received). The Darbhanga Maharaja's family, founded by a Pandit, has always been distinguished by its patronage of Pandits. A regular system has been maintained at Darbhanga for testing the learning of Sanskrit students, and those who have passed the test have had their names recorded and have been rewarded with two dhotis each, as a mark of honour. A test generally takes place on the occasion of an assemblage of Pandits on the birth of a Maharaj-Kumar. The present Maharaja keeps up the family prestige well. He is himself both a Sanskrit scholar and a patron of Sanskrit learning. The amount annually expended by him towards the support of Sanskrit studies is Rs. 18,700, as per details below:—

		Rs.
1.	Salaries to Pandits	6,480
2.	Scholarships to pupils	1,020
3.	Maintenance of a Sanskrit college at Benares	6,000
4.	Maintenance of a Sanskrit school at Madhubani ...	300
5.	Maintenance of a Sanskrit páthsálá at Rahika	1,350
6.	Gifts to Pandits and pupils	3,550
	Total ...	18,700

20. The district, too, keeps up its reputation for Sanskrit learning. It has several distinguished Pandits at the present day, among whom I may mention Mahámahopádhyáyas Krishna Singh Thákur and Kanáilál Jhá and Pandits Chumman Jhá, Bechu Jhá, Chitradhara Misra, Dukha Mohan Jhá, and Sadánanda Misra. Most of the distinguished Bihari Pandits outside the limits of Mithilá are Maithils by blood, as Pandit Visveswar Jhá of the Chhapra Bháratesvari Páthsálá, and Pandit Siva Nárayan Jhá of Dumraon.

21. The standard of instruction in the Darbhanga district is as high in Nyáya as that of Bengal, while it equals the Benares standard in respect of Grammar (on Pánini's system), Vedánta, Sánkhya, Mímánsá and Jyotish, subjects which are not much studied in Bengal. In Smriti or Hindu Law Mithila is behind Bengal, and so it is in Kávya. It is but recently, however, that Bengal has taken up the study of Kávya to any considerable extent.

22. The Sanskrit Title Examination or the Sanskrit Sanjivan's examinations have hardly produced any effect in Darbhanga. This, I have been informed, has in part been owing to the indisposition on the part of Sanskrit students in the district to undergo an examination in Hindi, or optionally in English, one or other of which has been made by the Sanskrit Sanjivan a compulsory subject for its examinations, and in part to the ignorance on the part of the present Pandits and their pupils of the subjects and text-books prescribed for the Title Examination. Pupils of the aided Madhubani Sanskrit Páthsálá, which is under the management of a Committee, have been the only Darbhanga candidates at the Title Examination, and the Sanjivan's examinations.

23. The Maharája of Darbhanga, at the time of my visit, was pleased to signify his desire to establish a Sanskrit College at Darbhanga, and he proposed that the place be made a centre for the Title Examination. The proposal is one which, I trust, the Government will approve and comply with.

24. Bihár, though a long way behind Bengal in respect of tols maintained by individual Pandits, has lately developed a new organisation for the promotion of Sanskrit studies, which has already been incidentally referred to. The Hindus of Bihár, after ages of depression, have been becoming alive again to old Hindu traditions and usages. Associations, some of them religious, have accordingly been started in several places, and these associations have made it an object to promote Sanskrit studies.

25. In my tour through Orissa, I made the list of tols furnished me by Babu Radhánath Ray, Joint-Inspector of Schools for the Orissa Division, my guide. Of the three districts of the division, Báleswar has no tols, and so I did not visit it. There are several tols in the Puri district, and only a few in Cuttack. The Jájpur subdivision of the latter is much unlike the rest of the province in the matter of Sanskrit learning. It has long been noted as a Sanskrit centre. Vedic ceremonies have persisted here long, there being even now two "Agnihotri" Bráhmans here. These two observe the "Agnihotra" ceremony, i.e., keep the fire lighted at their birth perpetually burning, and perform the Homa ceremony with this fire morning and evening. This is to continue till the death of each, when, with the fire kept up, the cremation pile is to be lighted. The number of Agnihotris used to be much larger formerly. It has now dwindled down to two, and with the death of these two, the class is likely to disappear, for no novice has yet come forward to be initiated in the Agnihotri rites.

26. There is a tol at Dhenkanal, the capital of the Tributary State of the same name. I visited this tol at the request of the Orissa Commissioner and Superintendent of the Orissa Tributary Mehals, Mr. Worsley. The tol was founded by Maharaja Bhagirath Mahendra Bahadur, the grandfather of the present minor Maharaja, and it flourished well during the lifetime of its founder, the pupils, numbering from 40 to 50, being all lodged and boarded at the Maharaja's expense. It has now been reorganised as a school of the modern type, and made a department of the local middle English school. It labours under the disadvantage, however, of four classes having to be taught by a single Pandit. This drawback I brought to Mr. Worsley's notice. Several of the Uriya Pandits now living, got their education in the Dhenkanal tol.

27. In Orissa Sanskrit learning is at a lower level even than in Behar, where (Darbhanga excepted) it is low enough. A person who has read the Shatkávya (six poems), namely, Raghuvansa, Kumára-Sambhava, Meghadúta, Sisupálabadha, Kirátárjuniya, and Naishadha, is accounted a good Pandit. By many, Vyákaran and Amara Kosha (lexicon by Amara) are the only things learnt. Astronomy used to be successfully cultivated in Orissa, but the study of it has greatly declined of late. There are two experts in this subject, however, in the Puri district—Chandra Sekhara Singha Hari Chandan Mahápátra Sámanta, the uncle of the Raja of Khendapárá, and Pandit Sadásiva Khariratna. The former makes observations of the stars and planets by means of native instruments. The grammar text-books usually taught are mere abridgements; at Puri, Prakriyá Kaumudi, based on Pánini; at Bhuvaneswar, Prakriyásár, based on Kaláp; and in the Cuttack district, Sáraswata, Chandriká, and Laghu Sankshiptasára, the last being locally called Juman.

The standard of Sanskrit studies in the Jajpura subdivision of the district of Cuttack being higher than elsewhere in Orissa, a grammatical work of an elaborate character, namely, the Sankshiptasára, is taught there.

28. The institution of the Title Examination has given some impetus to the study of Sanskrit literature in Orissa. Those who obtain titles on the result of this examination are held in honour in the province, and the possession of a title is a passport also to employment in Government and private schools. The Puri and Dhenkanal Sanskrit Páthsálás alone send up candidates to the Title Examination, and Kávya has hitherto been the only subject taken up by the candidates. The rules in connexion with the Title Examination are little known in the province, except at Puri and Dhenkánal, and this, together with the absence of any local examinations such as exist in Bengal and Bihár, operates prejudicially in the province.

29. There are in Orissa a few learned Pandits, such as Sankar Tirthaswámí of Puri, Dámodar Vidyábágisa of Jajpur and Bámadev Misra of Bhuvaneswara. These learned Pandits finished their education outside the province, namely, in Bengal, in the Madras Presidency, and at Benares. As in Bihár, the practice of receiving titles from their teachers by students of Sanskrit does not exist in Orissa. Some few who finished their education in Bengal, such as Pítámbar Tarkasarasvatí of Jajpur, took titles. The Puri Rajas have awarded the titles of Barápandá and Brahmá. Recently some of the Tributary Rájás have begun to award titles prevalent in Bengal, namely, Vidyábágisa (awarded by the late Mahárájá of Dhenkanal to Dámodar of Jájpur) and Vidyánidhi (awarded by the Raja of Madhupura to Pandit Átmárám of Dharmasálá in the Jajpur subdivision of Cuttack.

30. There was a time when in Orissa Pandits were very liberally patronised by Maharajas and Rajas. They got numerous rent-free grants of villages, and the central parts of these villages were marked out for the exclusive residence of Brahman families devoted to the practice of religious rites or to the cultivation of Sanskrit learning. These parts are called Sásan, each deriving its name from its grantor, such as Bírnarasinhapur Sásan, Sripurushottampur Sásan, Bír Balabhadrapur Sásan, named from their respective grantors, Bír Narasinha, Purushottam, Bir Balabhadra, &c. Many Sásans exist at the present day, and what a Sásan is like, will appear from the following description. A Sásan has a single road, some 10 feet broad, running right through its middle. The road is lined on both sides with cocoanut groves, and at the back of these groves are the residences of the Brahman families descended from the original grantees. Within the limits of a Sásan, none but a Brahman family can reside. So strong is the force of custom, that although there is now no legal prohibition against non-Brahmans residing within the limits of a Sásan, no non-Brahman ever thinks of intruding within its limits. Most of the Pandits in Orissa are Sásan residents, though the number of Pandits is altogether but small. The Sásan Brahmans almost all stick to the old Brahmanic occupations. Those who are not Pandits do some kind of priestly office; they do not practise any kind of secular calling.

31. At Puri, besides the Sanskrit Páthsálá, there are maths and tols, where Sanskrit teaching is carried on. A "math" is properly a convent of monks presided over by a Swámí or Mahanta. The Swámí is absolute ruler of the math and owner of its property. Maths have somehow become places of instruction for students of Sanskrit. Different Hindu sects have their different maths. The Vaishnavas have their maths, and so have the followers of Sankar Achárya. The rites of each sect are observed at the math of the sect. Persons who ask for food at the math of the sect to which they belong have to be fed, and a few are even permanent guests. All beggars receive alms at a math.

32. In the Bálashāhi quarter of Puri there are four maths, each called after Sankar Achárya, Sankara Matha, not because Sankar Achárya ever taught in them, or was in any way personally connected with them, but because their heads have been followers of Sankara. Of one of the Sankar maths, the head (Swami) is Dámodar Tírtha Swámi, the most learned Pandit of the place. This math has an income of about Rs. 1,000 a year derived from land. It has a valuable library of Sanskrit manuscripts in the Devanágri, Bengali, Uriya, and Telugu characters, but the library is not taken as much care of as it should be. The three other Sankar Maths have incomes of Rs. 10,000, Rs. 12,000, and Rs. 400 a year, respectively, all derived from land. At two of the maths of the Vaishnavas, namely, the Imar Math or Gopál Math and the Gangá Math, pupils are lodged and boarded free, all the pupils in the former and five in the latter. The Pandit in each receives a money remuneration besides getting free lodging and boarding.

33. The Puri Sanskrit Páthsálá is maintained by an endowment of the late Maharaj Sir Digvijay Singh Bahadur, K.C.S.I., of Balrampur in Oudh, and a subscription, originally by him, of Rs. 1,300 a year, continued since his death by his widow. The Maharaja in his deed of endowment expressed a wish for the establishment of a chair of Nyáya at the Páthsálá. The chair has not yet been created, the Managing Committee having thought it proper to limit expenditure with a view to effect savings against the ultimate cessation of the subscription of Rs. 1,300 a year. I had drawn the Committee's attention to the Maharaja's wish about a Nyáya chair, and have been informed by the Secretary that the Committee cannot open a Nyáya chair without an addition to their funds.

34. Another Sanskrit institution at Puri is the Veda Vidyálaya established only a few months ago. It is maintained by contributions in the shape of money and free meals to the pupils, who are 27 in number, all of them beginners. They read elementary grammar, and commit to memory a few mantras from the Vedas. A rival Vedic school of this type has just been started by Pandit Harihar Brahmá. These two institutions scarcely deserve the name of Veda Vidyálaya, and it is very doubtful whether they will live long. The first of these is the only institution in Orissa maintained by subscriptions.

35. One extraordinary feature of a few of the tols in the Puri district may here be mentioned. The Pandits of these tols, so far from teaching, lodging and boarding their pupils free, receive trifling fees of one or two or three annas a month from each of their pupils. Free lodging and boarding are exceedingly rare in the province. Generally the pupils of tols in Orissa belong to the village in which the tol is situated or to adjoining villages. Pupils in Puri town and its neighbourhood can get, if they choose, their meals free at the temple of Jagannath. Many actually do get their meals there, some walking a mile or two for the purpose. Within the courtyard of the temple there is a pavilion of stone, called Muktimandap, in which the Pandits of Puri meet as occasion demands, and discuss and decide points connected with the Hindu Sástras. Pupils on presenting themselves at the Muktimandap get their meals free.

36. I now come to the province of Bengal, the tols of which I visited last. It is the tols of Bengal that answer fully to the description of tols given in the beginning of this report, and tol instruction in Bengal, though declining from what is was of old, has still more vitality altogether than in the sister provinces.

37. The special branch of study for which Bengal has been famous all over India is the Nyáya Philosophy, and the chief seat of this study in Bengal has been Nadiya. Of the Nyáya Philosophy, the works that treat of Logic, such as Máthuri, Jágadisi, and Gádádhari have been special favourites. The study of these works is a severe training for the intellect, and students who go through this training acquire a mental grasp and alertness which enable them to master other branches of Sanskrit learning with comparative ease. The Naiyáyika (expert in Nyáya) is accorded a higher rank in Bengal than the Professors of any other branch of learning.

38. Besides Nyáya, the only other favourite branch of study has been Smriti. The original Smritis are not, however, the works studied, but only Raghunandan's compends of them, together with the Dáyabhága of Jimutabáhana with Srikrishna's commentary, and the Práyaschitta Viveka and Sraddha Viveka of Sulpani. Raghunandan's compends of Smriti works are a very serviceable compilation, and intelligent Pandits, who have mastered them, can study without extraneous help most of the original Smriti works (Samhitas).

39. The grammatical works studied in Bengal are Kalápa, Sankshiptasára, Supadma, and Mugahabodha. Pánini, and works based on Pánini are not studied anywhere, with the exception only of a few tols in Rajshahi. In certain tols in East Bengal the Kalápa with its different commentaries is studied with the exclusive devotion that Siddhánta Kaumudi, which is based on Pánini, commands in the North-Western Provinces. The same exclusive devotion to grammar is found in Midnapur, Bankura, Birbhum, and parts of Burdwan, Hugli, and Howrah. Here the grammar text-books are Sankshiptasára, and Goyi Chandra's commentary on it, with commentaries on this commentary. Wherever grammar holds sway, other branches of Sanskrit learning have little room.

40. The Purános have also their students in Bengal, though they are but few. Astrology too is learnt for the practical purpose of casting horoscopes, and calculating auspicious days for weddings, &c.

41. The Hindu system of medicine is taught in several places in Bengal, notably in Calcutta, Mánkar (in the Burdwan district), Jangalpara (in the Hugli district), Bankul (in the Howrah district), and Bikrampur (in the Dacca district). I did not visit any of this special class of tols for medical education, as a proposal for including the Hindu system of medicine among the subjects for the Title Examination was disallowed, on the ground that "the encouragement of the Sanskrit system of medicine is totally opposed to the policy of Government in medico-educational matters."

42. The Title Examination, and to some extent local examinations under Samájas, like the Dacca Sárasvat Samáj, have been the means of introducing into Bengal the study of the Sánkhya, Pátanjala, Vedánta, and the old Nyáya Philosophy (Gautama Sutra) and of original Smriti works (Manu, Yajnavalka, &c.). The study of Kávya and Alankára (Rhetoric), which used hitherto to be for the most part confined to the Sanskrit College, has now spread widely over the province, under the influence of the above examinations. That a knowledge of these subjects helps to secure Panditships in schools has further stimulated their study in different parts of the province.

43. The renowned seats of Sanskrit learning in Bengal are Nadiyá, Bikrampur, Bakla-Chandradwip, Tribeni, Bhatpara, and Khanakul-Krishnagar. A word of explanation about the name Bakla-Chandradwip may not be inappropriate here. Raja Todar Mal, Finance Minister to the Emperor Akbar, divided the Exchequer lands of Bengal Proper into nineteen sarkárs, of which one was Bakla-Sarkar. Bakla was subdivided by him into four mahals or parganas, and one of these was called Chandradwip. This pargana appears to have been known at the time by the name of Bakla, and it is still occasionally called Bakla-Chandradwip. The name Bakla, of both pargana and sarkár, appears to have been derived from a town of this name, which was the seat of a Hindu reigning family, but of which there is at present no trace. Mr. Beveridge, from whose District of Bakarganj (pp. 26—34, 50, and 70) I derive my information, thinks Chandradwip was identical with Bakla, as Abul Fazl, according to Professor Blochmann, uses it as synonymous with Bakla. From early times Chandradwip belonged to a Kayastha family enjoying the title of Raja. This family, whose liberal patronage of Sanskrit learning made Bakla-Chandradwip a great centre of such learning, has now been reduced to poverty. The estate which is of such historical celebrity passed out of the hands of this family into those of several proprietors of low caste. Recently it has come into the possession of a Brahmin zemindar of distinguished rank and lineage, Raja Sir Saurindramohan Tagore, Kt., C.I.E., &c., and it may now well be hoped that he will support the cause of Sanskrit learning in Bakla-Chandradwip as the Rajas of Chandradwip used to do of old. The Raja has already given an earnest of such support by his liberal donation of Rs. 200 towards a kindred object, namely, the purchase of land for a girls' school in his newly-acquired estate.

44. In Bengal, as I have stated above, Pandits, as a rule, lodge and feed their pupils. Whence come the funds that enable them to do so? The practice of old was for zemindars to make grants in perpetuity of rent-free land to Pandits noted for their learning. It was mainly rent-free land that enabled Pandits to support their families, and bear, besides, the expense of free lodging and boarding for their pupils. The renowned Pandit Jagannath Tarkapanchánan, who was a contemporary of Sir William Jones, got such large gifts of rent-free land that his descendants are now able to maintain themselves with the income derived from the land left by Tarkapanchánan. About 50 years ago my father, now deceased, received from the then head of the Mahishadal Raj family a grant of 100 bighas of rent-free land, and this land has come down to his heirs.

45. Grants of rent-free lands have now very much gone out of fashion, have in fact almost entirely ceased. Money contributions or gifts of rice to tol Pandits continue to be regularly made by some patrons of Sanskrit learning, though such instances too are but few. At present the resources of Pandits consist chiefly of gifts called Vidáya, received from wealthy people of good caste, at Sráddhas, marriages, consecration of temples and tanks, return from pilgrimages, &c. On such occasions the gifts to Pandits are usually graduated according to the class to which they belong, i e., according as they are Naiyáyikas, Smártas (Professors of Law), or Sábdikas (Professors of grammar and language). The Naiyáyikas are considered Pandits of the first rank, the Smártas of the second, and the Sábdikas of the third. Vedantic, Sánkhya, and Pauranic Pandits are but few in Bengal. Vedantic and Sánkhya Pandits rank immediately below Naiyáyikas, and Pauranic Pandits below Smártas. Even Vidáya gifts have gradually been declining in value, and hence the increasing difficulty on the part of Pandits to support their pupils.

46. A new departure has been made of late by certain patrons of Sanskrit learning. They have established institutions for the prosecution of Sanskrit studies, in which the teacher or teachers receive fixed salaries and the pupils receive stipends. The following are institutions of this class:—The Sanskrit Vidyálaya, maintained by the Burdwan Raj; the Mulajor Sanskrit Vidyálaya founded by the late Babu Prasanna Kumar Tagore and now maintained by Maharaja Bahadur Sir Jotindramohan Tagore, K.C S.I. and his brother, Raja Sir Saurindramohan Tagore, KT.,C.I.E.; the Victoria Jubilee Tol at Berhampur, founded and maintained by Arnakali Devi of Kasimbazar; the Krishnagar Sanskrit Vidyálaya, founded and maintained by Maharaja Khitischandra Ray of Krishnagar; and the Biswanath Pathsálá at Chinsura, founded and maintained by Babu Bhudeb Mukerjee, C.I.E. On the occasion of my visit to Maimansingh I suggested the establishment of a similar institution there, and the suggestion was warmly taken up by the local public, the lead being taken by Raja Suryakánta Achárya. The District Magistrate, Mr. Phillips, strongly supported the scheme.

47. Of the Bengal tols, I visited first those in Murshidabad and part of Burdwan, and this on my way back from Bihar. The Victoria Jubilee Tol at Berhampur is in an efficient condition. Pupils from this institution succeed every year at the Title Examination, and titles were won in Vedanta, Smriti, and Kavya at the examination last held. This tol has pupils from such distant districts as Maimansingh, Sylhet, Tipperah, and Chittagong, besides those who are natives of Murshidabad. No other Murshidabad tol besides this and that of Pandit Ramtáran Siromani of Kándi competes at the Title Examination. The tol taught by Pandit Ramapati Tarkabhusan at Kasimbazar is a good one. The tols in the interior of the district are few in number, and, with the exception of the one at Kándi, taught by Pandit Ramtaran Siromani, are in no good condition, as reported to me by the District Deputy Inspector of Schools, Babu Phanibhusan Basu.

48. The Burdwan district has some good tols in the interior, and the best of these is Pandit Krishnanath Nyayapanchánan's tol at Purbasthali. Pandit Krishnanath is a man of great learning, and he sends up every year pupils to compete at the Title Examination. Smriti, Kávya and (in one instance) Vedánta have been the subjects taken up by his pupils.

The Maharaja's Vidyálaya in Burdwan town is an institution founded about seventy-five years ago by Maharaja Tejchandra Bahadur, and it is now in a flourishing condition. It teaches Nyáya and Kávya, and regularly sends up candidates to the Title Examination.

49. My inspection of the tols in parts of East Bengal was greatly facilitated by the help rendered by the Dacca Sárasvat Samáj, whose very able and energetic Secretary, Pandit Prasannachandra Vidyáratna, furnished me with a complete account of all good tols in Dacca and Faridpur, and of such in Maimansingh, Tipperah, Noakhali and Chittagong, and also Sylhet (now included in Assam) as send up candidates to the Samáj's examinations. He also accompanied me in my tour of inspection, and this, as well as his account of tols, was a great help to me. Raja Rajnarayan Ray Bahadur of Jaydebpur kindly placed at my service his steam-launch, and so helped my inspection work greatly. The Sárasvat Samáj called a meeting of Pandits at the Samáj house, and this assemblage gave me much valuable information and offered certain suggestions.

50. Parganá Bikrampur, now divided between the districts of Dacca and Faridpur, has long been known as the chief seat of Sanskrit learning in East Bengal. Although the number of Pandits and students has now considerably diminished, Bikrampur has still more tols and pupils than any other part of Bengal of equal area, and Pandits here have some enthusiasm yet about their calling. One Pandit maintains a tol on the principle of free lodging and food to pupils, although he has been running into debt for this. He himself got his education with lodging and boarding free, and he conceives it his duty to do towards others in this matter as he has been done by.

51. The principal subjects of study in East Bengal are Nyáya, Smriti and Vyákarana. The Kalápa Vyákarana with its commentaries occupies many pupils for years, and some of them learn nothing besides. Many of the Nyáya and Smriti students of Bikrampur, and all such students of Bakla-Chandradwip (in Bakarganj) come to Nadiya to complete their education. As regards pupils from Bakla-Chandradwip, titles obtained by them at Nadiya and latterly also those obtained under the Title Examination are alone recognized.

52. Tols are not numerous in Bakarganj, Maimansingh, and Rájsháhi, and on my visits to these districts I derived much help from the local Dharma-Sabhás, which brought together Pandits and a number of pupils, too, from different parts of the districts. This rendered visits to the interior of the districts almost unnecessary, and the only place in the interior of any of these districts that I visited was Sherpur in Maimansingh. In all the three districts, Smriti and Nyáya, particularly the latter, are not studied up to anything like a high standard. In fact, the rudiments only of Nyáya are learnt. The Kalápa Vyákarana is the usual grammar text-book in Bakarganj and Maimansingh. In Rajshahi Mugdhabodha is the general text-book, but in certain tols Panini is taught, and in a few Sárasvata.

53. The districts of Rangpur and Dinajpur have never been remarkable for the cultivation of Sanskrit learning. Recently the former district has, through the efforts of its energetic Magistrate, Mr. Skrine, come to have a good tol under a learned Pandit, Jadabesvar Tarkaratna, in Rangpur town; and Dinajpur now has a Pandit, Mahes Chandra Chudamani, who has made himself known as the author of Sanskrit and Bengali poems. The Rangpur tol gets a grant of Rs. 50 a month from the District Board, a grant more liberal than any elsewhere in the Lower Provinces. The tol under Pandit Mahes Chandra Chudamani at Dinajpur is under the patronage of Maharaja Girija Nath Roy of Dinajpur.

54. At the time of my visit to Narail there was a large gathering of Pandits at a Sráddha at Itina in the Narail subdivision. The Pandits assembled were for the most part from the districts of Jessore, Khulna, and Faridpur, and from them I got much information about the condition of Sanskrit studies in the surrounding parts of the country. Nyáya and Smriti occupy almost the same place as they do in other parts of Bengal, and the grammar text-book (Supadma) in use in Jessore is very much like those in use elsewhere in Bengal.

55. Bhatpara, the chief seat of Sanskrit learning in the 24-Parganas, still keeps up its old reputation, though Pandits and pupils have been diminishing in number here as elsewhere in Bengal. It has still eminent Pandits, such as Mahamahopadhyaya Rakhal Das Nyayaratna, Chandra Nath Vidyaratna, Madhusudan Smritiratna, and Ramendra Nyayabagis. The study of Kávya has recently been taken up here with greater activity than in any other place in Bengal. One peculiarity of the Bhatpara Pandit families may here well be mentioned. Members of these families acccept no gifts from any but Brahmans, Kshatriyas and Vaisyas, and abstain entirely from animal food, differing in both these respects from the generality of Pandit families in Bengal. The Bhatpara Pandits are also the Gurus (spiritual preceptors) of numerous Brahman families in Bengal. Altogether they are held in high respect throughout the Province, and go by the name of Bhatpara Thákurs.

56. At Tribeni, in the Hughli district, long a famous seat of Sanskrit learning, such learning is now in decadence. Jagannath Tarkapanchanan was a native of this place, and a long train of eminent Pandits before and after him are associated with the name of Tribeni. Its one tol now represents the "seven or eight" that existed in 1818, as stated by Mr. Ward (Adam's Report on Vernacular education in Bengal and Behar, edited by Rev. J. Long, Calcutta, 1868, p. 40). This solitary tol is taught by a learned Pandit, Ambika Charan Vidyaratna, fifth in descent from Pandit Jagannath Tarkapanchanan, and with his demise the traditional reputation of Tribeni as a seat of learning will have passed away.

In the rest of the Hugli district, things are no better than at Tribeni. Khanakul-Krishnanagar, long noted as one of the most eminent seats of learning in Bengal, has but four tols at present, none of them in a flourishing condition. Nor do its present Pandits enjoy the reputation that their predecessors did. Pashpur and Narit, which too had for numerous generations been places of Sanskrit learning, have now both ceased to have a single tol.

Bansbarai with its twelve or fourteen tols, Bhadessur with its ten, and Gondalpara with its ten in 1818 (all according to Mr. Ward's enumeration as quoted on pages 40 and 41 of Adam's Report, Long's edition), have almost ceased to have any tol, there being only one good tol now at Bansbarai taught by Pandit Mahendranath Tarkapanchánan, and another (a nominal one) at Bhadessur.

57. What is true of Hugli is true of Midnapur. Pitpur, Bhema, Bhagdanda, Sribara, &c., old seats of learning in the latter district, have now fallen into such a condition that no visit to them was called for.

58. My account of the Bengal tols may fitly be closed with an account of the tols of Nadiya. Nadiya came to be the chief centre of Sanskrit learning ages back, i.e., while it was the political capital of Bengal. Under the patronage of the Sena kings of Bengal, Hindu learning flourished in their capital, Nadiya, as it did in their earlier capital situate in Pargana Bikrampur, which, as already mentioned, is still an intellectual centre. The tols of Nadiya originally brought into being by royal initiative and long maintained by royal patronage, came to be maintained by Hindu zemindars after the Musalman conquest of the land. Grants of rent-free land and money gifts by Hindu zemindars and other wealthy Hindus have been diminishing in Nadiya as elsewhere in Bengal, and so tols and pupils in Nadiya have been growing less and less. as will appear from the following figures :—

YEAR.	No. of tols.	No. of students.	AUTHORITY.
1816	46	380	Report of the Committee of Superintendence, provisionally appointed for the College which Lord Minto proposed to establish at Nadiya (vide Adam's Report, p. 50).
1818	31	747	Mr. Ward—The accuracy of the number of pupils as given by Mr. Ward was doubted by Mr. Adam (vide Report, p. 50).
1829	25	500-600	Professor H. H. Wilson, then Junior Member and Secretary of the General Committee of Public Instruction (Adam's Report, pp. 51-52). (I applied to the Bengal Office for Professor Wilson's Report, but there was no copy found there and none either in the Office of the Home Department of the Government of India).
1864	12 (Nyáya 6, Smriti 6)	Less than 150	Professor E. B. Cowell, in his Report to the Director of Public Instruction of the 17th January 1867, p. 3).
1891 (Time of my inspection)	8 (Nyáya 4, Smriti 4)	99

Professor Cowell in his report above referred to says, in connection with the figures in his report, that "the number of students is probably not wholly accurate, as of course no register of attendance is kept, and it was not easy to decide whether absent students were really to be counted on the rolls or not."

Mr. Ward's figure is so extraordinarily large as compared with the figure of two years back given in the Committee of Superintendence's Report that it may be laid aside as inaccurate. Even then, Professor Wilson's figure remains as an indication of increase on the figure of 1816. But the Professor's estimate, 500 to 600, was evidently a rough one, and this from the absence of registers of attendance. It is clear, after all that, the number of tols has steadily declined since the first enumeration in 1816, and that the number of pupils has steadily declined since 1829.

59. Nyáya and Smriti have been the principal studies in Nadiya, particularly the former, Nadiya in fact being the first place in all India for the study of Nyáya. Although Nyáya and Smriti students at Nadiya have been declining in number, still Nadiya counts even now among its Nyáya students men from all parts of India.

60. Kávya and Vyákaran, which Nadiya Pandits hitherto disdained to teach in their tols, have now beguna to have special tols appropriated to them. There are now two tols for Kávya and Vyákarana, and a Smriti tol also has pupils for these subjects, the total number of students in the three amounting to 33. This new departure does not in any way make up for the comparative neglect of Nyáya and Smriti, but it nevertheless indicates a tendency to expansion under the influence of new forces. Kávya and Vyákarana, though shunned in tols as being subjects of a rather elementary character, used hitherto to be taught in schools of a peculiar class called ákhárás by the pupils of Nyáya and Smriti tols. These ákhárás with their pupil-teachers existed when I accompanied Professor Cowell (then Principal of the Sankrit College) in his visit to Nadiya in 1864, but when I visited the place last May I did not find even one in existence, their place being taken by regular tols for the teaching of Kávya and Vyákarana. Another subject has also begun to be taught in tols, viz., Purána, Bhágabat, Rámáyana, &c. This innovation is evidently due to the increasing strength of the Vaishnava element in the population of Nadiya. Chaitanya was a native of this place, and his followers muster strong here at present, the place being regarded by them as holy land. It is natural, therefore, that Pauranic studies, having a bearing on the tenets of Vaishnavism as taught by Chaitanya, should come to have regular schools of instruction in the very head-quarters of the Vaishnavas of Bengal. There are two tols (with 15 pupils) in Nadiya now for such studies.

61. So far as three-quarters of a century back, several of the Nadiya tols were aded by Government with allowances to their Pandits, and these allowances were continued to their successors in their respective tols. Ramchandra Vidyálankár enjoyed an annual allowance of Rs. 71 in consideration of his keeping up a tol, and when he died in 1813 his allowance was claimed by a person who could not sustain his claim. The allowance with arrears was, however, ultimately paid to Bholá Nath Siromani, son of Ramchandra Vidyálankár and his successor in his tol. In 1818 Sivanath Vidyábáchaspati obtained a continuance of his father's allowance of Rs. 90 a year with payment if arrears. In 1818 Sriram Siromani obtained an annual allowance of Rs. 36 on consideration of his keeping up a tol founded and endowed by the Raja of Nator. Ramjay Tarkálankar in the same year obtained a confirmation of his annual allowance of Rs. 62. For these details I am indebted, I may add, to Mr. Adam's valuable Report (section 52). I learn on enquiry made of Pandit Madhusudan Smritiratna, one of the sons of Sriram Siromani, and a Professor in the Sanskrit College, that on the demise of his father, he and his two brothers, all three being men of learning, applied without success to the District Collector for a continuance to them of their father's allowance. On what grounds the allowances to tols were discontinued, I have not been able to ascertain.

62. Besides the allowances to the Pandits of the Nadiya tols mentioned above, a subsistence allowance to the pupils has long been paid by Government. This allowance was originally of the value of 100 sicca rupees (equivalent to 104 ordinary rupees), and it was increased to Rs. 150 in 1886, on application being made by the Nadiya pupils to the then Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Rivers Thompson, and further increased to Rs. 200 in 1888 on application being made to the next Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Steuart Bayley. I transcribe below passages from the Reports of Mr. Adam and Professor Cowell which give a history of this allowance—"In 1829 the Committee of Public Instruction received orders to examine and report upon a petition to Government from certain students at Nadiya, claiming the restoration or continuance of an allowance amounting to Rs. 100 a month. The Committee deputed their Junior Member and Secretary (Professor H. H. Wilson) and ascertained that all those students who came from places more than three days' journey from Nadiya had hitherto depended very much upon this grant from Government." (Adam's Report, page 53.)

"The Committee of Revenue found in 1784 that the Raja of Nadiya used to grant an allowance to the Parooas (পড়ুয়া) or Sanskrit students of the tols, and in 1784 they appear to a certain extent to have sanctioned an annual grant of Rs. 1,200 to this object. It was paid from the treasury of Nadiya, and distributed to the students by a person on the part of the zemindars. On the 18th May 1787 (further enquiry having been instituted), the Board of Revenue directed the Collector to continue the payment of the pension for the present and to charge the same under the head of 'Pension.' On the strength of this order it was regularly paid to the students at the rate of Rs. 100 per mensem. In 1829, at the request of the Collector of Nadiya, the Civil Auditor (April 6th) made a reference, enquiring as to the authority on which the pension was granted. The Board on the 9th June quoted their letter of the 18th May 1787, and at the same time stated thus:—'There is no mention whatever of this allowance in the accounts or correspondence relating to the decennial settlement, and if the payment has been continued without enquiring on the authority, it ought to be immediately suspended and a full explanation of the irregularity furnished by the Collector.'

"The allowance was in consequence discontinued, but a remonstrance from the Nadiya students was received with the recommendations of the Murshidabad Commissioner, dated 22nd January 1830, and was submitted to Government on the 12th February. Meanwhile the late Professor H. H. Wilson (when Junior Member and Secretary to the General Committee of Public Instruction) had visited the tols and reported on their state, and in a letter, dated 3rd August 1830, Government sanctioned the continance of the pension with arrears, and the payment has continued to the present time." (Professor E. B. Cowell's Report, p. 8.)

63. The manner of distribution of the allowance among the pupils at the time of Mr. Adam's report and long afterwards was this:—

"A petty suraf or poddar accompanied by one of their number is deputed to receive the allowance at the Collector's Treasury. On his return he divides it among the foreign students, whose presence in the town is perfectly well known. The poddar whom Mr. Wilson saw keeps a shop for the sale of grain and supplies the students with food, advancing them occasional maintenance on the credit of their monthly allowance. They are commonly in his debt, but he is too important a personage, and the students are too numerous and, as Brahmans, too influential for him to practise any fraud upon them. The allowance, he has no doubt, is fairly distributed." The poddar, who till lately had the distribution of the allowance money in his hands, gave me the following history of the allowance:—

The allowance has come down from times antecedent to the English conquest of the country, but when or how it originated he could not say. The Collector of the district used till lately to appoint a distributor of the allowance on the nomination of the pupils, and these usually nominated some well-to-do poddar of Nadiya. So long as the distribution of the money remained in the hands of some poddar, there used to be a muster call of the pupils every Wednesday, and a pupil who was present or absent that day was accounted, respectively, present or absent all the days of the week in which that Wednesday fell. The poddar distributors, I may add, did their work without any kind of remuneration.

64. In 1888, when the allowance was increased to Rs. 200 a month, the distribution was transferred to the Education Department. Under the arrangement then made the local Sub-Inspector of Schools draws the money every month from the District Treasury, and makes it over to an officer called Tol Clerk, who is charged with the distribution of the money among the pupils. The Tol Clerk keeps a register of the pupils and distributes the money in accordance therewith. Out of the sum of Rs. 200 the Tol Clerk gets a remuneration of Rs. 10 a month, and the balance of Rs. 190 remains for the pupils, who out of the amount devote Rs. 4 to Pujas to Podá-Má and Bura Siva. The present Tol Clerk is Babu Binod Lal Goswami, 3rd master of the Nadiya Hindu School.

The conditions required to be fulfilled in order to entitle a pupil to subsistence allowance used to be as follows:—

(1) That the pupil be of the Brahman caste.
(2) That he be a student of Nyáya or Smriti.
(3) That his permanent residence be beyond a distance of 60 miles from Nadiya.

These conditions have now been modified as follows:—

(1) That the pupil be of the Brahman, Vaidya, or Bairagi caste.
(2) That he be a student of Nyáya, or Smriti, or Purána, or Kávya,—indeed of any Sastra except Vyakarana (Grammar).
(3) That his permanent residence be beyond a distance of five miles only from Nadiya.

65. At the time (1829) of Professor Wilson's visit to Nadiya, each pupil's share of subsistence allowance was from twelve annas to one rupee a month. The present average per head varies from Rs. 2 to Rs. 2-8. The subsistence grant from Government is now indeed double of what it was, but the greatly increased average per head under the easier requirements of the present régime clearly indicates a large falling off in the number of Nyáya and Smriti students.

66. Two tols of Nadiya deserve special notice, as having been set up—one very recently, and the other about 30 years ago—by two wealthy Hindustanis. The one founded about 30 years ago, called the Páká Tol, from the fact of its being, unlike tols in general, a brick building. It contains 28 rooms, each about 9 feet by feet, for the accommodation of pupils, and a lecture hall (dálán) and two litte verandahs. This elegant building, occupying with an adjoining garden about a bigha of land, was erected at the expense of Babu Babulal Agarwala, a late Hindustani merchant of Calcutta, who made a gift of it to Pandit Prasannachandra Tarkaratna, subject to the condition, as I am informed by Babu Jugal Kisor, Manager of Babulal's estate, that a Nyáya Tol was to be held in it. According to the wish of Babulal, the Manager makes a daily gift of half a seer of rice, two chhátaks of dál, and two pice besides for the purchase of other necessaries to 30 pupils. To the teacher a similar daily gift is made of rice and dál, together with Rs. 15 a month; and Rs. 4 a month and rice and dál are given to Pandit Ramkisor, an old student of the tol. The pupils of the tl are generally not natives of Bengal: they are from distant parts of India—Behar, the Punjab, Kashmir, and the Bombay and Madras Presidencies—and most of them remain in the tol until they complete their education. Some remain for very long periods, e.g., Bansidhar Misra, of Mithila and Ramkrishna Pandit of the Punjab have been staying for about 30 years. Both of them have finished their education and teach the beginners. Both of them are bachelors, and have determined to pass the rest of their lives in the tol as students. One bad effect of the páká tol having been made a personal gift of to the late Pandit Prasannachundra Tarkaratna, has been that his sons after his demise have become owners of the tol, although they are not competent to teach like their father. As owners they engaged after their father's death Pandit Jadunath Sárbabhaum, a pupil of their father, to teach in the tol; but after a few years, in consequence of a disagreement between them and Jadunath, the latter was ousted, and Pandit Harinath Tarkasidhánta (of Navadvip) was put in his place. After the death of Harinath, they brought Pandit Durgaprasad Tarkálankar from Bikrampur to teach at the tol, though there was a feeling of disapprobation among the Nadiya community at this bringing in of an outsider to teach at Nadiya The other tol, called, in contrast with the first, the Kánchá Tol, is the one established by Ray Bhagwandas Bagla Bahadur, the well-known Calcutta and Rangoon merchant. The accommodation in the páká tol being found insufficient, Rai Bhagwan Das Bahadur purchased a piece of land in the neighbourhood of this tol with the object of erecting another páká tol. The proposed building has not yet been erected, and so the tol is now held in a kánchá (mud-built) house, the property of the late Pandit Harinath Tarkasidhánta. The Rai Bahadur gives articles of food to 20 pupils on the same scale as in the páká tol. Both the páká and the kánchá tols are now taught by Pandit Durgaprasad Tarkálankár on alternate days.

67. I now come to the institutions, religious and secular, managed either by local associations or by individual patrons, that have been promoting the study of Sanskrit. All these institutions, with the exception of the Maharaja of Bardwan's Sanskrit Pathsálá have been founded only of late years. Twenty of these institutions are in Bihar, five in Bengal, and one in Orissa. The Bihar Sanskrit institutions prepare students mainly for the examinations of the Behar Sanskrit Sanjívan and for the Title Examination.

68. Secular associations, such as those of Madhubani and Revelganj, make it their sole object to maintain Sanskrit schools organized like the English schools in this country. Religious associations (Dharmasabhás), such as those at Muzaffarpur and Matihari, make it one of their objects to maintain Sanskrit schools, which, too, are organized like English schools. Both classes of associations have been doing a great deal towards a revival of Sanskrit learning in Bihar. Detailed information about them is given in the enclosed tables that are marked B. Municipalities in Bihar have also been lending a helping hand towards the prosecution of Sanskrit studies by grants of money to some of the associations.

69. The following are the institutions I visited:—

In Sarun, the Bháratesvari Páthsálá, the Rivers Thompson Gautama Páthsálá, and the Maharaja's Sanskrit Institution; in Patna, the Gorehatta Sanskrit School; in Gya, the Tikaresvari Páthsálá, the Dharmasabhá Páthsálá, the Sanskrit Páthsálá, the Budh-Gaya Sanskrit Páthsálá; in Sháhábád, the Jubilee Upper Sanskrit Páthsálá; in Chumparun, the Dharmasabha School; in Mozaffarpur, the Dvija-Dharma-Bardhiní-Sabhá Páthsálá; the Dharma-Samáj Páthsálá; in Darbhanga, the Sanskrit Páthsálá, the Dharma-Samáj Páthsálá, Maharaja's Páthsálá, the Government Aided Sanskrit Páthsálá; in Bhagalpur, the Maharaja's Sanskrit Páthsálá, the Sanskrit Páthsálá (Golaghat), Chatpati Dharmasabhá Páthsálá; in Monghyr, the Arya Dharma Prachárini Sanskrit Páthsálá; in Murshidabad, the Victoria Jubilee Tol; in Burdwan, the Maharaja's Sanskrit Vidyálay; in Nadiya, the Krishnagar Sanskrit Vidyálaya; in the 24-Parganas, the Sanskrit Institution (Mulajor); in Hooghly, the Bisvanath Chatuspathí; in Cuttack the Purí Sanskrit School, and the Dhenkhanal Sanskrit Vidyálay.

Details about the constitution and working of the above institutions, the objects they propose to themselves, and the means by which these objects are attained, are given in the annexed enclosures marked B.

70. Five Examining Associations have been founded within the last thirteen years. Their functions, detailed in the enclosures marked C are on the model of the Sanskrit Title Examination. They are (1) the Dacca Sárasvat Samáj; (2) the Bihar Sanskrit Sanjíban; (3) the Boaliya Dharma Sabha; (4) the Nadiyá College of Pandits; (5) the Bhatpara Paríkshá Samáj.

71. Of these five institutions, the oldest is the Dacca Sárasvat Samáj. It was founded in September 1878, i.e., within four months of the publication in the Calcutta Gazette of the Government of Bengal's scheme for holding the Title Examinations; and the first examination under the Samáj took place a month after the first year's Title Examination. The object of the Dacca Sarasvat Samáj is the promotion of Sanskrit learning, particularly in East Bengal. None but Pandits of East Bengal are eligible as members of this Samáj. At its examinations, held at Dacca, most of the candidates are tol students from East Bengal, and the rest are students of the same class from other parts of Bengal. On the result of these examinations, prizes, scholarships, and titles according to the grade of the examinations are awarded to pupils, and rewards to teachers. The Samáj further distributes gratuitously among the tols of East Bengal and a few also of other parts of Bengal, a Bengali weekly, called the Sárasvat Patriká, which discusses literary subjects as well as matters of practical interest. This paper is published at the press which the Samáj received as a free gift from Babu Raghunath Das of Dacca. The Samáj is altogether a well-organised body, with an aggregate income of Rs. 2,630 a year. Much of the success of the Samáj is due to the ability, learning, and organizing power of its Secretary, Pandit Prasannachandra Vidyáratna. The Samáj receives an annual aid of Rs. 500 from Government.

72. The end which the Bihar Sanskrit Sanjívan proposes to itself is to revise Sanskrit learning, and this end it seeks to attain by laying down courses of study and holding examinations. Its examinations are of two grades, called respectively the First and the Middle Examination; and they are held as preliminaries to the Sanskrit Title Examination, the existence of which the Sanjívan considers a sufficient ground for not holding any Title Examination of its own. All the distinguished Pandits of Bihar are members of the Sanjívan, which includes, besides, several Hindu noblemen and educated gentlemen of Bihar interested in Sanskrit learning. Its President is Dr. Martin, the Bihar Circle Inspector of Schools, and its Secretary is Pandit Ambikadatta Vyas, to whose learning, zeal, and energy, the success of the Sanjívan is largely due. The Maharajas and Rajas of Bihar are its patrons, and so are the present Lieutenant-Governor of these Provinces, the present Divisional Commissioner of Bihar, and the present Director of Public Instruction. It receives a grant of Rs. 500 a year from Government on the condition that it must raise an income of Rs. 1,200 a year from private sources. It has a funded property of Rs. 8,000 invested in Government securities, and holds besides an uninvested sum of Rs. 916, and in 1890-91 the total expenditure was only Rs. 518-4.

73. The Boáliya Dharma-Sabhá is an associatione stablished in 1879 for the promotion of the interests of the Hindu religion. In 1884 it made the encouragement of Sanskrit learning an additional object. For the latter purpose it maintains a tol at Boaliya and holds examinations annually, one of a higher and the other of a lower standard, the subjects of examination being Nyáya, Smriti, Vedánta, Jyotish, Ayurveda, Sáhitya, and Vyákarana. At these examinations candidates present themselves from different districts—Murshidabad, Nadiya, Pabna, Dacca, Burdwan, Birbhum, Midnapur, &c., those passing by the higher standard receiving titles and some also rewards. Candidates at the examination coming from distant places receive their travelling expenses from the Sabhá. Also selected students are, at the Sabhá's expense, sent to Benares to study the Vedánta and other systems of Philosophy there. The Sabhá also holds annually an assembly of Pandits, and makes presents to them, besides paying their travelling expenses. The Sabhá's annual income for the Bengali year 1295-96, corresponding very nearly to the official year 1889-90 was Rs. 4,168, and the expenditure Rs. 4,151.

74. At Nadiya in 1885-86 was formed a society, named in English. "The Association for the Advancement of Sanskrit Learning and the College of Pandits, Nadiya," and in Sanskrit or Bengali "Sanskrita Vidyá Vibardhiní Vidagdha Janani Sabhá," which literally means Sanskrit-learning-Promoting-Burnt-mother-Society. Podá Má (burnt mother) is the name of an image of the goddess Kálí at Nadiya, because it happened once to be burnt, and to it offerings are made by Nadiya pupils on finishing their tol education there. The object aimed at by the Society is stated in the printed report for the year 1889-90 to be, "the advancement of Sanskrit learning and the encouragement of Pandits and pupils engaged in the study of Sanskrit." The Society owes its existence to the efforts of a native of Nadiya, Babu Mahendranath Bhattacharya, M.A., B.L., Personal Assistant to the Excise Commissioner of Bengal. Since its establishment, Babu Mahendranath, as he informs me in reply to an enquiry made, has spent in furtherance of its objects sums varying from Rs. 700 to Rs. 850 every year, and he has also spared no pains to make it a success. Kumar Indrachandra Singh of the Paikpara Raj family is President of the Society, and since 1889-90 he has very liberally paid subscriptions and donations for carrying out the objects it has in view, his total contribution in 1889-90 amounting to Rs. 2,400, and that in 1890-91 to Rs. 2,050. Its income last year was Rs. 2,850, and the expenditure equalled the income.

75. The Society, with the high literary prestige of Nadiya at its back, and all the modern paraphernalia of Fellows, Members, Registrar, and printed Reports attending it, naturally raises large expectations. My own expectations too were large, but I am sorry to have to say that on looking into the inner working of the Society and the outcome of its work, I have been sadly disappointed. The movement lacks that essential of success—co-operation. Whatever Babu Mahendranath's personal exertions may be, and the fact of his being able to visit Nadiya only occasionally must necessarily set a limit to them, success to his scheme can be assured only by active local co-operation. This, however, is wanting. The Maharaj family of Krishnagar have ever been patrons of the Pandit community of Nadiya. With this family the present movement appears not to have sought to connect itself. Fellows and Members, again, have not their duties defined, and they take little interest in the movement. The Joint and the Assistant Registrar, who reside in Calcutta, have not been able yet, I am informed, to attend the annual meetings of the Society, which, indeed, are its only meetings. Neither the Joint Registrar nor the Principal could inform me what the pass marks in the examinations were, the Principal in fact giving me wrong information; and I got the information only from the Registrar, who appears to be the very life and breath of the Society. Mahámahopádhyaya Bhubanmohan Vidyáratna is styled in the report "Principal of the College of Pandits," and Pandits Madhusudan Smritiratna and Krishnanath Nyáyapanchánan are styled "Professors of Smriti." As the Nadiyá tols are quite independent of one another, I do not exactly see what functions Mahamahopadhyaya Bhubanmohan's principalship carries with it. Again, Pandit Madhusudan being a Professor in the Calcutta Government Sanskrit College, and Pandit Krishnanath being a resident of Purbasthali, where he has his tol, their Professorships in the Nadiya College of Pandits must be only honorary titles, without any functions attached to them.

76. Much of the Society's business appears to be done in either a loose or a languid way. There are discrepancies between the lists of names of Fellows and office-bearers in different copies of the report for the same year (1889-90), and the abstract of accounts sent to me from Nadiya by Pandit Sarbesvar Bhattacharya (an honorary office-bearer of the Sabhá) does not tally with that furnished me by the Registrar. Nor does the number of passed students as shown in the Report agree with the number given in the tabular statement sent by Pandit Sarbesvar. The certificates given to successful examinees are not free from grammatical mistakes. The results of the examinations held during the cold weather one year are announced during the cold-weather examination season of the next year. Honorary titles, again, have been awarded, and the recipients of these are—the President, the Registrar, and the Assistant Registrar.

77. I now come to the more agreeable task of giving a description of the examinations held by the Society. These are of three ordinary grades, namely, the Preliminary, the Middle, and the Title or Final Examination, with the addition of a special Honour Examination in Nyáya. The subjects of examination are—Nyáya, Sánkhya, Vedánta, Smriti, Purana, Tantra, Yajana-grantha, Vyákarana, and Sáhitya. Although all the above subjects are fixed for the above examinations, candidates have not up to this time presented themselves for examination in them all. The subjects taken up from 1886 to 1889 have been—Nyáya, Vedánta, Smriti, Bhágabat Purána, Vyákarana and Sáhitya. The Report for 1889-90 gives the text books for the three ordinary grades of examination, but none for the Honour Examination in Nyáya. The text books fixed for the Title Examination in Nyáya include one work, which, I am afraid, will long prevent candidates from appearing at this examination. This work is Bauddhádhikára, which, as far as I know, no Pandit in Bengal has read through. It is remarked in the introduction to the Report that "none has been able to pass the Title Examination in Nyáya of the College of Pandits, Nadiyá." This is owing more to the inclusion of such a work as Bauddhádhikára in the Nyáya Title course of studies than to any other cause. The earlier examinations in Nyáya appear to be easy enough, for out of 12 candidates in three years, only one was plucked, 25 per cent. of the marks for each paper together with an aggregate of 33 per cent. being required for passing.

Besides the examinations held, the Society's work at its annual gatherings consists of the award of titles and money prizes to successful candidates and of rewards to teachers, discussions on questions connected with the Hindu Sástras, and the distribution of presents to all the Pandits invited, the Fellows and Members being included.

78. The Pandits of Bhatpara, headed by Mahámahopádhyaya Rakhaldas Nyáyaratna, set up an association called the "Paríkshá Samáj" in 1890. The paríkshás or examinations are of two grades, called the first and the second examinations respectively, for all subjects except only Nyáya, which has a third and a fourth examination—all subordinate to the Government Title Examination. The subjects of examination are—Nyáya, Sánkhya, Vedánta, Jyotish, Smriti, Sáhitya, and Vyákarana. All the Bhátpara Pandits are members of the Samaj, Mahámahopádhyáya Rákháldas Nyáyaratna being its President, and Pandit Panchanan Tarkaratna its Secretary. It has done me the honour of electing me Superintendent of its affairs. Not more than one examination has it held yet. The appearance, however, of so many as 45 candidates at this examination from different districts, some of the candidates being students of Sánkhya and Vedánta, promises well for the future of the Samáj's examinations. The Samáj has no fixed income at present.

79. At Barisal there is a Dharma Sabha which makes the diffusion of a knowledge of the doctrines of Hinduism its main object. As connected with the main object, it resolved during my inspection tour in Barisal to encourage Sanskrit learning by holding different grades of examinations, the last being identical with the Government Title Examination. On the examinations being held, scholarships will be awarded to meritorious students and rewards to their teachers. Several Hindu zamindars and pleaders are members of the Sabhá, of which the Secretary is Babu Ambikacharan Guha, a leading member of the local bar.

80. All the above associations have promised co-operation in any measures that may be taken by Government for the improvement of tols and the encouragement of Sanskrit learning.

81. Before making my suggestions for the encouragement of Sanskrit studies in the Indian style, I think it necessary to point out the causes owing to which, as far as I can see, such studies have steadily been declining in the land. It was by means of gifts of rent-free land and of money that such studies were fostered in the past, and such gifts flowed freely from wealthy Hindus, as Hindus have always considered it to be an act of religious merit to help the teachers and learners of the Hindu Sástras. This belief hs been changing of late, and so gifts have been becoming scantier and scanier in proportion. Rise in prices has again made it impossible for Pandit teachers to maintain themselves and family, and their pupils in the bargain, upon such income as sufficed generations ago. Pandit families at the same time have come to be a less self denying class than they used to be. The old custom of sons pursuing the calling of the father, which made Pandits' sons grow up to be Pandits, unless they happened to lack the mental power to do so, is losing its hold upon the country, and Pandits' sons are accordingly being trained up for secular callings that promise better prospects from a worldly point of view than the calling of a Pandit. Thus it is that families of Pandits in Bengal have al been tending to assimilate themselves to the other Brahman families of the province, i.e., have all been tending towards secular callings that hold out prospects of pecuniary gain. Most of the best Pandits of Bengal, all the Mahámahopádhyayas without exception, have trained up or are training up their sons or grandsons for other callings than their own, have given them or are giving them, in fact, an English education. It is but natural that men should prepare their sons for such walks of life as they think would be most advantageous to them, and this is what the Pandits of Bengal have been doing. Non-Pandit Brahman families hardly ever think of training up any juvenile member at a tol for the career of a Pandit. Our tols are thus being threatened with a stoppage of supply of boys. An utter stoppage of supply is not likely to occur in the near future, but matters appear to be tending to this. The aggregate intellectual capacity of the present generation of tol students is lower than that of the past generation as unquestionably, I think, as the number is lower; and this deterioration in quality and decrease in number, judging from present circumstances, tend to be progressive. To arrest this decline very liberal help from individuals and from the State would be needed. The question of private help does not fall within the scope of this report, which need only discuss how and to what extent it would be desirable and practicable for the State to render help for the improvement of tols and the encouragment of Sanskrit studies. Regular aid to tols would obviously suggest itself as the most effective means of imparting new vitality to them, and aid almost all the tols are willing to receive, as I have ascertained by enquiry. A comprehensive system of aid would require, however, a very large annual expenditure, which the State is not prepared, I understand, to incur, and so such a system of aid is out of the question. The tols, again, are, generally speaking, so similarly circumstanced that it is not possible to pick out some among them in every district as the fittest to receive grants. There are numerous other tols, besides those included in my tables, which number 761, so that selection would be most impracticable. To only a few tols of an exceptional character am I able, therefore, to recommend any regular aid, namely in Bengal to two Nyáya tols and one Smriti tol at Nadiyá, in Behar to the Thompson Gautama Pathsálá at Revelganj, and in Orissa to the Sanskrit Pathsálá at Puri.

82. Nadiya, as the historical centre of Sanskrit learning in the provinces and as the chief seat of the study of the Nyáya Philosophy in India, deserves exceptional treatment. Indeed, help has long been rendered by Government to the Nadiya tols, as shown in the foregoing part of this report. Subsistence allowance to pupils has been the chief part of this help, and a continuance of this allowance has been advocated by Professor Wilson, by Mr. Adam, and by Professor Cowell at different times. The subsistence allowance, as already stated, has been recently raised to Rs. 200 a month, and I would propose this to be supplemented by a monthly grant of Rs. 220 to the two best Nyáyá tols and the best Smriti tol of the place. The grant may be divided as follows:—

		Rs.
1.	Nyaya Tol, No. 1	100
2.	Nyaya Tol, No. 2	60
3.	Smriti Tol	60

83. Nyáya must have a decided preponderance at Nadiya for the simple reason that to the Nyáya tols of Nadiya come pupils from all parts of India. As regards Smriti, Nadiya attracts pupils only from Bengal. The grants I have proposed, I put at a sufficiently high figure that a position of comparative independence might be secured to the Pandits of the tols that receive them, and that there may be an adequate inducement to dispose them to be placed under some kind of control. As each tol would be under a single Pandit, the grant to the tol would be but a vriiti (allowance) to the Pandit of the tol. I would also propose a change in the administration of the pupils' subsistence allowance of Rs. 200 a month. The allowance is now shared by other than Nyáya and Smriti pupils, a recent innovation. I would propose that the old system of paying subsistence allowance to only Nyáya and Smriti pupils be reverted to, and this on the following grounds. Other branches of Sanskrit learning—Kávya, Vyákarana, &c., are cultivated in so many other places that any special encouragement of such studies at Nadiya is uncalled for, while special encouragement of Nyáya and Smriti studies, for which Nadiyá has been celebrated, would be most appropriate. Subsistence allowance being restricted to Nyáya and Smriti pupils, it would be possible to fix each pupil's monthly allowance at a sum that would deserve the name of subsistence allowance. I would accordingly propose that Nyáya and Smriti pupils who are not local residents should receive a monthly allowance of Rs. 4 each, with the exception however of the Páka and Kánchá Tol students, who already receive daily gifts of rice, dál, and two pice each. For these students I would propose a monthly allowance of Rs. 2 each. The present limit of Rs. 200 a month need not be exceeded.

84. I would further propose that a subsistence allowance of Rs. 25 a month be granted by Government for five Vedic pupils in Calcutta, when arrangements for instruction in the Vedas, about which certain proposals have been made, are effected. Provision for teaching the Vedas has been a long-felt want in Bengal, and practical steps are now being taken by certain Hindu gentlemen towards supplying the want. Babu Dwarakanath Pal of Bansberia has made over to Government 4 per cent. Government Promissory notes for Rs. 5,000 as an endowment fund for the promotion of Vedic studies, and his offer has been accepted by Government; and the Mohanta of Tarakeswar has offered for five years certain a monthly contribution of Rs. 30 for provision being made in the Sanskrit College for teaching the Vedas. Under the patronage of the Hon'ble Dr. Guru Das Banerji a Vedic tol is also going to be established in Calcutta. I do not propose any definite scheme for the distribution of the grant I propose, because there are no Vedic pupils at present in Calcutta.

85 For the Thompson Gautama Pathsálá at Revilganj, I would propose a monthly grant of Rs. 40 for provision being made for the teaching of Nyáya. The Pathsálá being named after the founder of the Nyáya Philosophy, it would belie its name if it taught no Nyáya. For the Puri Sanskrit Pathsálá I would propose a monthly grant of Rs. 30. This sum would enable the Committee of Management to make their arrangements for instruction in Nyáya, as I am informed by the Secretary to the Committee. A Nyáya chair is a necessity at Puri, and such a chair cannot be created, I am informed by the Secretary, without an addition to the funds at the disposal of the Committee. To the other Sanskrit schools in the provinces, that are maintained by associations, I would also recommend the grant of aid, the amount being determined in accordance with the requirements and resources of each.

86. I would also propose that a system of payment by results be instituted in connection with tols. Payment by results might be on the lines of the system now in force in connection with the Sanskrit Title Examination, i.e., on the results of examinations held, rewards to pupils and teachers, on a graduated scale, might be awarded. The examinations might be left to be conducted by local learned associations like the Dacca Sarasvat Samáj and the Behar Sanskrit Sanjívan, in accordance with principles approved by the Director of Public Instruction. Further details would have to be settled, if the proposal is accepted by Government. The first requisite for the settlement of details would be a knowledge of what sum Government is prepared to spend annually for the purpose of encouraging the tol system of instruction. The question of money must lie at the root of all schemes of improvement.

87. There is no local association at present in Orissa capable of undertaking examinations. Materials, both in men and money exist, however, for the formation of such an association, and from the conversation I have had with Raja Baidyanath Pandit and Babu Hariballabh Basu, of Cuttack, and certain other gentlemen on the subject, I am hopeful of an association being formed in no long time.

88. I would finally propose that Municipalities and District Boards be induced to assign a portion of the educational funds at their disposal to the support of deserving tols within their respective spheres. As already stated, several Municipalities do at present render help to tols, and a few District Boards also do the same. Considering the awakening of the Hindu mind that has been going on all around under the influence of Western knowledge, it is but reasonable to expect that hardly any Municipality or District Board would refuse to render help.

89. In conclusion, I have to thankfully bear testimony to the effective help rendered me by the Divisional Commissioners, District Magistrates, and Educational Inspecting Officers, of whom I had occasion to ask for help. My thanks are no less due to certain independent native gentlemen. In fact, wherever I sought help, help was cordially given.

2. There was thus an increase of 317 cases in the analytical work of the laboratory during the year, the increase in medico-legal cases being 138. Of the 228 cases in which human viscera were examined, poison was found in 99 or in 43·42 per cent. Opium was detected in 47 cases, arsenic in 24, and other poisons in 28. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that in 21 cases the original autopsy had been performed by Civil Hospital Assistants; 15 of these cases, however, came from Kuch Bihár and Assam.

3. Out of 745 articles received during the year in connection with supposed poisoning cases, traces of poison were detected in 321; the principal poisons being arsenic, found in 174 cases, aconite, found in 29, opium, in 23, and atropine, in 17. The number of supposed cattle poisoning cases in which viscera of cattle were received for examination was 118. In 77·96 per cent. of these arsenic was detected.

4. Besides analytical work, the Chemical Examiner had to report on eight technical questions referred to him by Departments under the Imperial and Bengal Governments, and eight applications for leave to file specifications for patent rights. He also verified three sets of apparatus for testing petroleum for various ports, and prepared, at the instance of the Board of Revenue, an extremely elaborate and complete set of tables of alcoholic specific gravity. It is satisfactory to observe that the number of analyses of drinking water rose from 61 to 100. The Lieutenant-Governor is anxious to encourage the collection of precise information on this subject, which exercises so direct an effect on the health of the population of Bengal. If the people who live in Municipal towns knew the true character of the water that most of them are in the habit of drinking, there would be less difficulty in getting them to interest themselves in procuring a pure supply. The attention of the Sanitary Commissioner will be drawn to this point, and he will be asked, when inspecting a municipality, to procure samples of the water in ordinary use. These will be sent to the Chemical Examiner, and the results of his examination will be published. A special paragraph should also be devoted to this subject in the Chemical Examiner's report, showing the quarters from which the other specimens of water were received and classifying the results.

The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Dr. Warden for the good work he and his Assistants have done during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

* Mean of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The variations are negative when the mean of the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head District observations of rainfall the normal means are the numerical means of average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the past ten years. The means of the district are the numerical average of the rainfall return received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district's ending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

Explanation.—.... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 22*nd March* 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 19TH OF MARCH 1892.

FINE settled weather of almost hot weather type prevailed at the close of the previous week, and during the week under review these hot weather conditions appear to have become completely established. The changes in meteorological conditions which have occurred from day to day have, however, been generally small and of little importance. On the 13th pressure had fallen very slowly, and was below the normal by amounts which ranged up to about 0·15″ in the north-east of the province. The temperature and humidity changes were a little variable, and temperature was generally about one or two degrees above the normal, and winds were westerly or west-south-westerly at all stations except in the extreme east of the province. The changes of pressure on the 14th were small and irregular, but on the 15th pressure fell; on the 16th there was a slight rise, and on the 17th a corresponding fall, which was succeeded on the 18th and 19th by a slight rise. The changes of pressure during the week have therefore only been of the slight oscillatory character which accompany fine weather. Temperature, on the other hand, has been almost steadily increasing, the increase on the 14th generally averaging from 1° to 2°, while on the 16th it equalled from 2° to 4° and so on, so that at the close of the week the mean temperature of the province was generally from 4° to 6° above the normal, and at such stations as Arrah, Buxar, Dehri and Ranchi, the excess was from about 8° to 9°. Winds during the week have also been strongly westerly, though towards its close the southerly element rather increased in force, and on the 19th winds generally varied in direction from southerly to westerly, while fairly strong winds were also setting in at the southern and western stations. During the week with the westerly winds which have been blowing, humidity has been particularly low over a large part of the province, and at such stations as Midnapore, Burdwan, Raniganj, Bankura, &c., the average percentage of saturation has only equalled a little more than 30 per cent. The skies have also been almost cloudless for the greater part of the week, and again not a single station in the province has reported any rain.

Pressure—Has been low throughout the week, and over the greater part of the province the mean pressure has been in defect of the normal by more than a tenth of an inch, the defect at many stations, particularly in the north of the province, ranging up to 0·12″ to 0·13″. The defect has, however, been smallest in Orissa and parts of Chota Nagpur, where it does not much exceed 0·07.″

Temperature—Has risen steadily almost throughout the week, and at its close had become particularly high. The mean temperature for the whole province for the week has been about two and-a-half degrees in excess of the normal, while in East Bengal, South Bihár, and Chota Nagpur the excess has been larger than three degrees. Some very high maximum temperatures for the season have occurred during the week; thus Midnapore on the 19th registered 105·4°, Cuttack on the 18th and 19th 103·4°, and Chaibassa, Bankura, Raniganj, and Burdwan also on the 19th below 103° and 104°, while several other stations reported temperatures of 101° and 102°.

The distribution of temperature over the province and its variation for the week are most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the period at nine typical stations in different districts are compared with their normal values. It will be seen that the variation has been to a great extent confined to the day temperature, for the maximum temperatures at several stations have been 5° and 6° in excess of the normal, while the night or minimum temperatures have been nearly normal:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
